

5 Post Ideas for Your Restaurant

(That Anyone Can Film With a Phone)

No trends to chase. No content calendar to build.
Just 5 things you can film this week.

1. Show how you make your most-ordered dish. Under 60 seconds. Timelapse with your phone propped against something. No editing needed.

2. Film a side-by-side of two opposite dishes. Sweet vs. savory. Light vs. indulgent. Ask people to pick a side in the comments. Easy engagement.

3. Take your followers on a patio walkthrough. First-person POV. Walk outside, sit down, show the drink, show the food. Make them feel like they're already there.

4. Show what your restaurant looks like at peak service. Controlled chaos. Real and honest. Your audience loves seeing what happens behind the scenes.

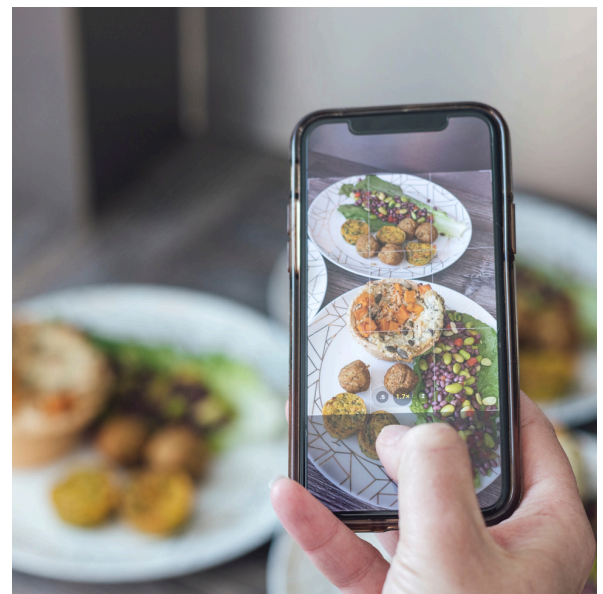

5. Set up a phone on a tripod and hit record during a team meeting or prep session. Remove the audio and clip to 30 seconds. Add music. Done in 10 minutes.

These 5 ideas are from the Red Door Insider: a monthly content playbook built specifically for restaurants.

Every month you get 20 video ideas,
20 photo/carousel ideas, and 10 bonus post ideas.
