

Haddo House Undercover SILVER

Instructions

Within this leaflet you will find clues and codes that will help you on your hunt. These clues are jumbled up and in no particular order, so keep checking.

Also if you unfold this leaflet there is a map on the other side. When in doubt check the map!

Good luck and remember Don't touch and stay undercover! The normal tour guides and visitors can't know we are doing this. Stay quiet, tiptoe when necessary, act normal.

Scots Mile - the facts

Up until the 1700s, a 'mile' in Scotland could be of varying distance - but, it seems, always longer than an English mile.

A Scots mile was believed to average 1,984 yards, or 5,952 feet (or 1,814 metres in 'new' money!), whilst the English mile was around 200 yards shorter at 1,760 yards.
