*What counts in life
is not the mere fact that we have lived.*

*It's what difference
we have made
to the lives of others
that will determine
the significance of the life we lead.*

SOUL PURPOSE

5 levels of soul purpose

Lisa Wallner

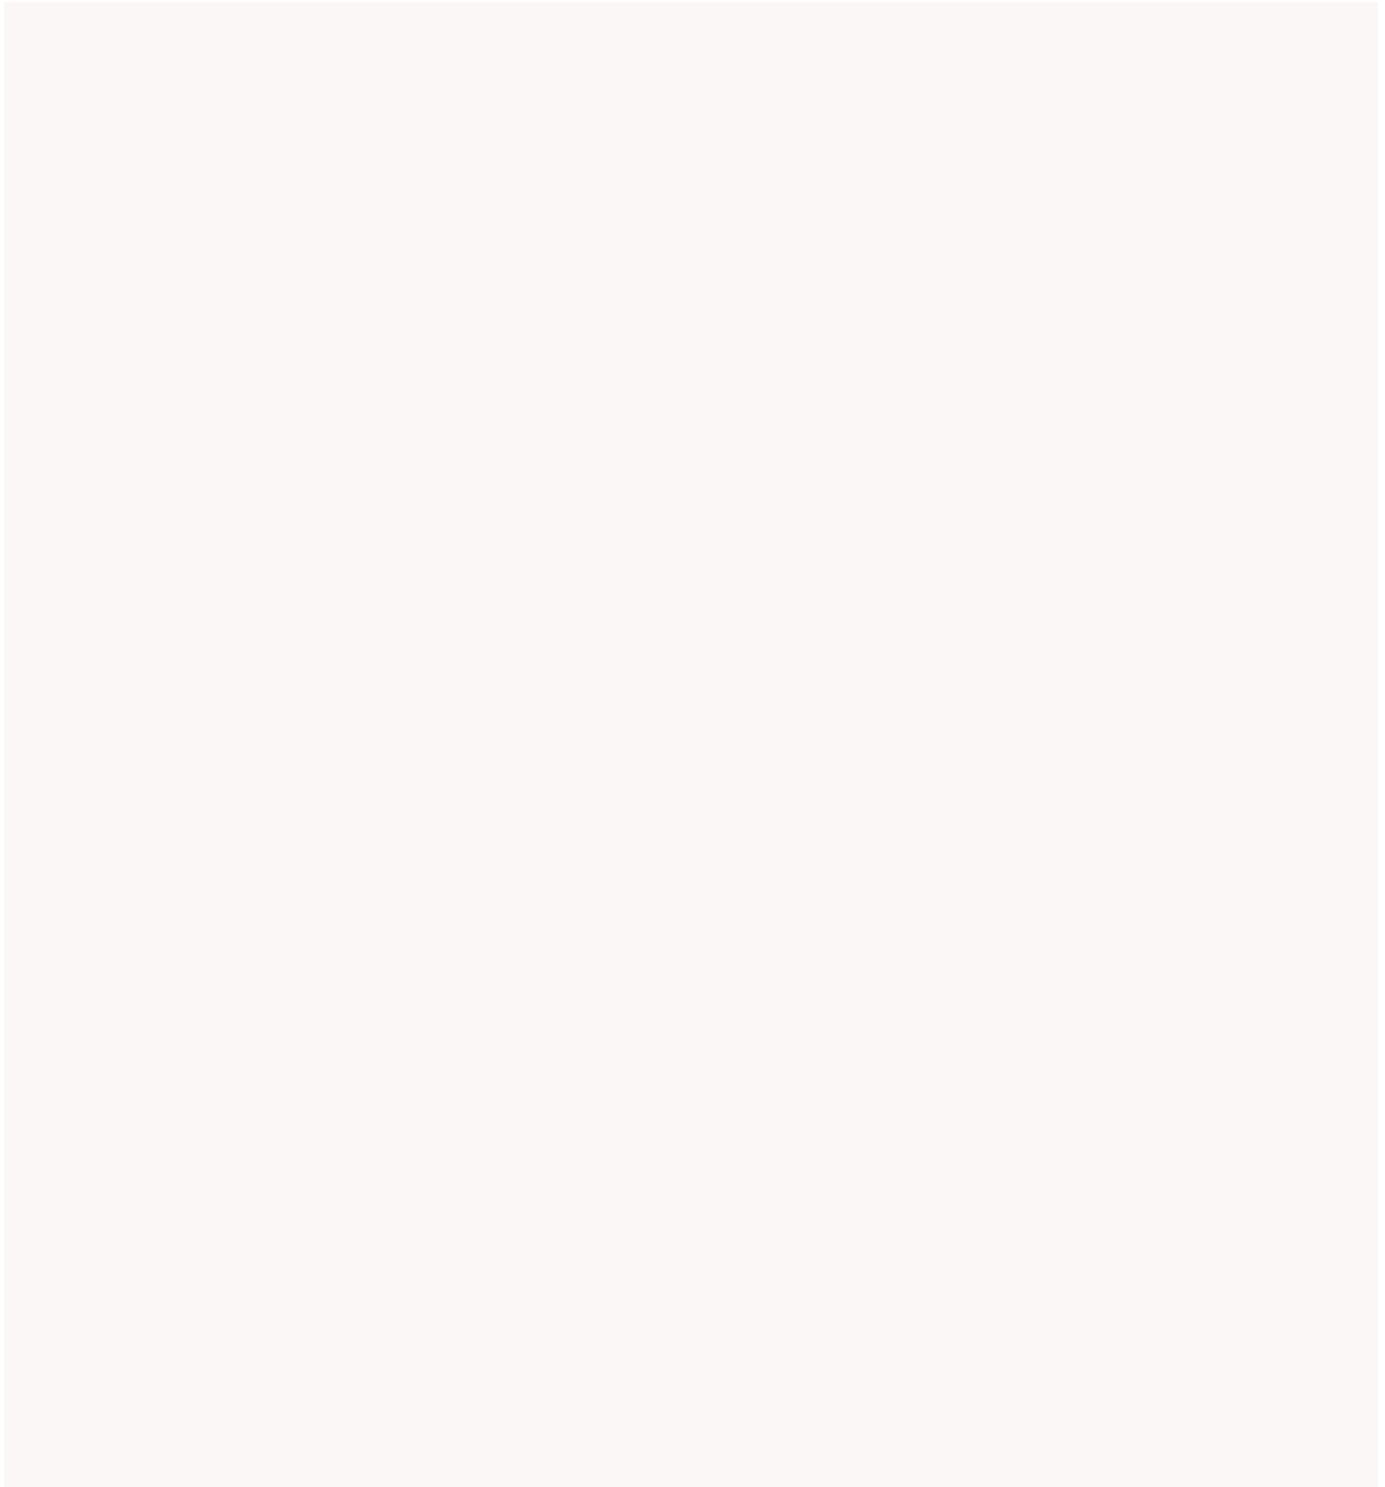

True leaders of the new age manifest and act in harmony with the soul frequency and their own soul purpose. When we know our "purpose" and surrender to it, everything in life begins to flow. Doors magically open and we manifest miracles and synchronicities non-stop. The soul's purpose consists of different potentials that we actualize at different times in life. Growth is not linear, it is a process ;)

Even if you already know and live your soul task, allow yourself to open a new page in the book of life. There is so much more possible than you think.

In discovering and specifying your soul purpose, there are 5 levels that are magically connected to each other. These 5 levels of soul purpose are a compass, a path of revelation to your soul purpose. These levels help you to remember your very own mission and discover your gift to this world.

Even if you already know your soul purpose, these 5 levels serve to always take a closer look and to specify your purpose.

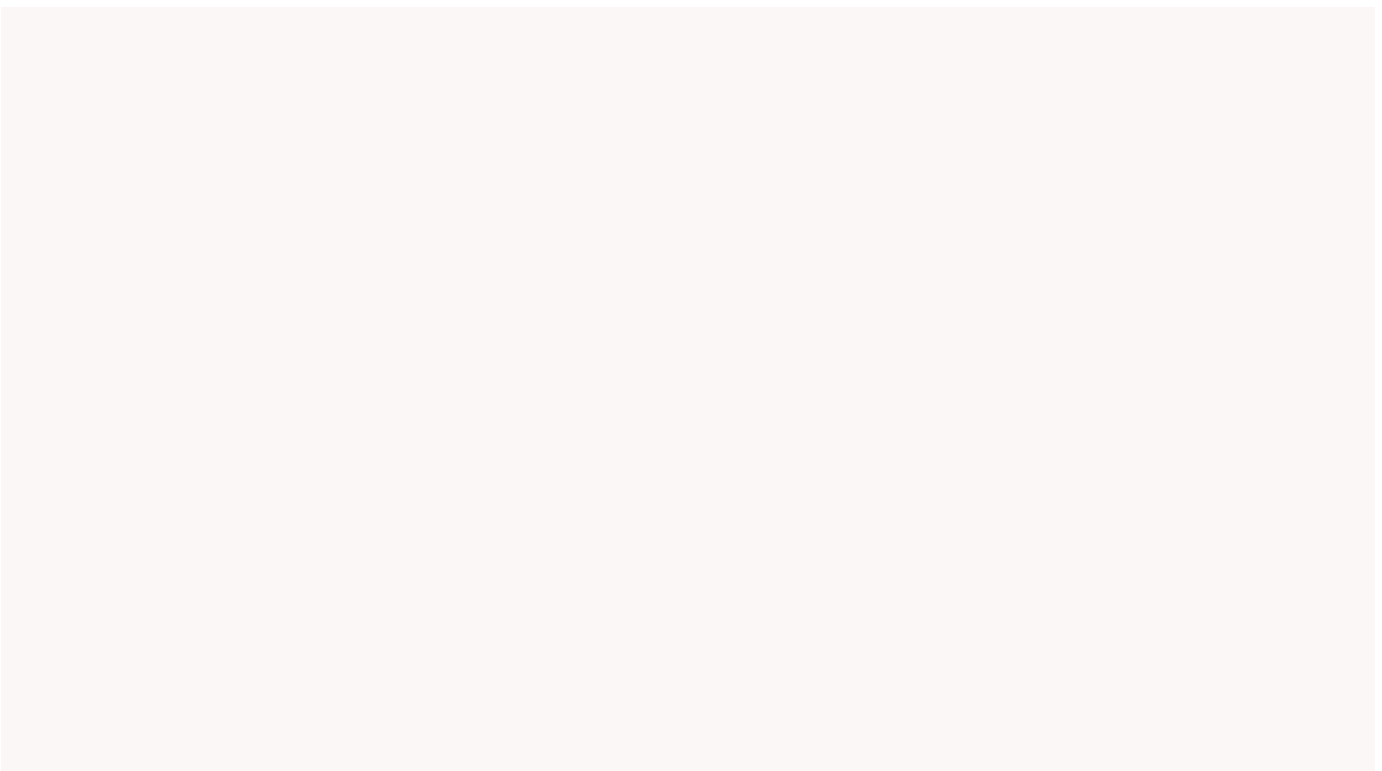

1. Joy: What were the things you already did for hours as a child and what can you do for hours now without getting tired? What is it that fulfills you deeply and where is your passion?

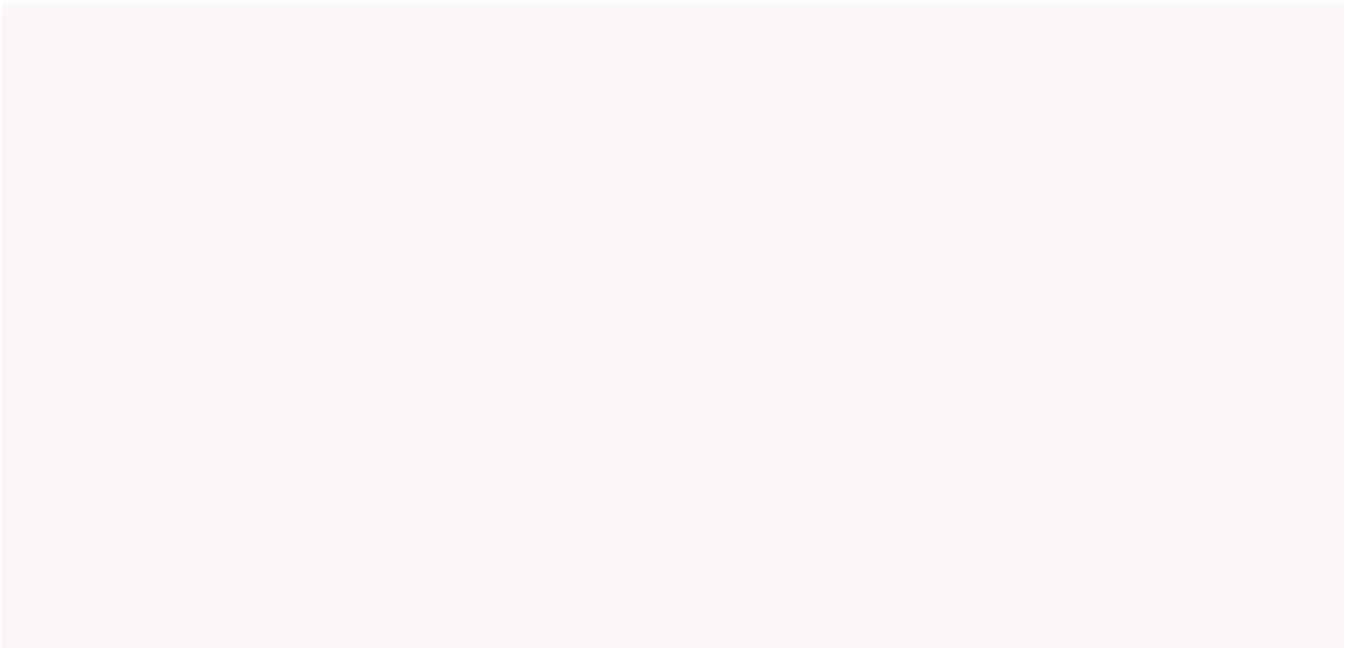

2. Gift: What is one thing you are particularly good at? What do you always get compliments on?

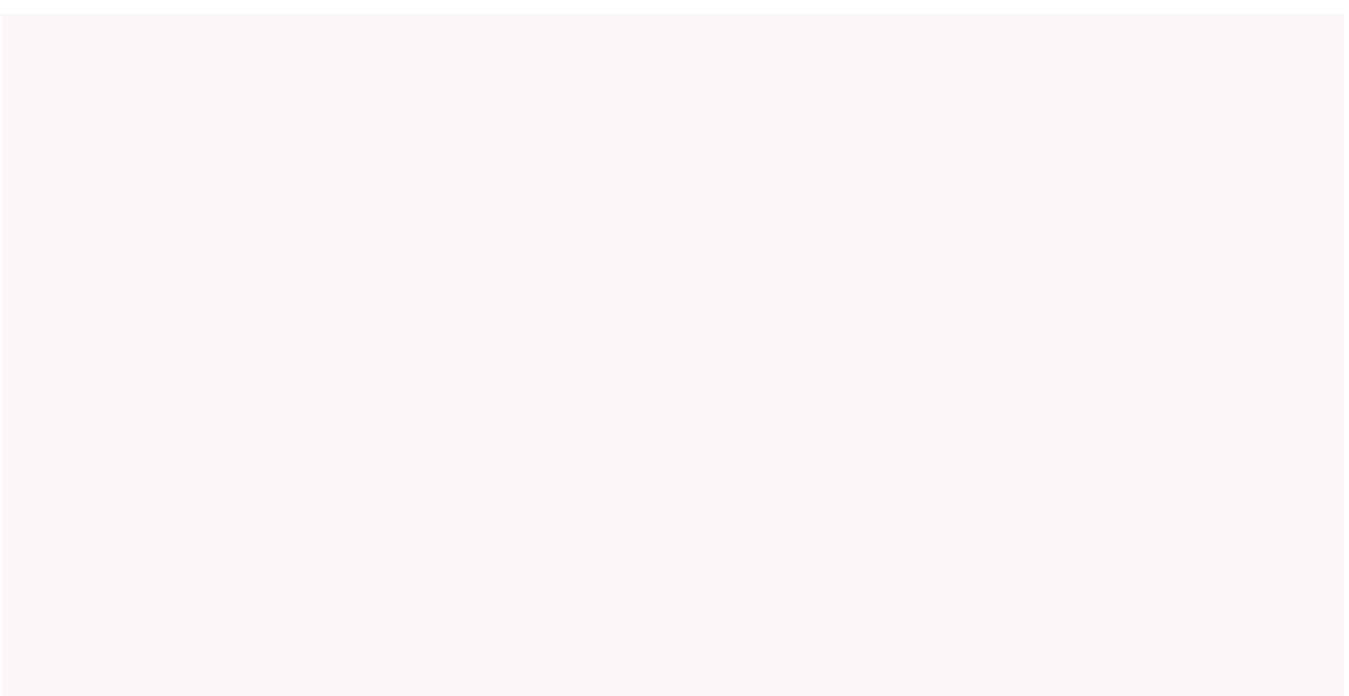

3. Weakness: What is an apparent weakness or vulnerability?

4. Crisis: What major crises and challenges have you overcome in your life and what have you learned from them?

5. Service: What does the world need and what would the world be missing if you stopped doing it?

VISIONS

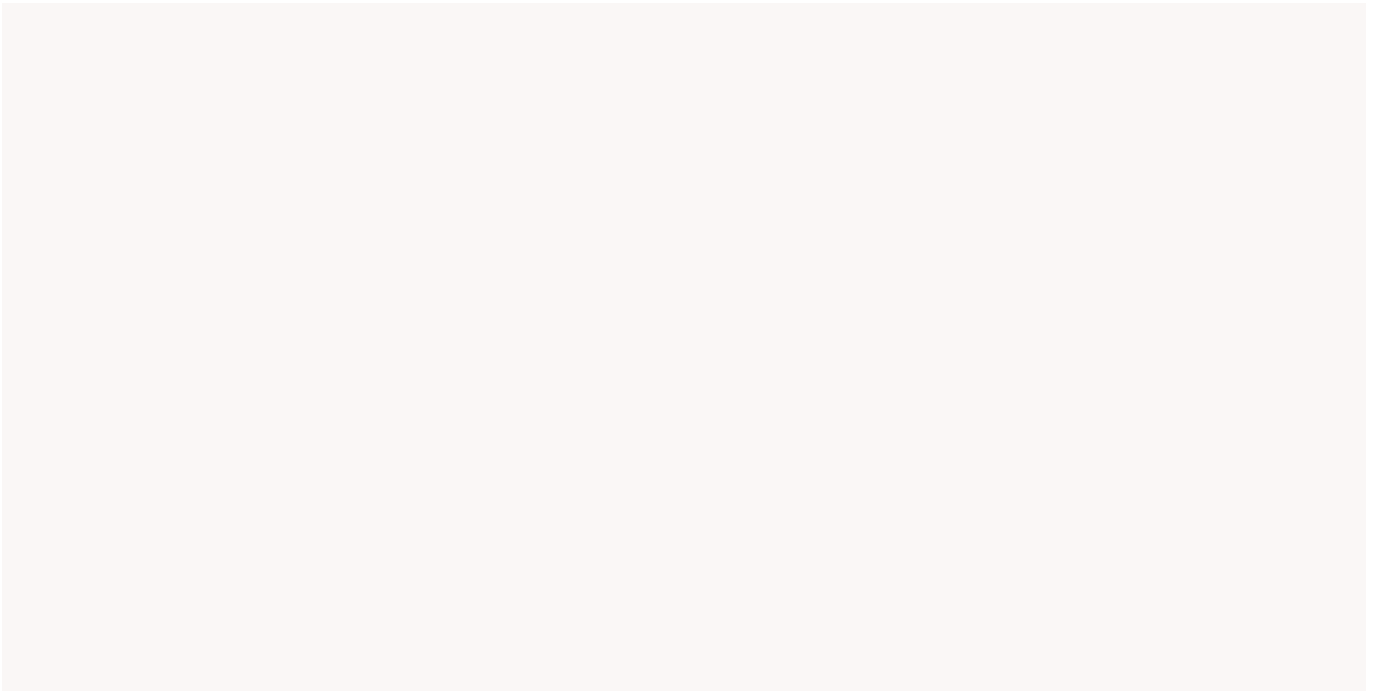

We need goals and visions to grow because a basic need of every human being is development and growth. A clear and big goal helps you to leave your comfort zone and bring to life the hidden potential in you that lies between you and your goal.

We are here to realize our potential, to live it, and to draw from the fullest. We have deep reserves of undiscovered and unused potential lying dormant within us. There are treasures, possibilities, undreamed-of powers, and talents hidden within us that we are not even aware of yet.

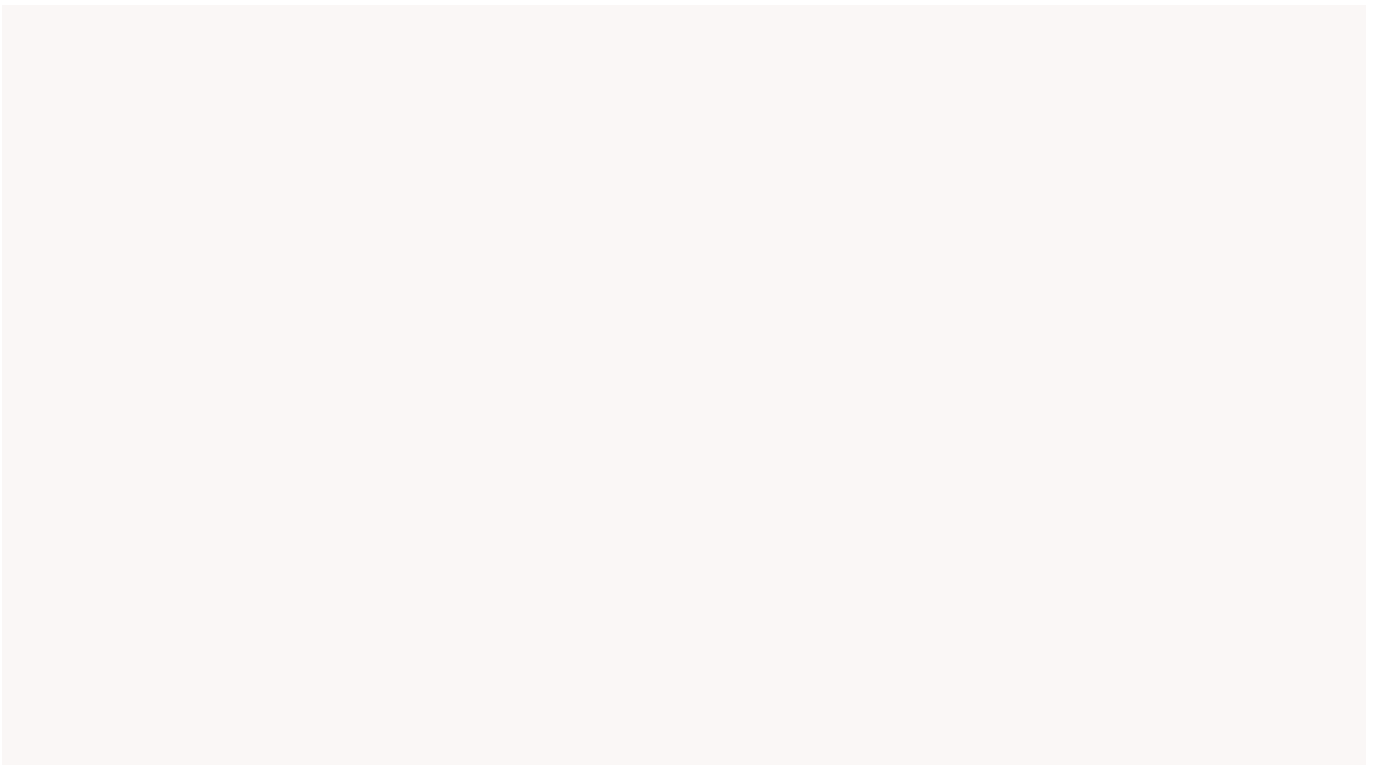

The more often you choose LOVE and allow yourself to overcome your fear, the more it becomes your new habit to set goals that trigger a lot of growth. The bigger, the better. Have fun with this journey. Growth is fun!

Now define your big soul visions in all areas of life. Start with "I am..."

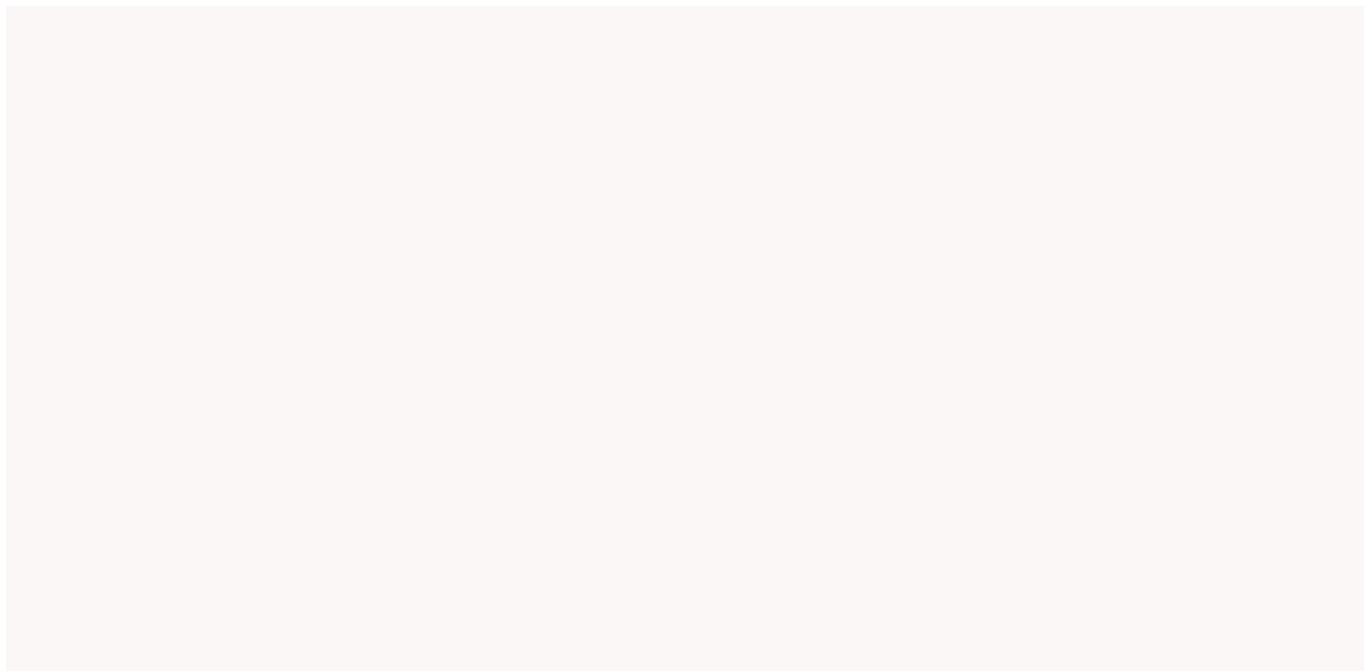

1. Business and success soul visions:

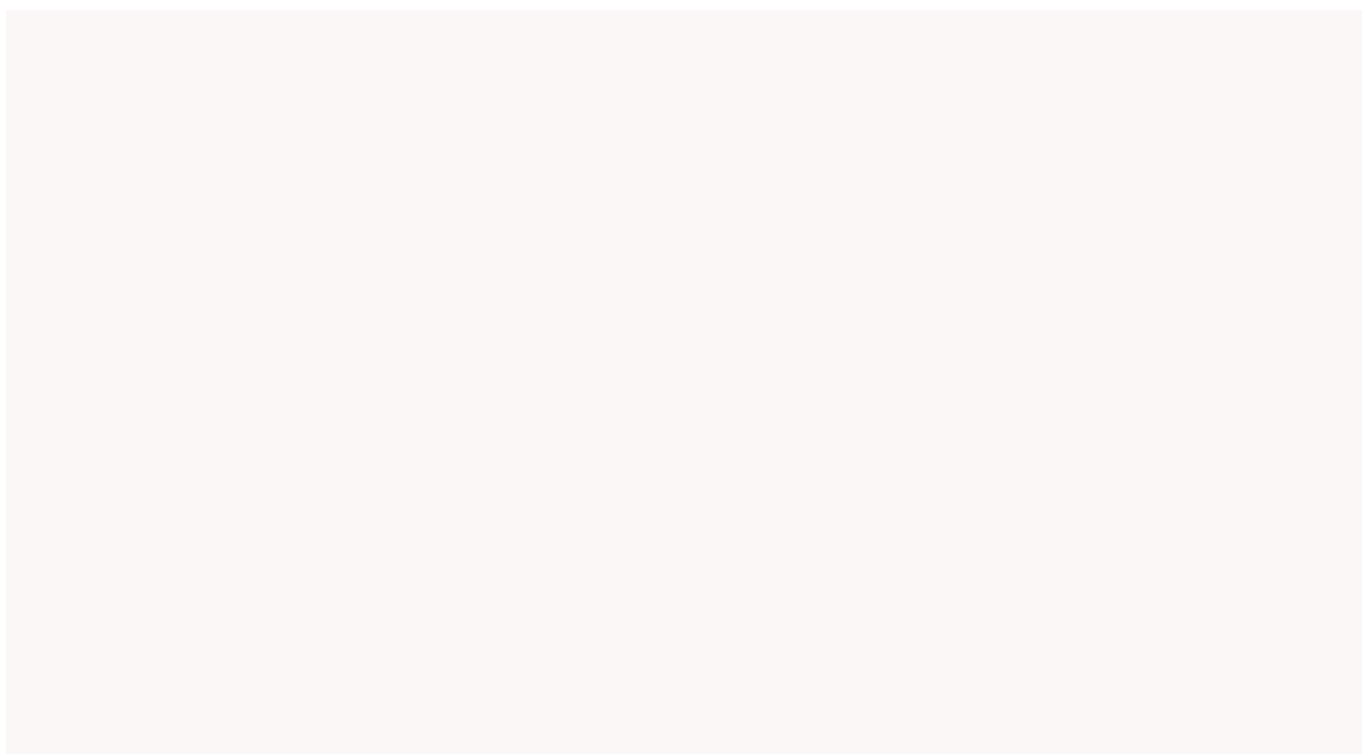

2. Love & Relationships soul visions:

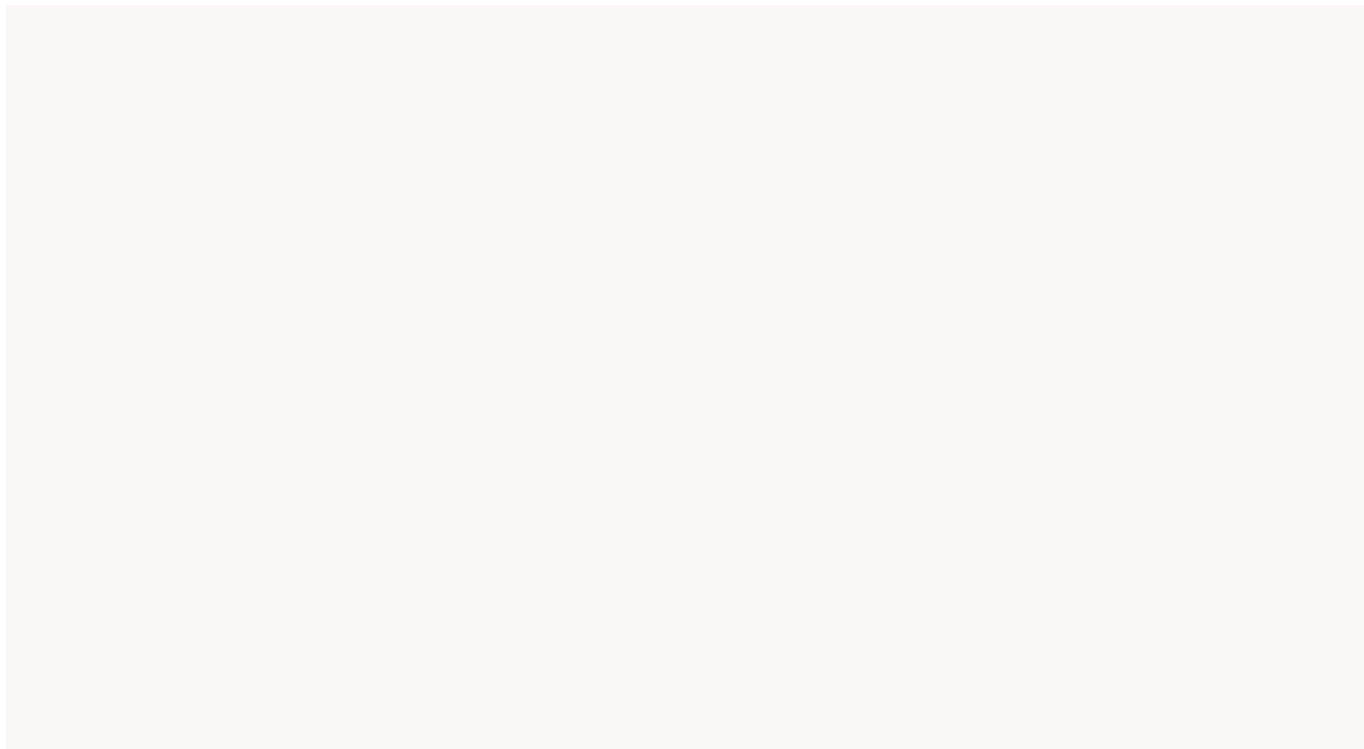

3. Friendships soul visions:

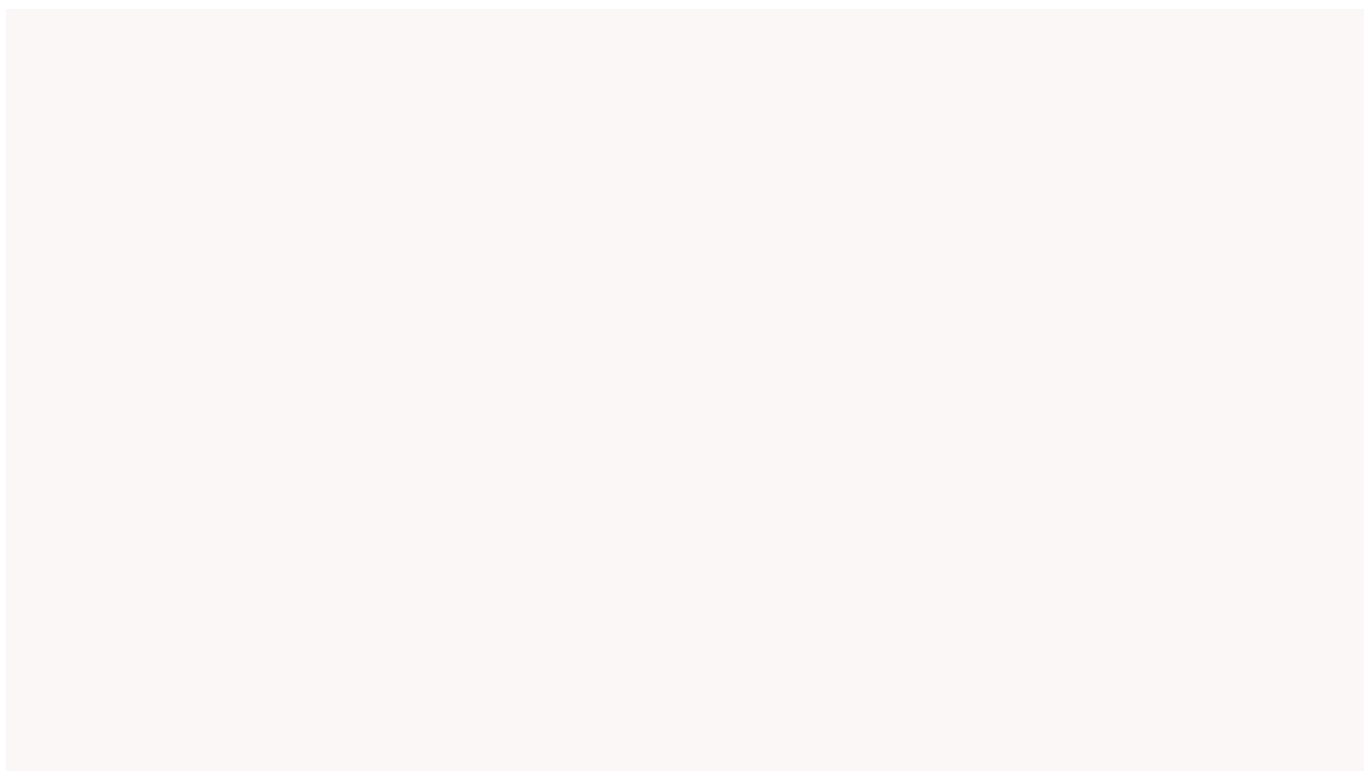

4. Finance soul visions:

5. Health and body soul visions:

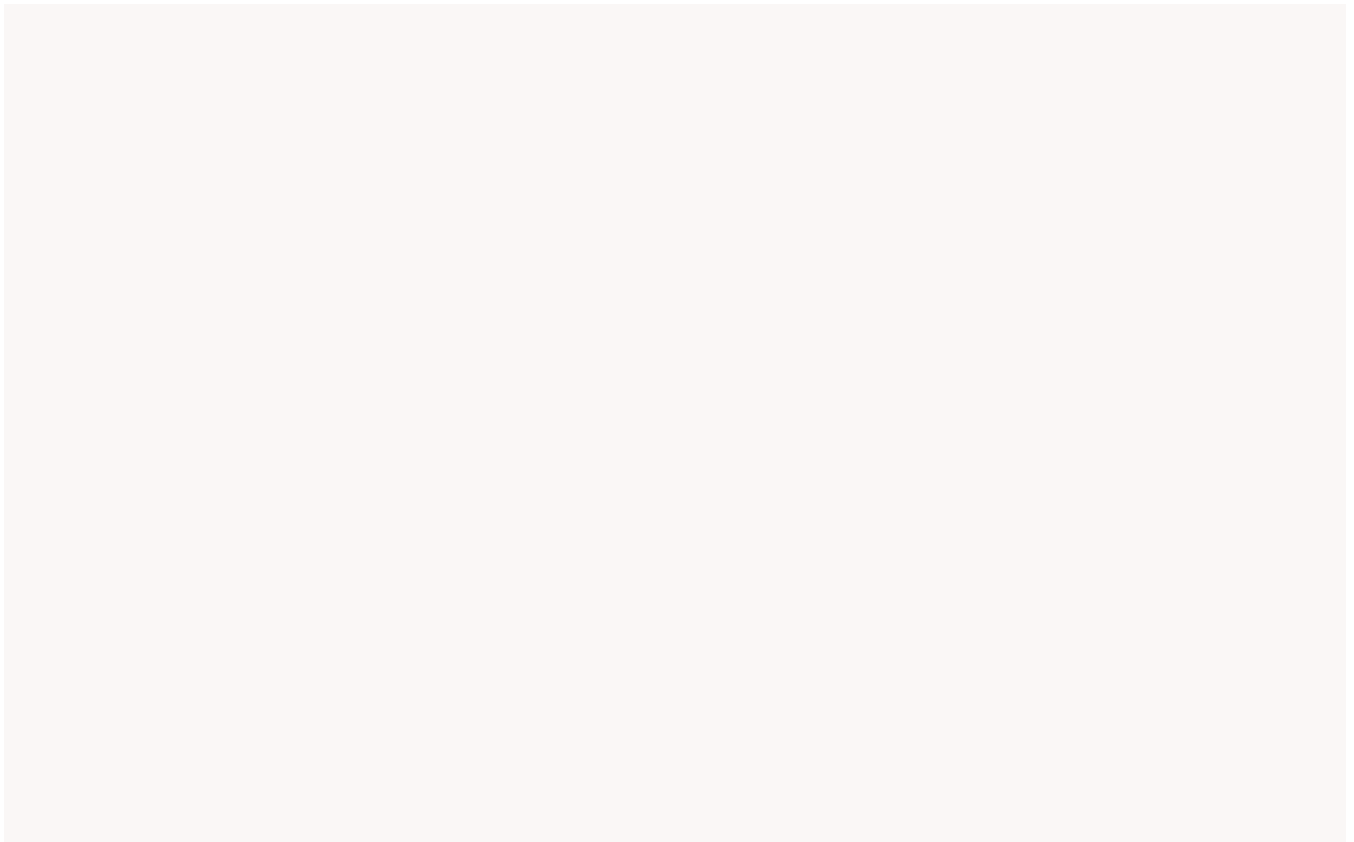

5. Spirituality soul visions:

Formulate your WHY for these visions:

Who may you BE to create this reality?

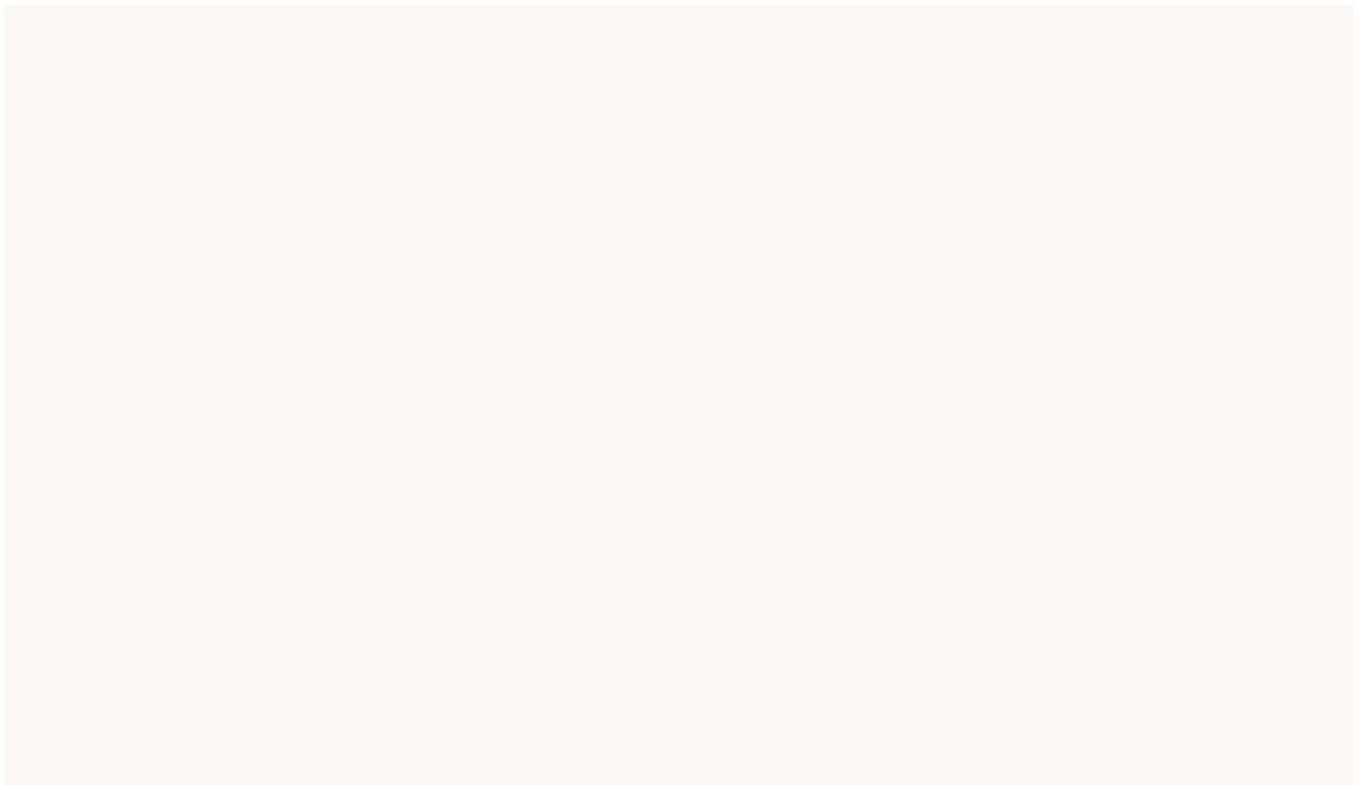

SELF IMAGE

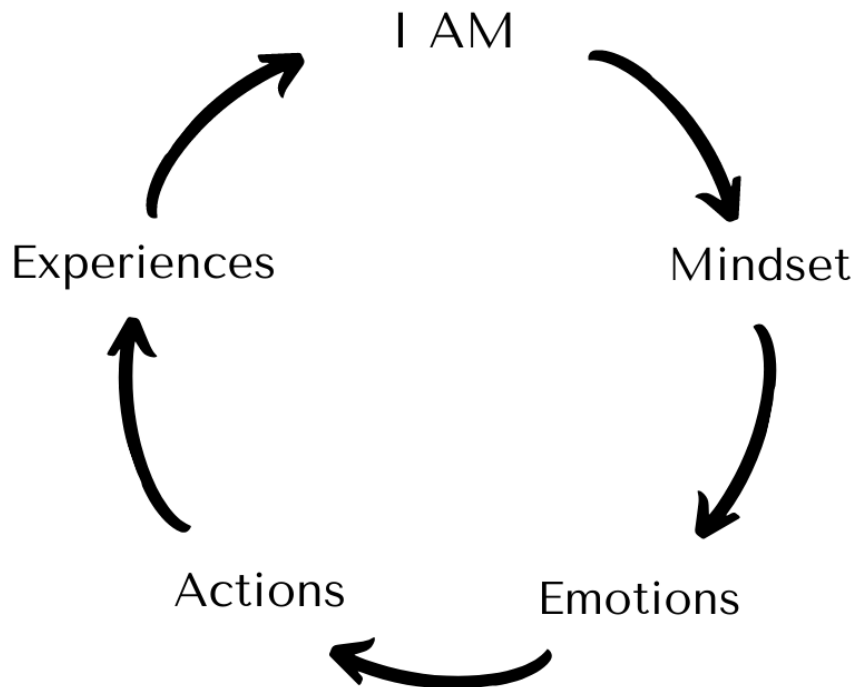

What is your old self-image that you want to change?

What beliefs, convictions & feelings about yourself do you want to let go of?

5 levels of manifestation

The 5 levels of manifestation are key to your subconscious mind. You can start at any of these levels and you will experience a direct impact on the other levels and your results.

The most important question in this process is:
WHO DO YOU GO TO BE?

Create a powerful self-image for yourself. See yourself as the person you want to be - in detail. See yourself in interactions and experiences with other people as you want to become.

Describe your new self-image. Describe yourself as the person you have become, beginning with "I am."

Soul Creation®
The power of source-aligned manifestation,
I write in detail about the 5
levels of manifestation and the magic of self-image.

OVERCOME THE TERROR BARRIER

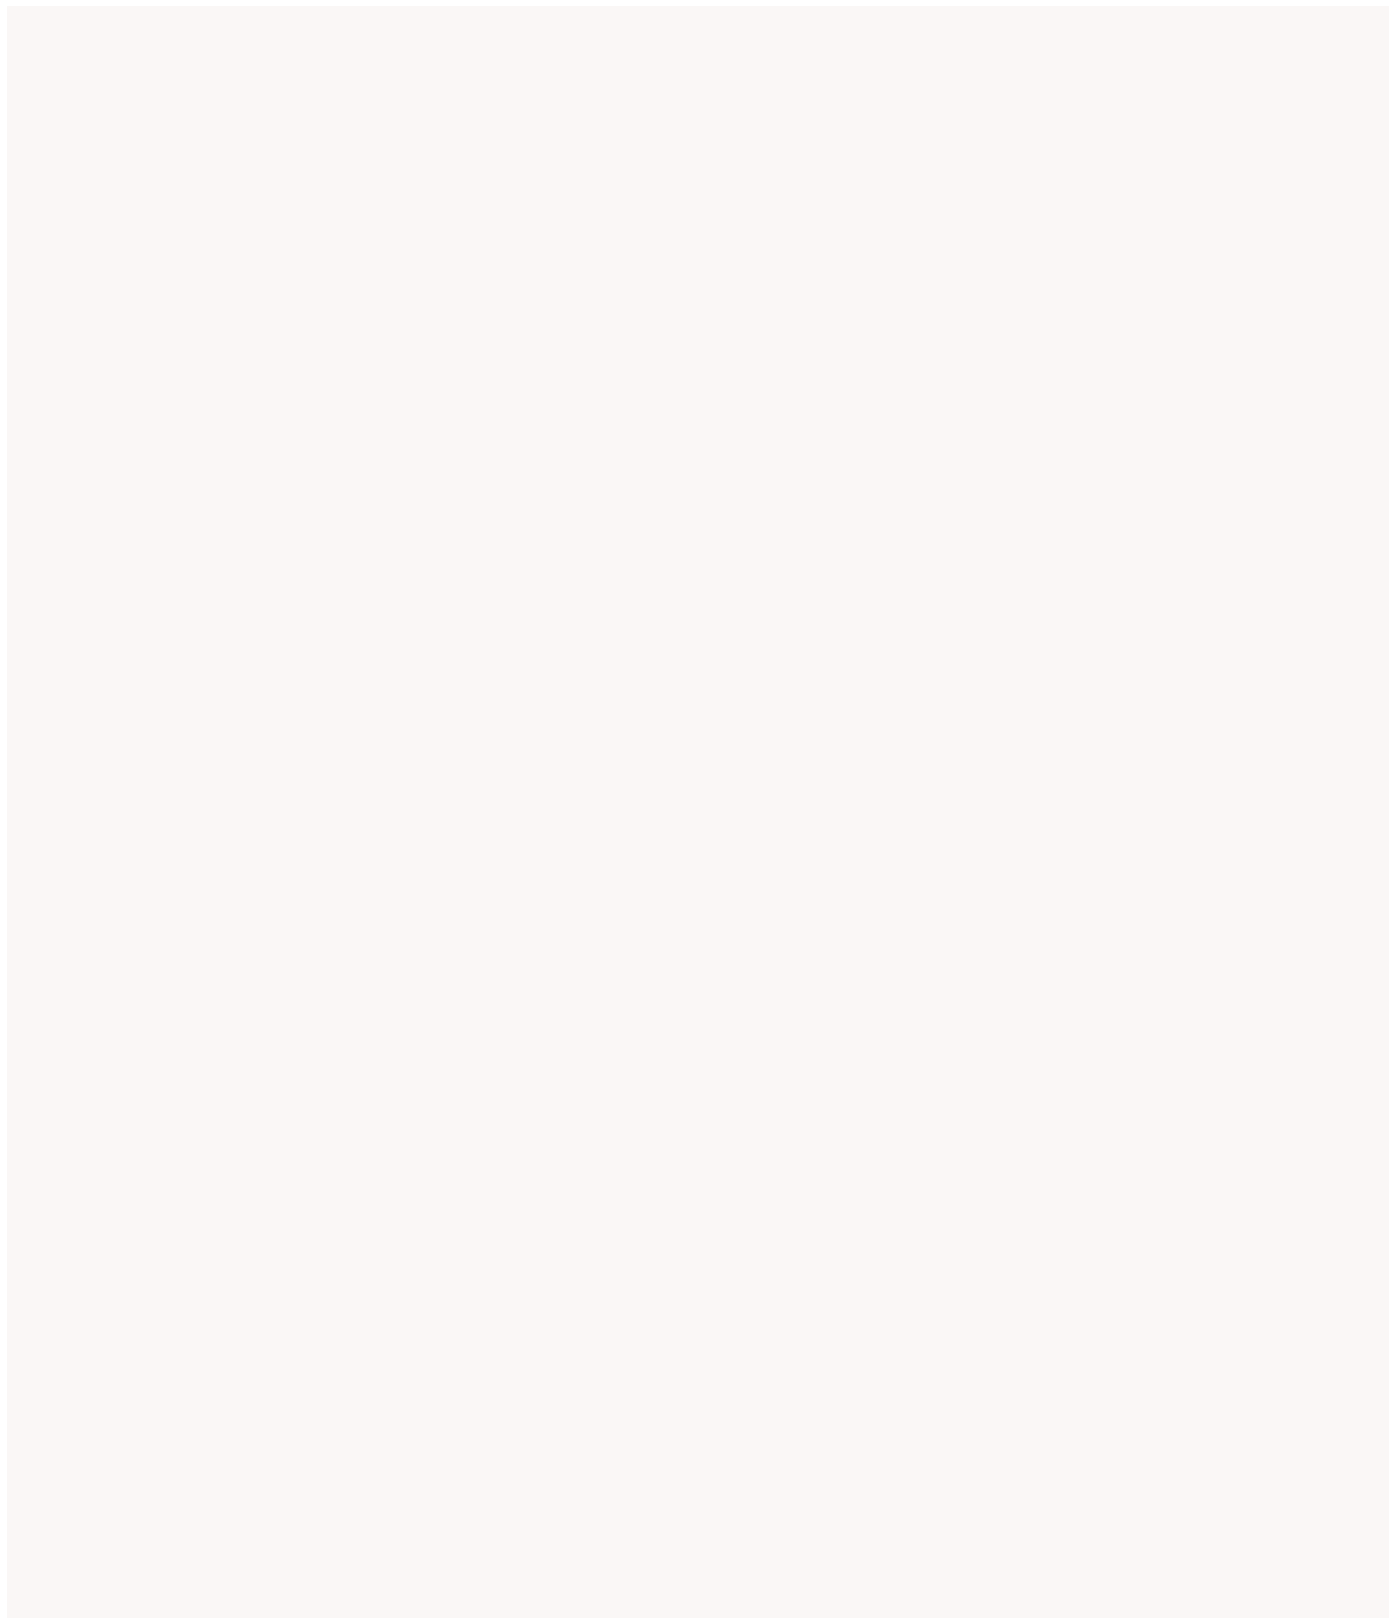

The medicine against fear is called: ACTION

Overcoming the fear barrier is infinitely important for leaders. Fear is our shadow and growth and fear go hand in hand. My mentor Bob Proctor used to say, fall in love with the terror barrier. Once you have defined your new I AM, start acting as this new I AM - Preferably immediately ;)

Many people wait too long and feel they have forever. You can only act NOW and decide now to implement your goals and soul visions.

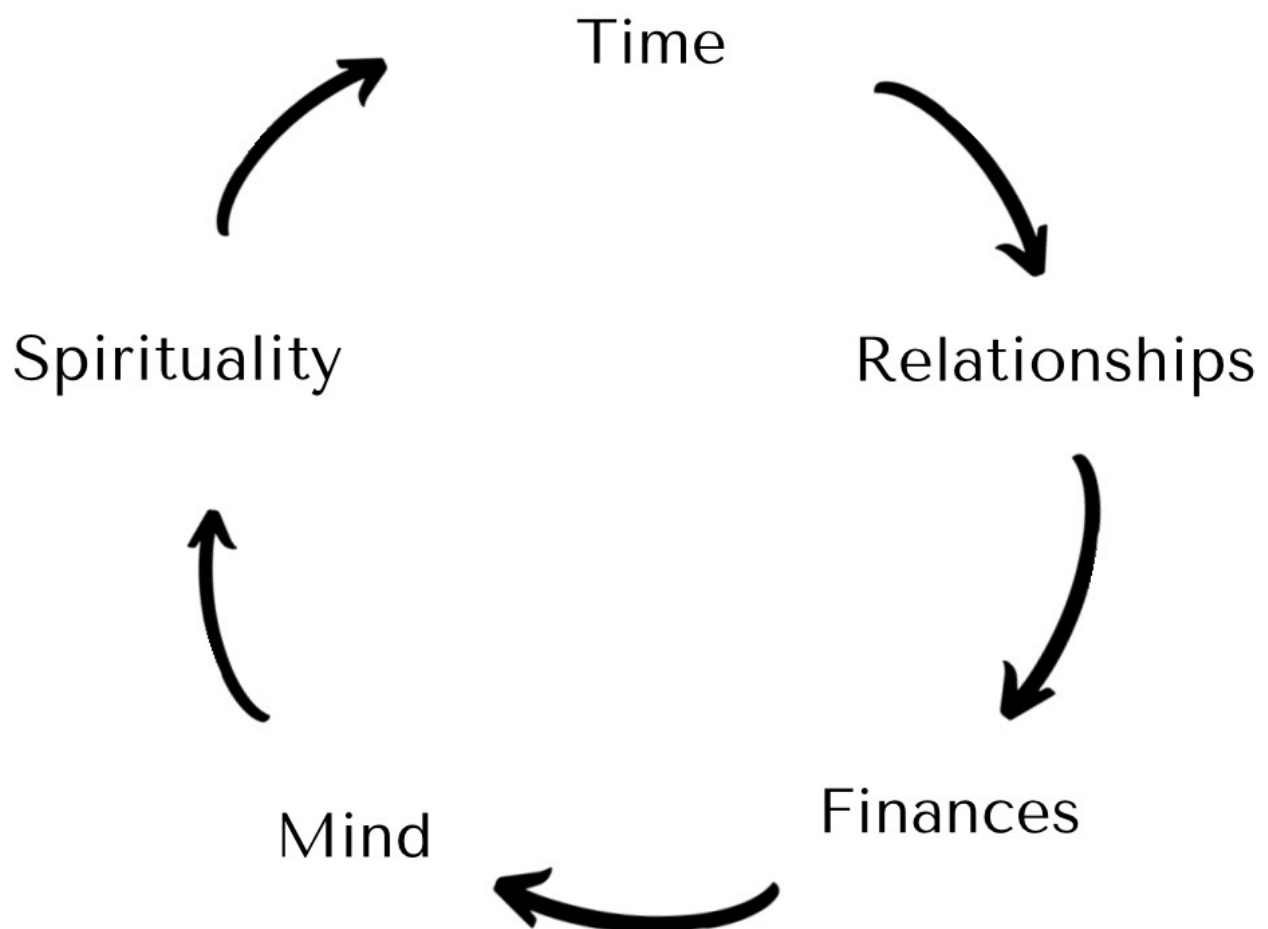

Decide, and commit yourself to giving this vision 200% of your effort. This is how you send a signal to the universe and the spiritual world that you are going ALL IN.

What can you do NOW that will move you toward your goal?

TRUE ABUNDANCE

5 levels - TRUE ABUNDANCE

True abundance goes hand in hand with the peaceful feeling that everyone is doing well. The orchestra is precisely tuned and has found a common rhythm: Coherence or Consonance. Efforts are made to find a common tempo and to make music together. The more inexperienced players are given the opportunity to practice and learn from the professionals until everyone has found their place and can all play together. Music has a metaphysical level. It is there even when it is not being played. The closer we are to the invisible, the better we can hear the silence. The quieter we become, the more beautiful the music we play becomes.

The more our ego and performance thinking fade into the background, the better we can hear each other and tune into each other. True abundance and prosperity never come at the expense of others. When prosperity comes at the expense of others, it is not prosperity, but greed. True abundance is a consequence of healthy growth. Greed is the driver of toxic growth. Whether we move up or down the spiral of growth is up to our free will.

"Higher, faster, further" is the slogan of toxic growth. Toxic growth is at the expense of other living beings and not least at our own expense and that of our environment. Conflicts are not solved. At least one always loses - but usually all. We may be growing at breakneck speed, but we have lost all sense of connection and purpose. We live in abundance, but can't deal with the "wealth" we've gained. Toxic growth exploits us and we are left empty.

Healthy growth is mindful and in alignment with ourselves and our values. It is aligned with the highest good of all living beings.

Healthy growth brings sustainable success. Unhealthy growth is so draining of our substance and mental and physical energy that at some point we may have achieved everything on the outside, that it looks like "we've made it," but on the inside, we are empty and poor. Emotional poverty, physical exhaustion, inner turmoil, stress, and lack of time are the result. We are caught in a negative downward spiral, yet the only way we see is forward. We are afraid of deceleration, rest, and standstill, but deceleration would be urgently necessary.

Creating true abundance and financial prosperity with your soul purpose is not only a possibility but your birthright!

True abundance consists of 5 levels, of which material abundance is one, but not the only level. True abundance means living a fulfilled life. You earn a lot of money, have time to enjoy your resources, create value for the collective, have nurturing relationships, and your spirituality is also fulfilling and rich.

The more you strive to create value for all, the more powerful your money magnetism is. The possibilities for creating money flow are endless. Allow yourself, starting today, to look at it all as if it were possible!

Because the universe is infinite abundance, countless possibilities, a nameless potentiality. We are not separate from the universe, from the fullness of all possibilities! This fullness, this power, this energy, this potentiality wants to support you. It stands behind you! It wants your best.

The science of getting rich

There are laws that manifest financial abundance and monetary wealth in your life:

- Always create value for everyone else
- Act according to your words
- Define a clear monetary goal
- Direct your energy as if you are already at your destination
- Be grateful for everything you already have
- Create and stop competing
- Change your money paradigm

The Universe wants you to be endlessly abundant. On all levels - including monetary!

Think of money as consciousness or energy. Your attitude, feelings, and mindset about money determine your bank balance. To shift this deep paradigm, in the next exercise imagine money as a person, give it a name, and describe your relationship.

Describe your relationship with money:

What relationship do you want to have with money?

EMPOWERED LEADERSHIP

In our soul plan is written what we came here to do and what our life tasks are. When we remember our soul plan, it immediately becomes crystal clear to us where our greatest leverage is and how much each individual can really accomplish. The power of our thoughts and words can influence particles that are at the other end of the universe. When we understand this, we know that we are made of the same stuff. We come from one source from which we come and to which we return.

The earth needs the frequency of truth. The earth needs coherent fields, new ways of thinking as well as healthy systems. Co-creation is the most powerful tool we have in our hands for this. Our energies multiply when we co-create. When we combine our energies and align them with each other, we can accomplish much more than each individual can on their own. Communities with shared intentions, and shared values can move mountains. Imagine if there is a manifesting where everyone always wins and no one is left behind? That is manifesting 2.0. It is the manifesting of the future. For the highest good of all living beings.

To represent these new values in the world, true leaders of the new age are needed. True leaders use their power wisely. True leaders of the new age are emphatic, kind, connected, and have everyone and everything in mind. They are living examples of responsible ethics, multi-dimensional thinking, and act from the spirit of love.

When we look around the world at the current "leadership elite" of our communities and nations, there is one thing we often miss the most: sovereignty and integrity. We need inspiring leaders again - in politics, art, business, science as well as spirituality. Well - if they are not there on the outside, probably the only option left to us is to become these personalities ourselves. Because each individual leads - in large and small ways.

To lead with inspiration means to act in harmony with the universe, with the source of all life and all living beings. To act inspired is graceful, elegant, and powerful at the same time. Like a feline predator - beautiful to look at, yet awe-inspiring. Its ears are pricked, it is ready to sprint off at any moment and give its all, yet at the same time deeply relaxed. Another word for it is: sovereign.

A sovereign person is able to lead and coach himself. Self-leadership is the basis of all leadership of all others, for we lead not only other people but first of all ourselves. We must be able to lead ourselves and become a bright example for others.

Every breath counts, every word has weight, and every action has a consequence. This is a call: You are needed! In your highest alignment, your greatest light as well as your most uncompromising truth. The time for preparation is over. This is not the preview, but the premiere.

It is time to turn on the light.
It's time to lead and lead from love.

Hope and courage are siblings,
and our world needs one thing above all:
Courageous people.
People who courageously lift the veil of illusion and confess their truth.

From my new book:
"The 10 Dimensions of Crisis - and How You Emerge Stronger. A book of hope"

Leaders of the new age know their values, stand by those values and communicate them clearly.

Value marketing is based on your deepest beliefs and your integrity and clarity in standing by those beliefs. What is your innermost truth? What do you want to be known for?

A charismatic brand is one that stands out. Often we are afraid to communicate our truth because we are afraid that no one wants to hear it or disagrees with it. I'll let you in on a secret: it's wonderful when people disagree, it's the only way you can develop a standout brand that stands out and doesn't just get lost in the shuffle.

Dare to be edgy.
Allow yourself friction...

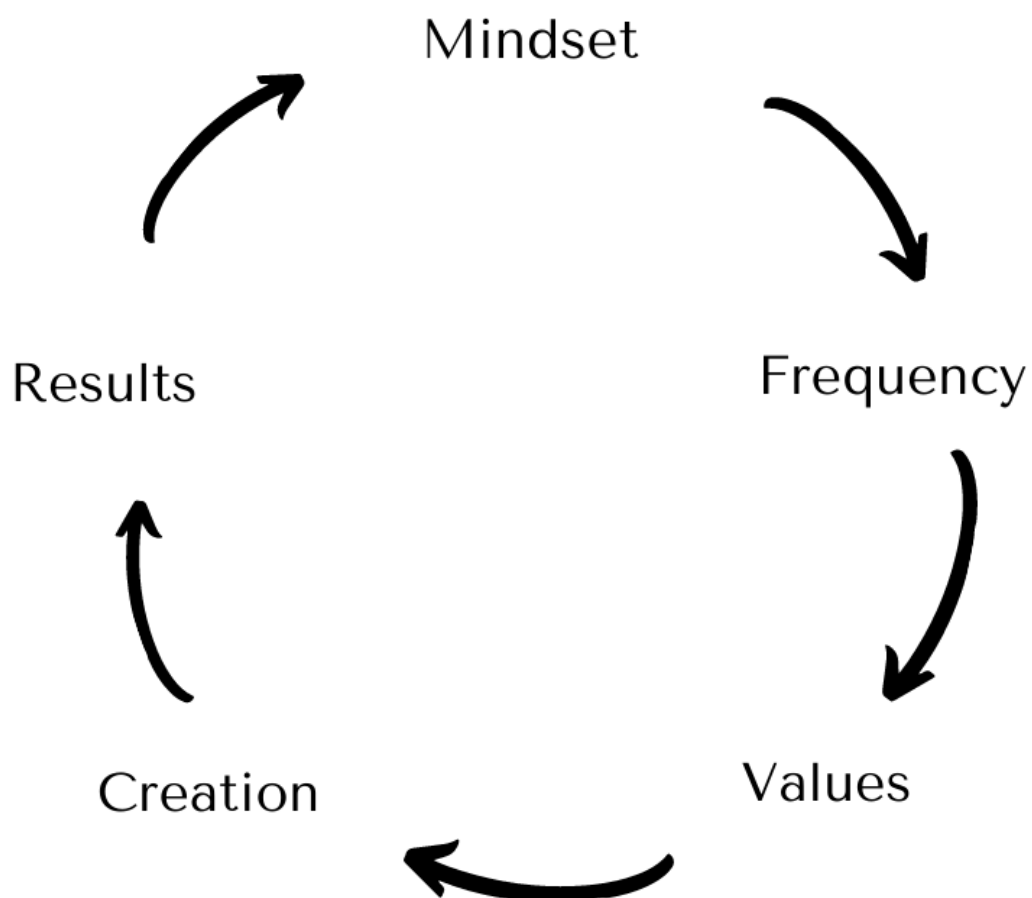

It's good and will attract just the right customers!

The ones YOU really want to work with!

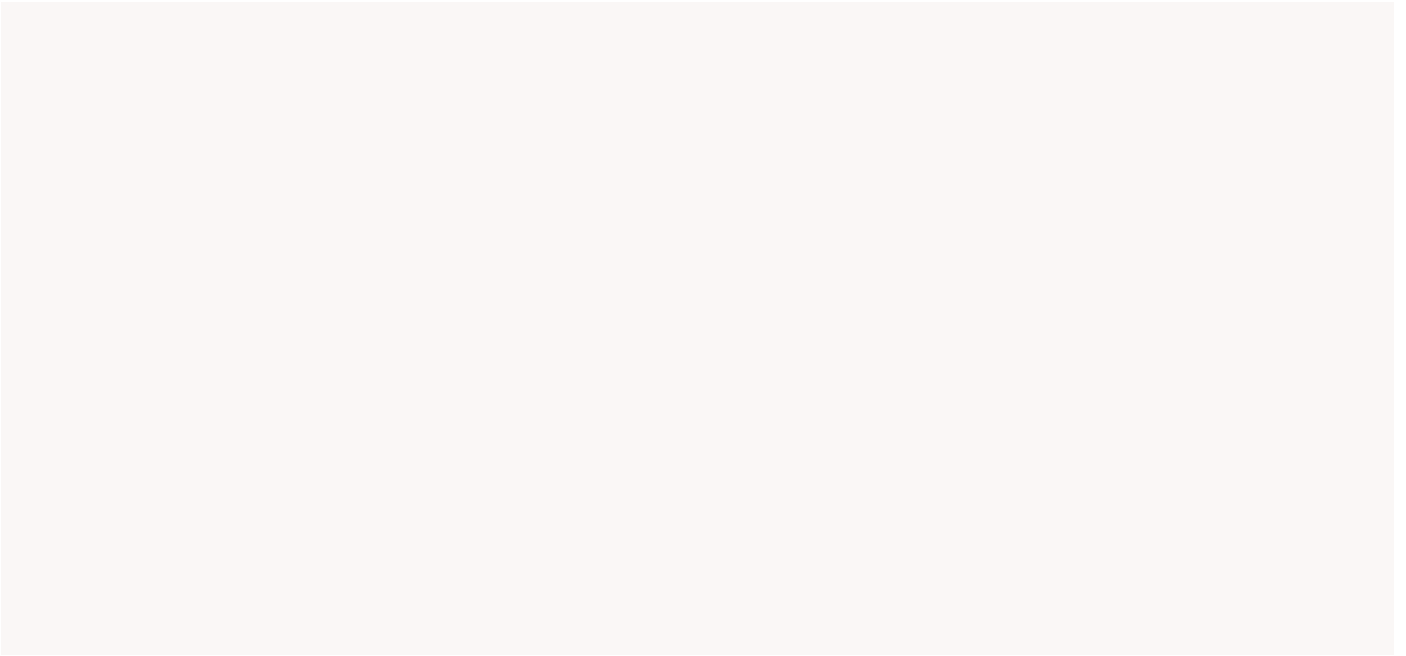

The clients that fit you.....
