Prologue

We are pleased to see that you are showing an interest in your horoscope. We use a computer for this delicate task, but still we hope that we have been able to instill warmth and human feeling into our interpretations.

But what is ASTROLOGY??

Some people maintain that we humans are influenced by strange forces emanating from various planets. The popular press would have us believe that the inhabitants of planet Earth can be divided into twelve different types that they then fill with their shallow perceptions.

Astrology can only be as competent as the people who make use of it. Astrology as such is actually nothing more than a mathematical system, showing a person's planetary representation at the time of birth in a 360° circle.

To accomplish this we consider various factors. The first question to be answered is why these creatures involved in Astrology seem to be infatuated with the exact time of birth. It is really quite simple! We are interested in finding out which ascendant was chosen to experience Earthly life. The twelve houses symbolize the areas of life and the ascendant is the beginning of the FIRST HOUSE, the beginning of the chart.

What is it that awakens the chart's houses to life?

...The planets-each symbolizes a certain type of energy. Their positions within the houses determine into which areas of life their energy is channeled. In addition, the angular relationships of the planets to each other that are called aspects put Astrologers in the position to make statements about the manifestation of these diverse forms of energy in the life of an individual person.

CURIOUS? You will have to be patient a little longer!

Before we get started on your horoscope, I would like to call your attention to a small problem. As you hold your interpretation in your hands, you may be startled to read that you are characterized differently in the various interpretation texts - Sun in Sagittarius: you are open, warm... followed by Moon in Capricorn: you appear cold and distanced... It is your job to piece them together, because everyone's character is made up of different qualities and you have learned more or less to live with these types of contradictions. Actually it is better to be open about contradictions in your personality, they allow for a change of pace once in a while and also provide opportunities for growth, although not necessarily without suffering. Try to understand of the fact that the computer does not know you and can not possibly present a complete picture.

For this reason it is very important that you do not get hung up on single words or examples in the texts and try to apply these strictly to your life. You should try to develop a feeling for the basic energies that are manifested in an aspect or a planet and keep in mind that they may appear in a somewhat different form in your life. Take the opportunity to discover and develop your own form of Astrology. Here you have finally found a field that is not governed by strict rules, but can be formed by your own individual sensitivity.

We wish you fruitful insights!!

The Sun - The Creating Self

The Sun is referred to as the star at the center of our solar system. It is a sphere, around which the Earth and the other planets rotate in an elliptical orbit, which causes the distance between the two to vary. The Sun is enormous in relation to the planets, approximately 700 times larger than all the planets put together. Although from the Earth, the Sun seems to cross above us symmetrically from East to West every day, it only appears to be so. Following the Vernal Equinox the Sun moves to the North until the 21st of June (in the Northern Hemisphere the day with the shortest night) when it reaches its climax in Cancer. It changes directions turning south continuing past the autumnal equinox until reaching its turning point in Capricorn on the 22nd of December, in the northern hemisphere the day with the longest night.

The Sun was naturally the first and most important celestial body to be observed by man and therefore plays an import role in mythology. The Sun is personified by Apollo (in Greek mythology) and by Hellos (in Roman mythology). This god brought life energy, enlightenment and healing. In Astrology the position of the Sun describes our personalities. People who are not yet well acquainted with Astrology refer to themselves as Pisces if the Sun was in the sign Pisces at the time of their birth. Naturally, the Sun is a very important part of the interpretation but it remains merely one factor among many. A well-placed Sun enables us to radiate joy, confidence and strength as well as fight off disease. The Sun corresponds to the sign Leo, which has the same attributes.

Your Sun in Leo

The fire sign, Leo, is ruled by the Sun, or the great light, as medieval Astrologers phrased it. The element of fire means the recognition and fulfillment of future possibilities. The Sun gives us the energy we need for our daily activities. It is the center of all life and represents the vitality in us.

Leos are generous people who sometimes have a stately emotional life. Leos are generously endowed with love, gratefulness and charm that they like to give to others. Leos live by their convictions and invest all their energy in their personalities. People born under the sign Leo find the influence of Sun symbolism as a challenge to become radiant. This abundance of positive qualities does not save Leos from having to learn to find themselves and their own energy independently of others. In other words, the Leos' most important task is to find himself.

You like to be in the limelight of a privileged position. You enjoy leaving a lasting impression on people. Your guardian angel helps you, appearing when you most need her. Practically, this means that your problems seem to vanish just when you start feeling trapped by them.

For a Leo, nothing is more important than the own inner world. You find it difficult to overcome yourself and accept that others see things differently. You sometimes have trouble recognizing the needs of those around you. Leo, in contrast to Libra, Cancer and Pisces, is not a sign of relationships.

You hate routines and become impatient when things do not progress at your speed. You are quick to be insulted by criticism and often cannot understand what others find wrong with you. You are convinced of yourself and of your abilities and crave for recognition. You cannot be overlooked because you inspire awe. As soon as you have received your necessary allotment of admiration, you can be generous and open-heartedly share your riches with others. You remind people of a king from a fairy tale who is kind, whenever he is not fighting off an evil enemy or sees his kingdom threatened. When it is necessary you should appear simple and humble and make use of your creative potential.

Your Sun in the Seventh House

The Sun in the seventh house helps you to develop your friendships, partnerships, your self-confidence and your character. Common activities will raise questions that will inspire you to get to know yourself and to express yourself better. Putting more effort into making honest and upright friendships will improve your character. Surely you know that usually things become clearer by comparison. This is also true for character; it will receive definition through contact to others.

Watch out that you do not hide behind someone else, if you are looking for someone you think will compensate for your weaknesses or for someone to give you direction. You may attempt to gain status or power by attaching yourself to someone powerful who you can worship. Seen psychologically, you may be actually searching for your father. You will never find fulfillment anywhere but within yourself. Anyone else you try to burden with this will probably just leave.

In humanistic Astrology, the test of cooperation is ascribed to the seventh house. Here your relation to the environment is structured. You need to be around people and should choose a profession that will bring you into contact with a lot of people.

Your Sun in Square with Your Uranus

With this aspect in your birth chart, you have an inclination to lose touch with reality. Although your inventiveness is limitless, your plans are either too impractical to be applied or are sabotaged by your lack of self-discipline. Your working style is seldom characterized by constancy, but is rather explosive in nature, which can astonish your colleagues.

You can be very stubborn, and with Uranus in the game, you may suddenly bloat up and start taking yourself too seriously. In addition, you loathe all stereotypical processes, which, if you do not watch out, may cause you to wind up in the social discard pile. Try not to get nervous in critical situations or your unpredictable behavior will destroy everything you have built. If you were to take the suggestions of others to heart, your life might take on more constructive contours.

Your Sun in quincunx to your Pallas

Wisdom, culture and the arts are in conflict with your sense of identity and life purpose. As a result, you may identify with one side of the resulting conflict between the two, and fight or deny the other side. This may be an internal or external conflict, or both.

You may feel that assertive socio-political struggle or that the cultural world of arts or crafts are activities only for the privileged. Or you may expect father or male figures in your life to live this side of your nature for you, or to cause you trouble for doing so.

You may feel threatened by androgynous guys who don't seem to conform to the traditional gender models that give you a sense of identity.

On the other hand, you may be the one with sociocultural or artistic interests and experience hesitation or resistance from strong animosities or father figures who are uncomfortable with your activities. You may feel alienated from your gender or uncomfortable with traditional male role models.

It is important not to see cultural expression and positive self-image as mutually exclusive. Tension will decrease and energy levels will increase as you find ways to meet both needs.

Your Sun in sextile to your Juno

This can be a beneficial aspect as the need for intimacy and a mutually supportive relationship can combine with a sense of identity and creative purpose in a natural and easy way. This harmonious connection between the "self" and affective relationships facilitates a positive and enriching experience in your personal interactions.

You probably like to relate nicely to others, and are able to handle issues such as the struggle for equality and the need for autonomy within the relationship with grace.

You may support your partner's creative and playful expression, or you may be attracted to a partner who supports your own creativity and self-expression. These interests can provide you and your partner with a comfortable way to share and enrich your relationship.

This aspect can also manifest in a relationship where communication is open and honest, allowing you to express your emotional needs and creative aspirations freely and without fear of judgement.

It is essential to recognise and value this beneficial aspect of your emotional life, as it allows you to develop meaningful and nurturing connections with your loved ones. Harnessing this harmony will allow you to experience an equitable and affectively rewarding relationship.

In conclusion, this aspect can facilitate a natural flow between intimacy, purpose and autonomy in your emotional life. You may enjoy relating kindly to others and gracefully handle the dynamics of equality and autonomy within the relationship.

Your ability to support mutual creativity and self-expression as a couple fosters a deep and satisfying emotional connection. Take advantage of this harmony to build meaningful and nurturing relationships, where you can both grow and support each other in the pursuit of your personal dreams and goals. Remember that respect, understanding and commitment are fundamental to maintaining the harmonious flow in your relationships and achieving lasting emotional satisfaction.

Your Sun in Trine with Your Northern Moon Node

This is a nice aspect, which can help you to accept life's lessons. Someday you will have to let go of your past and accept that your personality is subject to transformations. Probably, most people like you because you are friendly and honest. You can accept life's challenges without great difficulty, especially when you meet them at the appropriate time.

Naturally, such a harmonious aspect harbors the danger of letting you get overconfident or arrogant because success seems to come without effort. If you make yourself aware of the problem, you should be able to find a way to solve it.

The Moon - The Emotional Attitude

The Moon does not travel around the Earth in an exact circular orbit but moves elliptically. Its diameter is approximately 3500 kilometers making it a tiny speck of dust in the universe. People have found its constantly changing form fascinating, giving rise to innumerable myths, legends and tales. While the Sun is associated with male consciousness, the Moon is seen as female. Women's menstrual cycles are in accord with the 28-day Moon cycles. Moon goddesses have been described diversely as moody, dark and cruel or as life giving and sensitive. They have been called Demeter, Hera, Artemis, Hecate or Persephone. Even the Virgin Mary has been often portrayed as a Moon crescent.

The Moon's influence on the Earth and its inhabitants should not be underestimated. If it is responsible for the changes in tide, why shouldn't it also alter our body fluids?

The phase of the Moon at the time of birth is a very important facet of astrological interpretation. The waning Moon is a period for concentration and gathering, with all energies turned inward. The new Moon is the climax of this development. The waxing Moon is the opposite, a time for growth and allowing emotions to be expressed freely. Everyone has at least once in his or her lifetime spent restless or even sleepless nights on a full Moon. Quite a few locations like Koh Phangan in Thailand or Goa in India have institutionalized Full Moon Parties which attract thousands of people at a time.

In a horoscope the Moon is associated with the sign Cancer and represents the subconscious, emotional disposition, fertility, creative energies, the home, family, mother and the reception of other people's moods. You can tell if someone tends to be moody or emotionally stable.

Your Moon in Virgo

The Moon can feel uneasy in Virgo. Our emotions have nothing to do with perfection and cannot always be explained rationally. You can fight off all irrational emotions by tooth and nail and refuse to express negative feelings. You may be keeping to yourself and avoiding anything unpredictable to evade being touched by any kind of passion. If you succeed in closing yourself off you will stifle yourself in solitude. You should recognize your own value and start to accept yourself and not be so critical of your faults.

You may have been raised to be a perfectionist, not allowed to make a single mistake. Your parents may have given you physical comfort but no warmth and understanding. This makes it hard for you to show your feelings and begin a relationship today. You may feel restricted and battle illnesses that are expressions of your suppressed emotions.

Once you have found inner harmony and are secure and satisfied, the Moon in Virgo will show its other side. You will know exactly what you need to secure your own happiness and will not let yourself be confused. You sacrifice yourself for those around you and take great pleasure in helping people. You find joy in simple things and are especially sensitive to your body's signals.

Your Moon in the Eighth House

The eighth house is devoted to the occult and spiritual topics. With the Moon in this house, you are naturally open to the hidden powers of the universe, which come into play in your personal life or in the open. On the other hand, economic factors are brought up, for example other people's material resources. You may have the ability to foresee societal and economic developments.

As a child you were probably receptive to signals and nonverbal communication, especially to your mother's subliminal emotions. You should liberate yourself from these feelings, if you have not already done so. Make sure to guard your current relationships from this kind of complication. If you want to definitively solve these problems, do not go digging up your past.

You probably started thinking about death and sexuality in your childhood, which had a strong influence on your character. Your primary requirement in a relationship is a dependable compensation for your daily battles. You can be very generous and sympathetic to your partner. These capacities are not only helpful in romance but also in dealing with people in other situations.

If the Moon receives challenging aspects in the eighth house, the end of your relationship could take a dramatic turn. Do not forget that a collapse is always unpleasant at first and causes a lot of pain, but that these crises allow us to grow.

Your Moon in Conjunction with Your Mercury

This conjunction symbolizes the bridge between your subconscious and your practical activities. You recognize analytically the extent to which your emotional state effects your behavior towards others. The experiences you make in your everyday life leave you deeply touched. Sometimes you face difficult consequences that have long-term effects on your life. Under some circumstances your reason could be subjected by your emotions although logic warns you of this danger. Maybe you should not react so sensitively to the critical remarks of others.

Your private life and your family are extremely important to you and you devote yourself increasingly to the areas of life centered on nutrition and health. You want to practice healthful nutrition based on the latest findings and you invest a lot of effort in researching studies on the subject.

Your Moon in Trine with Your Jupiter

A need to become active to help others leads you often to proceed selflessly and do everything in your power. Your creative imagination can be an effective support. Also you devote most of your time and energy to your home and everyone who lives there, because you wish for nothing more than the happiness and satisfaction of the people closest to you. Possibly you may inherit some day, although you are in a position to take care of all your material needs.

You are experienced in many fields and are able to follow the essence of conversations. You take care of the affairs of the area in which you live and, should you run for mayor, it will not be an unpleasant duty for you. You favor people who are open and honest and whose words are followed by actions. Harmonious living situations are very important to you as you prefer the company of people who are able to shake off the stress of every day life and who do not plan to integrate stress into their leisure activities. You are true to your partner and will remain loyal in every situation.

Your Moon in Trine with Your Uranus

This trine will stimulate your imagination, arouse your enthusiasm and impart understanding of economic principles, especially when it comes to modernizing. Your unusual charm attracts people, who notice your energy reserves immediately. This helps you to quench your enormous thirst for knowledge and keep up with the latest developments. With your active spirit this should not pose a problem for you, because you are good at recognizing things within their context. Maybe you could develop an interest in Astrology, because you find esoteric fields interesting, only your hectic pace and too many activities keep you from delving deeper. It is worth the time invested, because you have the ability to make insights intuitively and to put them to constructive use.

Your Moon in Conjunction with Your Neptune

You are a very sensitive person and are not lacking creative ideas. On the other hand, you are easily influenced, which gives others opportunity to make use of your abilities for their purposes and to cheat you.

You tune into the moods of the people around you intuitively and are known for your sympathy. Still, your openness makes you vulnerable. For this reason, you should choose the people you trust very carefully. You may have psychic abilities. Whether they are useful or are merely products of your imagination depends entirely on whether you have developed an adequate sense of reality. You should not withdraw into your dream world to revel in emotions or you will risk losing contact to reality. Devote yourself instead to nurturing your artistic and musical talents, you could use your imagination for phenomenal self-expression.

Your Moon in trine to your Pallas

Your creative intellect and socio-cultural activities are enhanced by your emotional energies. You feel emotionally relaxed in non-traditional gender, cultural or political settings.

Creative or cultural expression feeds your sense of emotional well-being, and you can care for others through your practical creativity, courage and wise approach to conflict resolution. You may be seen as a kind of mother figure to some minority or oppressed group that you support.

You are a natural detective and can read people very quickly and concisely.

You may be an expert at manifesting the things you desire, through the act of creative visualisation. What you visualise and focus on with good feelings becomes reality, seemingly as if by magic. Use this talent and skill to improve your life and the lives of others.

Your Moon in Square with Your Northern Moon Node

You often do not feel in tune with yourself and personal defeats rob you of your will to continue. Your problem is that you cannot trust your feelings because you are easily impressed and then bitterly disappointed when you find that you were deceived. Adverse effects on your health could be the consequences.

It would be helpful if you were to construct a secure emotional basis from which to live. Look deep within yourself to find out what is really important to you. Always use reason first, to avoid overreacting to distress by doing things which you will regret later. Your ambition should be to live in harmony with all your emotions and instincts so that you can let go of the past and finally allow new horizons to open to you.

As a man with this aspect in your chart, it will be women who teach you the most painful lessons.

Your Moon in Trine with Your Ascendant

With your sensitivity you can sometimes have a difficult life, although it may also help you to understand your life in all of its variations. You can react sensitively especially to what people say to you. For this reason, it is important for you to develop a realistic view of your actual situation. If successful, you will quickly realize that you are popular and well respected. You can develop a friendly disposition and allow your creativity to be fully expressed.

Being very emotional you are in a position to strive for great professional accomplishments, because your professional life is very important to you. No matter what you do you put your whole heart into it, and win the appreciation of your bosses.

A good general education makes a good impression on your friends. Being known for your diplomatic skills, people often come to you for advice; just watch out that you do not forget yourself in the process.

Mercury - The Mental Expression

From the Earth, the planet Mercury seems to travel about as fast as the Sun. This is an illusion. Mercury orbits around the Sun in approximately 88 days. Its distance from the Sun is 59 million kilometers. With its diameter of 4840 kilometers it is smaller than the Earth. Mercury can be either a morning or an evening star. In a horoscope, it can be at most 28 degrees away from the Sun, so that the only possible aspect to the Sun for Mercury is a conjunction.

In Mythology, Mercury or Hermes served as a messenger to the gods, responsible for conveying news. His intelligence and his silver tongue allowed him to become the god of commerce. He enjoyed cheating others so much that thieves and other riffraff honor him as a god. In Astrology he represents our ability to communicate, analytical reason, business sense, common sense and wit. As morning star it is associated with the sign Gemini, as evening star with Virgo.

Your Mercury in Virgo

You can usually rely on your power of reasoning and can use it to solve everyday problems. Your ability to analyze problems thoroughly makes you capable of planning a task well before undertaking it. You take care to express yourself correctly and expect the same from others. You do not waste your time with light conversation or disputes. Concrete problems interest you the most. You are usually able to come up with a successful strategy for solving any problem. You take your responsibilities seriously and like to place your intellect at the disposal of an employer who appreciates you. You are especially suited to do research, because you do not overlook the most insignificant detail and have perseverance. When you are dissatisfied, you become compulsively critical and even tear apart the successes of anyone you see as an opponent.

Your Mercury in the Eighth House [59]

You feel compelled to uncover the world's secrets and press on into unexplored regions. The more mysterious the puzzle, the more it fascinates you and will leave you no peace until you solved it. Your observational powers and remarkable vision, which also allow you to see in the dark, are especially remarkable. You have the ability to see through all kinds of human relationships, regardless of where you run into them. You may be in the finance or business world or in the field of psychology. In that case, you will be most interested in working on topics like sex and death.

You approach people open and easily. It never takes long for you to trust someone and then share your thoughts with them. You live in your own world which others find very strange. In spite of this you are capable of deep insights. You can remove yourself and analyze problems objectively, especially those which usually arouse fear or emotional outbreaks. You should reexamine the details of every contract you sign as well as every verbal agreement to avoid mistakes and misunderstandings.

People who have Mercury in the sign Gemini or Virgo and in the eighth house are adept at the sciences.

Your Mercury in Trine with Your Jupiter

In addition to learning fast and being good at presenting ideas and concepts, you generally take care of your day to day work quite well. If you have a position at a university or another educational institution, this aspect will be advantageous because Mercury deals with practical and logical thought processes and Jupiter with the area of higher education. A good general education is especially important to you, so much so that you will not let any opportunity go by. If you have literary ambitions, then go for it because no other aspect can provide as much support as this one. Use the power of positive thinking because enthusiasm and optimism are sure to bring success.

As an honest and upright person, you are in a position to keep track of the consequences of your actions. Practicing tolerance and benevolence toward all people enables you to reach out to people and explain the importance of a particular goal. With this you are often convincing.

An exploratory expedition out into the great wide world has long been an ambition of yours, which you should definitely realize. With some appropriate professional training, you could go into the field of tourism. Your hospitality is widely appreciated and probably comes from your experiences with hosts in other countries.

Your Mercury in Trine with Your Uranus

You have well-developed intellectual and rhetorical abilities and come up with original thoughts. Intuitively, you can differentiate right from wrong and often happen to be at the right place at the right time to make connections that later turn out to be useful. Today's hectic pace of developments cannot intimidate you because you are flexible enough to deal with it.

A deep interest in esoteric fields awakens your longing for a better understanding of the fundamental structures of life. You could probably achieve this if you devote yourself to the study of Astrology.

Mercury represents all the areas of communication, while Uranus is concerned with developments in electronics. This aspect could make you inclined to choose a profession dealing with electronic communications, especially in light of the rapid expansion of this field in conjunction with the increasing role of computers. It would be a shame if you did not put your unconventional way of thinking to work to bring about improvements for everyone.

Your Mercury in Conjunction with your Neptune

Do not let your lively imagination let you get carried away, even if you are convinced that you can intuitively grasp the emotional state of the people around you. Sometimes you are quick to overshoot the boundaries. Even when you are right, try to express your thoughts clearly and use understandable language, this will prevent aggravation and misunderstandings. When dealing with the concrete demands of everyday life, you prefer alternatives to the logical approach. This causes chaos in your environment. Your interests have been oriented on mysticism and esoteric fields that may have inspired you to write.

Constant daydreaming should have an effect on your poetic, literary or other creative talents. Also photography fascinates you. In a group, you tend to embellish your narratives to the point where you are forced to avoid going into any kind of commitment. Instead of debating issues, you just do what feels right. You can be secretive which holds the danger of letting you slip away into your dream world and losing all contact with reality.

Your Mercury in trine to your Pallas

Your intellectual-communicative abilities and your cultural and socio-political impulses enhance each other. You appreciate thought-provoking literature and intellectual discussions, especially when the subject matter revolves around the arts or non-traditional gender, cultural or political issues.

You may like to collaborate with community projects that support these issues, perhaps by supporting them through your writing or communication skills.

Your communication and writing skills are off the charts, you need to utilise this talent in some way. You have great foresight and therefore great scheduling, planning and management skills, as your mind is always strategising and prepared for the next move.

Problem solving is something you enjoy, and giving advice is something people will come to you for. This is a great position to have a variety of work: management, human resources, writing, teaching, and arts and crafts, not to mention politics. You also have a strong sense of intuition that doesn't let you down.

Your Mercury in Square with Your Northern Moon Node

You could have a hard time openly confronting people and conducting an honest conversation. It is not easy for you to pull your head together and judge the situation objectively. Possibly you resist logic and get yourself into unpleasant situations. Business sense is not exactly your strong point, which is why you should consider every large transaction carefully. You may think that your education is insufficient; why have you been putting off compensating for your deficiency?

Mental clarity comes from the exchange with others. Use communication to tackle any problems that may arise or you will be handicapped in your life's journey. Be more diplomatic even if it sometimes feels awkward. Take the challenge and look for contact to others.

Your Mercury in Trine with Your Ascendant

Basically, you should know what you are after and also be in a position to make the people around you understand. When you are in a group, you always try to keep the atmosphere relaxed. A thirst for knowledge motivates you to keep up with the latest developments; your professional life may also deal with publicizing knowledge and new developments. To remain intellectually fit, you enjoy debates but avoid conflicts. Intuitively you know exactly what is expected of you and you are always able to impress your colleagues. Maybe you have a tendency to be intellectually arrogant, although an astrological interpretation should never be reduced to a single aspect.

Your Mercury in Sextile with Your MC

Coordinating family and professional affairs is a trick that you have mastered. Also getting to know people is easy for you due to your communicating skills, which also allow you to express your creative potential.

In your youth your family life was probably very harmonious; good relations of both your parents has had a positive effect on the development of your character.

Venus - The Way of Loving

The planet Venus requires about 224 days to orbit the Sun. It is about the size of the Earth. We can often observe Venus with the naked eye because it shines like no other planet. Like Mercury, it can be either a morning or an evening star and can be maximally 48 degrees away from the Sun, producing the only possible aspect to the Sun, a conjunction.

The radiant beauty of this celestial body caused Venus or Aphrodite to be honored as goddess of beauty and love. After Zeus threw his sperm into the sea, she arose having been born of foam. Her beauty did not only bring harmony, but provoked the Trojan war. In Astrology, Venus stands for everything that we find beautiful and desirable. Its place in the horoscope tells us about our requirements for peaceful, harmonious surroundings, our love life and our ability to sacrifice. The arts, especially music, are associated with Venus, as is our sense of aesthetics and our preferences in the art of seduction or being seduced. As evening star Venus is associated with the sign Libra, as morning star with Taurus.

Your Venus in Cancer

You have no problems opening yourself up and giving yourself to your partner without holding back. You need to feel close to others and like the feeling you get when you are protecting someone. You take loving care of your children. But you will have to learn to let go when the time comes. You enjoy decorating your home to make it your castle. You are very sensitive and are often hurt, even if no offense was intended.

Sometimes you feel off balance, this may be dependent on the phases of the moon. You should first strive for your own independence before entering an adventure like a relationship. You develop a dependency quickly and may even let yourself be oppressed in a relationship. You do your best to avoid fighting with you family, although it is not always constructive. Do not let yourself appear weaker than you are, but discover your limitless capacity for love and make it a gift to someone close to you.

Your Venus in the Sixth House

The sixth house stands for our daily responsibilities, health and hygiene, whereas Venus brings joy and harmony. For you this means that you do not shirk your responsibilities, but thoroughly enjoy spring-cleaning. It is possible that you will meet your partner at work. Guard yourself against an excess occupation with details. Stay open for pleasures that have nothing to do with responsibilities. Other people see this positively and notice the joy with which you serve and take on people needing help.

With the planet Venus in the sixth house you enjoy expanding on your skills and perfecting your qualities. It is not enough just to do a job; you also want to meet practical and aesthetic standards.

You have the capacity to live in harmony with your body. If health problems should arise, it will be due to your unhealthy habits and poor diet.

Your Venus in Square with Your Saturn

People may sometimes get the impression that you are depressed because you are not sure which position in life you should take. This is why you are inhibited in expressing your feelings which are inhibited by shyness or a reserved nature. Possibly you have experienced disappointments and defeats since your early childhood, and your desire to be loved and respected were not necessarily fulfilled to your satisfaction. Take care that you do not turn into a cynic who holds everybody but himself responsible for his fate. This does not imply that you are opposed to working by your own interests. Especially when it concerns material goods, you can act extremely selfish. Instead, look towards the positive side of life, get out and meet people, then you will be better able to expect something for yourself.

Your Venus in square to your Eris

With this astrological influence you may have a refined and cultured way of seeing the world around you, although you may also have an aesthetic vision and a set of ethical judgements that are uniquely your own.

You are very likely to have a pronounced artistic bent, although you may be inclined to do something more productive. You tend to be a bit "wild" and are likely to appreciate a strong character in other people, even to the point of intensity, which can get them into trouble as in their quest to find their own distinctive voice, they inevitably clash with the rest of the world.

Relationships are important to you, and you are not content with anyone who is ordinary or follows established routines. You may be a sensual person who loves to play on the edge, that is, between enjoying a comfortable, even luxurious environment, or going beyond your comfort zone in search of that sense of extreme experience that can be a vital motivation for you.

You may be naturally affable and diplomatic, being so in a unique way. Although you may be or identify as a man, with this astrological position you possess a strong feminine side and a peaceful and sophisticated point of view.

When you need to, you bring out your strong character, especially when something really matters to you.

The quest you undertake to know your own individual values becomes extremely important to you as you mature, and can become a serious quest indeed, at least until such time as you feel you have settled into a place which is in tune with your innermost soul.

Your Venus in square to your Juno

The pleasure principle: beauty, harmony and the world of the senses become involved in issues of equality and intimacy in the relationship in a somewhat uncomfortable way.

A conflict may arise between relationships and love, where you may feel that you cannot experience a truly loving relationship because of certain dynamics in your partner. It may also be the case that one partner is uncomfortable with the sensual or sexual expression of the other, which can lead to difficulties in finding a balance between emotional intimacy and physical pleasure.

One partner may perceive the other as overindulgent or as having a superficial sense of beauty or love. This perception may be the result of a mismatch between the need for a healthy, committed relationship and the need for sensual affirmation and pleasure.

The conflict between these two needs may be a manifestation of the denial or repression of one of them within you, either consciously or unconsciously. This inner struggle may be reflected in the way you interact with the outside world and with the people around you, including your partner.

Reconciling these tensions can be achieved by finding ways to meet both needs in a balanced way. This may require a thorough examination to understand what aspects of the relationship and yourself feel threatened and why.

It is important to address these conflicts with openness and honesty in communication with your partner. Discussing your needs and concerns can pave the way to finding solutions that allow for a deep and satisfying emotional connection, while addressing the sensuality and pleasure needs of the relationship.

In conclusion, this challenging aspect between Juno and Venus reveals a conflict between the principle of pleasure and equality in the relationship. There may be tensions in the expression of love and sensuality, leading to difficulties in finding a balance between these two needs. Reflecting on these tensions and communicating openly with your partner can lead to reconciliation and allow for a more harmonious and satisfying connection. Remember that mutual respect and empathy are key to addressing these challenges and building a nurturing and long-lasting relationship.

Your Venus in Trine with Your MC

This aspect enables you to approach your professional life skillfully, and also structure private relationships well. From early on, your parents encouraged you and you probably had a very happy childhood. Today, you are well balanced, which your colleagues and employers appreciate, and which ensures a satisfying love life.

Venus is responsible for all the nice things in life, which may make it possible for you to go into an artistic profession. Possibly you work in an Art Gallery or are involved with publishing art of some kind. Your home is probably decorated tastefully, whereby you have a special relationship to your houseplants.

Mars - The Will to Survive

Mars orbits the Sun in 687 days. It is smaller than the earth and has a diameter of 6800 kilometers. It is known for its red color that has always been associated with aggression. For this reason Mars is honored as the god of war, called Ares by the Greeks, who was renowned for his courage and bravery and threw himself into every battle. Traditionally, Mars symbolizes the warrior who has to till the fields in time of peace to feed his family. Mars symbolizes the male and Venus personifies the female energy. Fortunately, it is becoming increasingly difficult to work with these outdated concepts in Astrology. It makes more sense to equate Mars with our energy drive, which both men and women possess in some form. Thus, Mars stands for assertiveness, drive, aggression, courage and also for sex drive. Mars rules the sign Aries as well as together with Pluto, the sign Scorpio.

Your Mars in Sagittarius [59]

Mars in Sagittarius gives you a strong ethical perspective. You want to continue your education and if possible travel to distant lands in order to expand your horizons and reach important conclusions. You are a seeker and an adventurer. You go through life with optimism and joy. You do not bother yourself with details, but leave them to others. Your projects are usually grand and extravagant, but serve worthy causes.

You can work fanatically for your convictions. For this reason, you should take care not to get on the nerves of those around you. You may hurt others by overdoing your love of truth.

Generally, you are popular and are known for your fairness and openness. Sometimes you are like a kid who has just discovered her environment and goes out on an exploratory adventure. You can be high spirited and play practical jokes, which will be forgiven because nobody can stay mad at you. You feel in tune with nature and need a lot of exercise. According to classical Astrology, you are supposed to love horses and like to ride.

Your Mars in the Tenth House

With Mars in the tenth house, you will never be satisfied with a low position. You strive to advance, investing all your energy and if it cannot be avoided, your aggressiveness. You want your achievements to be recognized and respected. With your stamina, you could reach unfathomable heights. You should be able to work your way from dishwasher to millionaire. Pay attention that your endeavors do not take on an inconsiderate form and bring about situations in which you feel justified in doing anything that will get you where you want to go.

If Mars in the tenth house has challenging aspects, you probably have had a difficult childhood. Possibly you experienced your father as authoritarian and aggressive and were afraid of him. It was not easy for you to cut yourself free from his influence and develop your own ideas. Make sure that your achievements are not actually supposed to prove something to your father. That could strain your relations to your bosses and also serve as motivation for you to achieve a position where you will not have to take anything from anybody. In any case, it would do you good to relax and back away from the stress at work.

Your Mars in Trine with Your Saturn

The most difficult problems interest you the most, because you are in a position to act constructively. At the same time, nothing is worse for you than to waste energy which could otherwise be put to good use. This is why you constantly work towards bringing all your endeavors to a successful close. Often you are envied for your tremendous willpower.

Your meticulousness may eventually lead you to take up a profession in a technological field. Just as your determination will enable you to earn recognition and help you rise to a higher position. This is also due to your patience, practical skills and drive as well as the ability to keep things under control in stress situations because you are strong enough to endure hardships.

Your Mars in Trine with Your Pluto

With your willpower, you are able to tap into inexhaustible energy sources that enable you to do a lot for others. Understanding and contact to reality play an important role whenever you do anything, because these qualities let you encounter everyone in a loving and respectful manner, which also earns you recognition.

If you develop an interest in esoteric fields, you could probably use tremendous amounts of energy for improving your surroundings, whereby you will not hesitate to fight for your own interests. Your friends are sometime surprised by your ability to mobilize your last reserves in order to master a difficult situation or to defend values that are important to you. With your constant readiness to resist, it should be easy.

Your Mars in trine to Eris

With this astrological influence you are likely to have a strong character, along with what we might call a "lust" for competition and success, and also a "leave no stone unturned" attitude, i.e., to sweep everything under the carpet and get the job done when needed.

You are full of masculine energy, perhaps athletic, and perhaps quite interested in sexual activity; yes, when you set your mind to something you get it no matter what. The object of your quest may change as you mature, and yet what you finally stand for is always what comes from deep within you, in a totally uncompromising way.

You always seem to hunger for more, whether it is success, sexual conquest or praise, as long as whatever it is that motivates you is a product of your own inner self.

So you have your own unique set of values that drive you, but this results in you possibly having trouble accepting the standards that others seek to impose on you to follow as a guide for your behaviour.

If these standards make any sense to you, deep down inside, then you will most likely adhere to the rules, but if not, it will not happen otherwise. Because of this, it is extremely important that you attempt to discern your inner realities with great depth of understanding. Without this understanding, you may get a little lost and divert your energies to unnecessary points. However, if you get to know your inner purpose, then you will prosper.

Mars square Ceres

You almost certainly link your ability to act and be effective in the outer world with subconscious images of self-respect.

It is likely that as a child your needs for independence and autonomy were frustrated by a domineering parent. As an adult, you may feel inadequate, incompetent or powerless.

A tendency to exaggerate care for others may also appear in your life.

Your need to experience parent-child bonding seems to be at odds with your fighting spirit and warrior skills.

Perhaps your own assertiveness or assertive tendencies were inhibited by parents who were too forceful, or simply did not receive the necessary support.

On the other hand, you may have felt that you have gone through a period of inconsistent parenting or care, or that the qualities of risk-taking, competitiveness and confrontation have been undermined by your caregivers.

This type of conflict may stem from past parent-child experiences, or from your experience of forming and breaking strong emotional attachments to maternal or very assertive figures.

The resolution of these challenges lies in balancing your will, your needs, with the desire to nurture and nourish, to care and nurture. It can also be helpful to transform your subconscious self-image and replace thoughts of fear and inadequacy with those of confidence, courage and self-sufficiency.

Jupiter - The Guide to Higher Insight

The planet Jupiter requires almost 12 years to orbit the Sun and is the largest planet known to us. Its diameter is 143,000 kilometers, making the Earth seem tiny in comparison. Its size and brilliance lends itself to comparison with the Roman father of the gods of the same name, called Zeus in Greek mythology. He takes care of the lesser gods and those people, who submitted to his levying ample expression of respect. He was also known to be furious or arrogant on occasion and had numerous affairs, thus his wife, Hera, was not to be envied.

In Astrology Jupiter signifies higher religious, philosophical moral and ethical knowledge. Its position in the chart tells us how to expand our horizons, because it represents expansion in all areas. Justice, Law and doctrine also belong to this field. In addition Jupiter can offer a little luck. Wherever Jupiter appears, one should be careful not to become dogmatic, arrogant or excessive. Jupiter as well as the sign Pisces rules the sign Sagittarius.

Your Jupiter in Capricorn [57]

The sign Capricorn makes the planet Jupiter feel uneasy, because Capricorn is in opposition to the sign Cancer, where Jupiter is exalted. You are well respected especially in ethical and moral matters, enabling you to assume positions of responsibility. Your political and educational views are usually conservative.

You are a very responsible person and pursue your goals with perseverance. If Jupiter has a negative aspect, you may fight all new ideas and accept the majority views uncritically, because you believe it will make you successful faster. You may be exceedingly stingy and honor money as a god. You should know that times change fast and demand new solutions.

If Jupiter receives harmonious aspects, you could keep reasonable concepts ready, which do not end at any country's borders, but may even rise to overcome global challenges. You know what is in the realm of possibility and will not follow illusionary utopias. If you could change your ways and give humor more room in your life, you could achieve a lot.

Your Jupiter in the First House

With Jupiter in the first house you enjoy delving into the questions of philosophy. You approach life with optimism anticipating what will happen. This can inspire people who see you as a bearer of hope. Keeping up on the latest trends is important to you. Financial success comes from your feel for development.

If Jupiter has challenging aspects, you can become dogmatic and therefore unable to appreciate the pleasant side of life. You try to force your convictions on others and your intolerance causes you to look down on other belief systems. Do not let your arrogance drive you into isolation and learn to accept the human shortcomings in others.

In general, you should not have any problems getting along with your friends because you seem to generate something which is best described by the word benevolence. You see life as an adventure or as a long journey. Actually, you can spend more time on foreign continents than at home. If you manage to avoid the risk of overestimating yourself, you could be lucky and look back on a very fulfilling life.

Your Jupiter in Trine with Your Uranus

With this trine, you must be capable of creative and inspirational works. You are interested in the esoteric world and in parapsychology. According to Karmic Astrology, the generosity in your past life will ensure that you are met with fortune when you most need it. With your intuitive feeling and your spiritual abilities, you can recognize and make use of opportunities which others have overlooked.

Hardly anything is more important than your autonomy. This is why you do your best to prevent anyone or anything from restricting your freedom. You try to keep your life full of diverse activities which is why you frequently travel to exotic or less exotic destinations where you have the opportunity to add to your unusual experiences.

Your Jupiter in Trine with Your Neptune

A spiritual nature opens your mind for esoteric ideas. But a lack of discipline through logic may result in your emotions taking up too much space. A more conscientious approach to life should help you to keep your emotional nature within the limits of reason.

Due to your deep understanding for other people's problems you are very generous and benevolent towards others. You especially take care of people who identify with your own outlook on life. Because you understand life within a greater context, you experience moments of intense clarity.

Being able to influence your surroundings positively is your idea of fulfillment. If you make more of an effort, you will also succeed. A limitless imagination together with your benevolence will allow you to lose yourself in creativity, which is more your style than participating in colorless, sober activities. Others can easily get caught up in your enthusiasm and joy.

Your Jupiter conjunct your Pallas. [59]

Your sense of faith and enthusiasm intertwine with your creative and cultural sensibilities. You have a deeply philosophical bent of mind and an innate sense of wisdom. You may have a gift for teaching or learning foreign languages.

You can serve your favourite cause by your ability to bridge the possible cultural divide or by your ability to mediate conflicts between different belief systems or cultures.

You have great social skills, using charm and humour to get any subject across is a real skill.

You can instil faith and optimism in those who feel down or defeated. You can derive deep meaning in life (or seek answers) from cultural roots.

You may have a good relationship with your father or father figure; however, you are always looking for his approval, learn to be your own support and approve of yourself.

This location is ideal for teaching, mentoring and coaching at many different levels. You could even become a teacher or a scholar in a specialised field.

You have a wide range of interests or expertise. A career as a lawyer or politician would be a good fit for you.

Your Jupiter in Conjunction with Your Ascendant

The planet Jupiter at the Ascendant promises you a great deal and puts you in a position to take on your surroundings with optimism and a generous portion of enthusiasm. Because you can be very generous, you are a welcome guest at every party and festivity. In this manner, you are able to win people's trust, although you should be careful not to promise too much. Sometimes your projects get too large to be realized.

Because the Ascendant is related to appearance and the planet Jupiter represents the principle of expansion, you should try to avoid excessive culinary gratification; otherwise you may be forced to set off in search of an effective diet.

If you should ever get caught up in travel fever, do not hesitate to give in to it. Traveling the world has always been a way to expand one's horizons.

Saturn - The Necessity of Responsibility

The planet Saturn has a diameter of approximately 110,000 kilometers and circles the Sun at a distance of 1426 million kilometers. Its orbit takes an average of 29 years, which causes it to travel slowly through the astrological chart. Mythology reports that Chronos (Saturn) ate his children because he thought their power hunger would drive them to murder him, as he dethroned his father by killing him.

In Astrology Saturn is considered the karmic planet. Karma is the law of cause and effect. Saturn makes sure that we are confronted with the consequences of our actions. This is especially true of the Return of Saturn, around the age of 29, when the natal Saturn forms a conjunction with the transiting Saturn. This is the time to reflect on life with all its mistakes and regrets, which may force some corrective actions. Saturn is the past, tradition, the father and restrictive principle. Where Saturn is found, there are regularly problems to be solved, as challenges can be found in every horoscope. We have to overcome fear and inhibitions. As seen positively, Saturn brings consistency, perseverance, diligence and responsibility. It rules the sign Capricorn.

Your Saturn in Aries

Saturn seems to have problems no matter where it is. In Aries, the sign of renewal and unfolding energy for individual goals, Saturn can express itself in one or two ways.

You may begin an egotistical climb to the top, showing no regard for the feelings and needs of others, whereby you will have difficulty bringing yourself to cooperate with others and be unable to compromise. You press on putting yourself under unbelievable time pressure, which does not accomplish anything anyway, because you get bored fast and lose interest in the results of your work.

The opposite case could also come about, making it hard for you to take the initiative and practice your convictions. Without the support of those around you, you do not dare take even one step and are also anxious about any changes. Risks or any endeavor with an uncertain outcome are to be avoided at all costs. Your exaggerated need to feel secure makes you blind to opportunity letting you see only the dangers of a new development.

Experience will force you to recognize your strengths, use them and teaches you that perseverance and initiative are necessary prerequisites not only for independence, but also for a harmony within a group. Once you have understood this, it will be possible to achieve things you could not have dreamed of before. The combination of self-discipline and creative ideas is the basis for every successful endeavor. You could take on tremendous tasks by setting your determination and persistence towards concrete goals.

Your Saturn in the Second House

You have a strong need for security and are convinced that you can avoid the dangers of this world by piling up material possessions and achieving financial security. This can become compulsive and eventually get in the way of your social contacts, which would provide you with approval and make you feel contented. You may even fear that someone is after your horde of goods. You are constantly wary of losing interest or of collapses in the stock market rates. You do not notice the beauty that life has to offer and do not realize what you are missing. Maybe you compensate for your fear of failure at social contacts with your sense of achievement, your pride at having built something and your independence of people, who you consider unreliable anyway. Do not delude yourself.

Eventually you are going to have to fight financial battles and accept some restrictions. It may well be that you grew up in a poor family and now overemphasize material possessions. Do not let it go so far as to measure the worth of a person by her bank account.

Seen positively you know the value of other people's creations and productions and would never waste resources. You approach the realization of your ambitions with enthusiasm and stamina. Your ambitions are always within reach so that during the course of your life, you will become even more relaxed.

Your Saturn in Trine with Your Pluto

An understanding of the subtle energy forms, which serve as the basis for life, enables you to make use of them. No matter where you go your vitality is noticed and appreciated. Inner stores of energy always stand ready allowing you to take that one extra step necessary to meet your goal. Working carefully and having prepared thoroughly, you endeavor to bring about fundamental changes in your life and in the lives of others.

Even if it really is not your style, you are in a position to serve as a kind of spiritual guide for your friends, because your sensitivity and intuition enables you to master conflicts and crisis. Possibly you have the curse of constantly lucking out, just do not let yourself depend on it. It would be better if all of life's challenges do not always come to a happy end all by themselves, giving you reason to engage your hidden talents.

Your Saturn conjunct your Eris

With this astrological influence you are likely to be a hard worker, with great dedication and an enormous sense of duty, and you will almost certainly put a lot of effort into everything you do. You may also be somewhat of a loner and may feel that you have to solve any task on your own. You are likely to be very good with details.

You may be a fairly formal person, and show respect for others, as well as genuine concern for their welfare, which can make you fit in very well in your social environment. However, a strong sense of authority may pervade your life; so that you may give as much as you can (voluntarily) when society requires it; and in the right circumstances, when this happens, you may feel it is personal.

You may place a high value on concepts of fairness and may be inclined to favour the underprivileged or to do all you can to ensure justice for all parties.

You are unlikely to be able to resist correcting injustices you witness, and sometimes you will even use force, but you will always do so with great sincerity. You are very practical and act for the good of the collective as much as you feel it is right to do so.

You may feel detached from the social system around you until such time as you find the right formula for engaging in a way that makes more sense to you, all in tune with your own inner self. For this reason, it is vitally important that you get to know the deeper levels of your being, so that you feel that you really understand where you are coming from. Once you act as you truly feel, everything else will be comfortable and easy.

Your Saturn in opposition to your Juno

The need for a mutually supportive relationship conflicts with the urge to manifest and give practical expression to your goals. The struggle for equality and autonomy in a partnership may conflict with one partner's need to be the breadwinner or to pursue a career.

Duty, obligation, pressure to excel or an overemphasis on material comforts can create tensions between partners. Intimate relationships may be disturbed by accusations of emotional coldness and lack of demonstration born of insecurities.

Perhaps one of the two is intimidated by the idea of a serious relationship, with its attendant power struggles, and responds by cutting ties or avoiding closeness altogether.

One partner may look to the other for a responsible parent figure. The challenge is to learn to see that both the need for intimacy and the need for a realistic, non-oppressive sense of committed responsibility can and do co-exist within oneself. You may have to find ways to satisfy both needs and avoid the natural tendency to repress or unconsciously project one of them onto others (especially your partner).

Open communication and mutual respect will be essential to address these challenges and find solutions that meet the needs of both partners. Understanding individual differences and a willingness to work together to find common ground will be key to overcoming conflict and strengthening the emotional connection in the relationship.

In conclusion, the need for a mutually supportive relationship and the drive to manifest practical goals can lead to tensions and challenges in the couple's relationship. Recognising and balancing both needs will be fundamental to maintaining a healthy and harmonious relationship. Empathy, dialogue and mutual respect will be valuable tools for dealing with conflict and building a rewarding and balanced emotional relationship.

Your Saturn in Trine with Your Northern Moon Node

The way you organize your work is exemplary, because you take the work entrusted to you seriously. For this reason, you should be professionally successful and develop more self-confidence in the process. Instead of charging into things, you first weigh the pros and cons in order to avoid risks. In spite of your serious approach to life, you can loosen up and enjoy yourself without feeling guilty about it. Seeing the fruits of your endeavors gives you great satisfaction. This makes you less dependent on "ch

Uranus - The Process of Emancipation

The planet Uranus was first discovered in March 1781, at a time when in Europe old structures were breaking down and France stood on the verge of revolution. Its diameter is 49.000 kilometers and it takes 84 years to orbit the sun, taking about 7 years to cross through an astrological sign. In Mythology Uranus was Saturn's father, who castrated him and produced many terrible children.

In Astrology Uranus denotes a break with tradition as well as new development; it is spirit, intuition and spontaneity. Its position in the chart tells us about our relationships with our friends as well as our attitude toward authority. Uranus can also bring about a revolution and can destroy that which it cannot improve. Uranus rules the sign Aquarius.

Your Uranus in Taurus

From the year 1935 until 1942, Uranus was in the sign Taurus. Its generation was born during the turmoil of the war and endeavors to actively prevent that kind of disaster from ever being repeated. One measure they suggest is to redistribute the material resources of the planet according to humanitarian criteria. You show imaginative determination in your endeavors that can make you successful.

Although you are attached to possessions and are constantly collecting things, you have an unorthodox relationship to them. The spontaneous element of the planet Uranus in Taurus can express itself in sudden changes in your financial situation. The problem is that you have an appreciation for life's comforts and need to feel secure, on the other hand you want to protect your independence in order to live according to your principles. If Uranus receives negative aspects, you could glorify progress to the point where you throw traditional values overboard.

Your Uranus in the Fourth House

Probably the search for your roots or for a real home has worn you out for a long time. Stability was not something your family could offer; you may have had to move often as a child. Your outlook on life was formed independently of the values of your family. Even if your first actual flight out of the nest was not your idea, you still wanted to be independent from early on. Because you were different, you did not feel accepted and have had to pay for this with a restless nature. It is to be hoped that you will one day find a place where you can settle down with people you love. Hopefully, you will not make the mistake of letting your fear of attachments cause you to pack up and move on suddenly, continuing your search.

Maybe your mother was not able to offer you the security you needed as a child and was often not there. That explains why you do not even want to be available for your own family and frequently present with decisions that you made without consulting them.

Your Uranus in Trine with Your Neptune

This aspect hits the generation born between 1938 and 1945. During this time, a sort of mass hysteria broke out, which was initiated by individual despots. Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and the Emperor of Japan, Hirohito, were in a position to exercise a hypnotic influence on masses of people, which finally brought about the death of many people and left destructive scars on the world.

On a personal level, you can work against a repetition of history by denying your support to politicians who do not earn your trust. You should look behind the scenes and be able to sense injustice. But that alone is not enough, it is also your responsibility to place what you have learned at everyone's disposal. Possibly you have utopian ideals or want to encourage the spiritual development of mankind.

Your Uranus in trine to your Pallas

You can use your creative vision to support humanitarian, "new age" or alternative ideals. You are sympathetic to cultures or traditions that have suffered at the hands of religious or imperialistic oppression.

You can balance the need for aesthetic or cultural expression with the need for change and excitement. You enjoy mental stimulation and new concepts, and your mental or creative expression may possess an unconventional flavour, or a strange futuristic vision. You may have a natural command of modern technology, computer science, or subtle energy fields.

You work well with computers, science, new technologies and even astrology. This aspect is ideal for translating symbols into a language, such as astrology and also computer language. Therefore, computer programming is a skill in which you could do well.

With your quick mind and strong intuition, you are at genius level or could be. You are able to adapt well to social changes and will be something you will find in your life, especially at this time when they are so prevalent in society. You would make a good leader showing the way for change.

Your Uranus in Trine with Your Ascendant

Expressing your individuality is exceedingly important to you. The respect of others is assured because of your unorthodox conduct and originality, which you use to explore every variety of the truth. This brings you into contact with people in a highly unconventional manner. With your pronounced spontaneity and love of freedom you should look for a profession which allows you to work independently.

Because the planet Uranus is concerned with the future, you actively and intensively participate in its development, whereby you are primarily concerned with the research and development of concepts for individual freedom.

Strong intuition as well as your creative potential should be put to use in disciplined activity. Maybe you would enjoy learning more about Astrology or some similar field, which would bring you closer to the freedom and truth you are striving to attain.

Your Uranus in Opposition with Your MC

You have difficulties adapting to the current situation. Whether at work or at home, you stand in opposition to your parents or your boss and have earned yourself a reputation for being a minor revolutionary. Possibly it could go so far as to drive you from one place to another, without there being any evident cause.

Responsibility in the family has always been a source of conflict between you and your parents. Even if you do not value compromises, you should try to give in once in a while.

Neptune - The Cosmic Consciousness

An astronomer in Berlin who noticed that Uranus often deviated from its orbit first discovered Neptune in the year 1846. The cause had to be an unknown planet, which was then called Neptune. Neptune orbits the Sun every 165 years and has a diameter of 47,000 kilometers. It is invisible to the naked eye.

In Mythology, Neptune or Poseidon is the god of the sea and lord of the water, which is the element that forms the basis of all life. The depth of the sea often distorts vision creating the illusion of a surrealistic world. In Astrology Neptune represents deception, mysticism, imagination, dreams, extrasensory capabilities, a foreboding and inspiration. It symbolizes creative energy. With Neptune's help creative abilities can find expression. Neptune stays in one sign for 14 years, therefore its individual interpretation, house position and aspects of other planets should be considered. Neptune is assigned to the sign Pisces.

Your Neptune in Virgo

In order to interpret this planet position for yourself, you should consult its house position as well as its aspects to other planets. Neptune was in the sign Virgo from 1928 until 1943. Its generation today, 1999, is between 56 and 70 years old. You survived the Second World War and probably have endured some rather extreme experiences.

You had a hard time expressing your creativity and imagination in an artistic manner. After the war, it was necessary to concentrate on fundamental needs. This could have left you with a tendency to defy material possessions and with a weakness for garish cuteness. You probably think practically and set your ambitions towards gradually but steadily improving your standard of living. Hopefully, you are not deceiving yourself in this respect and remember the importance of carefully considering what it is you are spending so much time working for.

Your Neptune in the Eighth House

Death should not instill you with fear, but fascinate you and arouse your curiosity about what is to follow. Also what the French call the "small death" attracts you hypnotically: Through physical union with another person you try to transgress limitations and attain a deeper understanding of human nature.

Wherever Neptune is found, dangers are lurking. Neptune clouds reality and often makes us victims of our own deceptions. For this reason, avoid using sex as a means of escape or believe that it can all

Your Neptune in trine to your Pallas

You are able to balance your need for inner, transcendent spiritual experience with your need for outer expression of your mental/creative abilities and socio-political interests. You may have great artistic or musical talent, or your wisdom and skill may be expressed through your manifest ability in the healing arts.

You have a high degree of compassion. You may possess highly developed psychic abilities or a deeply experienced spirituality. You may support causes of a spiritual nature or those that focus on health or addiction recovery.

Photography and the creative arts interest you and you have talent in both fields. Your intuition is very strong and almost telepathic. You have great powers of concentration and psychology and dream analysis are great avenues for you to pursue.

You have a strong sense of justice and are also very good at figuring things out and using your powerful psychic abilities.

Your Neptune in Square with Your Northern Moon Node

This aspect can express itself in a variety of ways. Possibly you are afraid of looking inside yourself and discovering something new. You avoid emotions and dreams and do not want to be reminded of the fact that there are dimensions other than the material world, which is your favorite escape. You make little use of your imagination because you want to stay on the ground. If you do not change your attitude about your inner workings and if you remain closed to the spiritual world, you will be forced to recognize one day how empty and boring your life has become.

Maybe you live at the other extreme and never want to take off your rose-colored glasses. You do not feel ready for reality and are afraid to take the crucial steps that would change your life. In this case you will have to analyze your conduct meticulously and come into contact with the outside world. Without a confrontation there will be no further development for you.

Your Neptune in Trine with Your Ascendant

With your sensibility you probably have supernatural abilities which you may not be aware of. Being in a position to look behind the scenes, you are unsettled by what you see there. However, you will not blame yourself but do your best to transform the situation positively.

On the other hand, you may have a magical attraction that draws other people and might go so far as to have a hypnotic effect on people. Probably the danger of abuse of these powers for your own egotistical purposes is relatively small. Probably you know that the Earth can be peaceful and a healthy place to live and you should use your energies to bring about this transformation. This could be emotionally beneficial and earn you the acknowledgment that you have always hoped for.

Pluto - The Unavoidable Change

With 2400 kilometers of diameter Pluto is the smallest known planet. It was discovered on the 18th of February 1930 in Flagstaff, Arizona. Pluto requires 247 years and 7 months to circle the Sun. It remains in each sign about 20 years. A moon, Charon, which according to Greek mythology brought the souls of the dead across the river to Hades the antique underworld, circles it. Pluto is the Roman god of the underworld that everyone will meet someday. In Astrology it symbolizes the masses and stands for sudden change, destruction, regeneration and transformation. It can be interpreted in context with the actual happenings in the world. In personal horoscopes one should concentrate on the position of its houses and its aspects. Together, Pluto and Mars rule the sign Scorpio.

Your Pluto in Cancer

Pluto should be interpreted for individuals by its house position and its aspects to the other planets because it moves very slowly. It entered the sign of Cancer in 1914 and hung out there until 1939.

Pluto was first discovered in the year 1930 in Flagstaff, Arizona. A global perspective reveals the cause of the wars experienced by the world as excessive nationalism. Each country wanted to expand its borders and claim more living space. The resulting battles then led to the mass extermination of entire peoples. Also, families represented by the sign Cancer were subjected to transformations and the resulting consequences of dislocation. Agricultural economies were modernized: major changes were introduced by the discovery of fertilizer and insecticides. Research into hydroelectricity manifested itself in dam construction. In Israel, irrigation systems were gradually being introduced making the desert arable, a process which has since been perfected.

Your Pluto in the Seventh House

Probably the same pattern of behavior is repeated every time you approach someone and start a relationship with him. It will not be easy to find a balance between your ego and the union with Pluto in the house of relationships. This may crystallize as the attempts to dominate the relationship are played out and one of you gives in. Pluto does not like to make compromises, although this is exactly what is needed in a partnership. Even if a relationship is just beginning to blossom, you may throw yourself into it so vehemently as to scare your potential lover away.

The development of your personality depends on your relationships, the way they are run and the consequences that you draw from them. You need someone else to bolster your self-esteem and to tackle problems, some of which may have a long history. The transforming power of Pluto is expressed in your relationship to others. If it is ever going to get that far, you need to accept the unpleasant side of yourself, just as everybody must. In the relationship, this may take the form of jealousy, revenge, greed or envy. Once you have recognized this challenge, you will become a much-appreciated haven for your partner, especially in times of crises.

Your Pluto in trine to Eris

With this astrological influence you may have great intentions, which can take you far if you learn to put them into practice correctly. You are a hard worker and possess great stamina. When you are focused on a goal, you don't let anything stand in your way.

You may seek to take any action that seems likely to succeed, and you may go so far as to break the rules that society imposes on you, or even use the people around you to achieve your ends. In this way, you can be a little difficult, especially when you are driven by anger or passion.

You have within you a need to evolve and a deep desire to take your life to the next level, yet you may go through many changes in the path you choose to take to achieve what you unconsciously desire.

You may have many failed starts, or you may make inappropriate journeys because your goals are not focused, but these are really just disguises for what you are really after.

A certain sexual obsession is a potential symptom of these goals leading you out of the right place, other possible symptoms are also impulses to be completely right or a craving for absolute control over your social relationships.

In reality, you can possess the impulse that will enable you to master yourself and allow you to transform for good those traits of your past that you feel a deep need to eliminate. The sincere exploration of your inner world is of vital importance to you.

The inner work you must do to achieve this is profound and lifelong, but if you succeed, it will transform you. Life can become sweeter and more meaningful in every aspect, once you are in tune with yourself.

Chiron - The Social Attitude

Chiron is a relatively small celestial body discovered on the 1st of November 1977. Its orbit lies between Saturn and Uranus. Chiron takes between 50 and 51 years to orbit the Sun. Its elliptical orbit causes it to spend a varying duration of time in each sign. Chiron travels through Libra in no more than 18 months while it remains in Aries for eight years. Some Astrologers let Chiron rule the sign Virgo, others opt for Sagittarius.

The preliminary interpretations of Chiron have understandably not progressed too far. Its astrological exploration is just beginning. As with all the planets discovered in modern times, the general mood and the situation of the entire human race at the time of the discovery are taken into account in Chiron's interpretations. Chiron's symbol resembles a key.

A second indication to its interpretation is its role in ancient mythology. Chiron was a Centaur, half human and half horse. He was a healer, astrologer, teacher, musician and warrior in one. The great heroes like Heracles, Achilles and Orpheus were all taught by him. He also founded the Asclepeion, a center where the sick were healed and medicine was taught. Interestingly enough, Chiron was wounded by an arrow shot by Heracles, which was dipped in a poison he himself discovered. Chiron suffered great pain, but him being immortal, could not die. He withdrew to a cave and was not freed from his agony until he willingly ascended to the underworld, Hades, in exchange for Prometheus' freedom.

As mentioned above, Chiron orbits the Sun between Saturn and Uranus; between the last inner planet and the first outer planet. This key position has granted Chiron the role as a bridge between the inner and outer planets. Through Chiron's experience the mysterious planets, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, become more accessible. The collective energies of these planets can be experienced and utilized with Chiron's help.

A closer look at the time since Chiron's discovery reveals an intensive search for meaning. More and more individuals have come to understand the necessity of united insight and action. Thus, Chiron appears to be an inner guide offering light in the midst of darkness, opening the spirit for experiences beyond daily routine.

The development of a positive collective consciousness that alone can bring about the necessary upheaval to create a peaceful and secure future may, due to the discovery of Chiron, not remain merely a dream.

If you are interested in learning more about this topic, its best to start thinking about the position of Chiron in your own horoscope. You may discover key experiences which altered your thinking and perception. Special attention should be paid to Chiron's square aspects while in transit, which, according to the position of Chiron in the natal chart, may take place at different ages.

Your Chiron in square to your Eris

With this astrological influence you are likely to have a relationship that is suffering, often your connection with the rest of the world will end up being problematic but it will be connected to a deeper purpose.

You may be in the habit of speaking the truth, no matter how difficult, and not shutting up about injustices you see or understand from a philosophical point of view, so you are likely to engage with yourself to take a leadership role in the fight against these endemic social ills.

You may be extremely sensitive to the pain of others, perhaps because you went through some traumatic event as a child. Your early experiences with your parents may have been painful, and as you come to terms with and try to alleviate the suffering you see in the world around you, you discover ways to overcome some of this internalised pain.

You have a strong intention to transform that which hurts you into something oriented towards service and betterment. You may sometimes feel trapped, or see society itself as burdensome and useless.

At some point, you may come to feel that you have taken all you can from the adverse circumstances that have surrounded you, and feel compelled to go out and discover new things. As you do so, it is important that you remain as true as possible to your own path, to that unique inner place where the purpose of your being lies and which belongs to no one else.

Once you have explored your own inner world more deeply, you will be better able to see where you are coming from, and you will be better equipped to fight the battles you deem really necessary. Therefore, once you can be in tune with what you consider to be your true principles, all your struggles will be worthwhile.

Eris

As a sister of Mars, Eris seeks battle with a will. The effort that every living thing makes to survive is a harsh reality of nature, and as much as we as a society may be able to alleviate or compensate for it in some way through our intellect, this effort for survival is also a fundamental part of the human condition. Although nature can be seen through rose-tinted glasses, as was the case during the hippie movement in the 1960s and with the fawn Bambi drinking from a dreamy stream in the forest, nature is very different, for beneath this false idealistic beauty there is the cold hard reality that sudden death can occur at any moment, for every living thing needs to feed, and in nature there is no greater force than an empty stomach. Eris is part of this harsh reality of nature, and uses it in order to complete her goals of self-improvement and self-improvement.

Eris in the Second House

Based on this astrological archetype you may be a strong advocate for yourself in finding your own sense of personal security, your place to stand up for yourself, at your own pace and in your own way. Perhaps your life has been focused, to some extent, on discovering what you really need to feel completely sure of yourself.

You may seek shelter in a place that is in tune with what your inner compass dictates, as it seeks to point you towards what makes you feel good inside, regardless of what the voices and attitudes around you say. Once you have found the direction your path should take, you are unlikely to lose that sense of what makes sense to you, but will rely on it to move you forward.

This feeling, together with your personal values, allows you to step out into the world and move beyond your starting point without losing confidence. As you find your own path, you may be tempted to seek financial comfort as a cure-all, eventually moving beyond that idea to something more universal and spiritually motivated, or refining your understanding of what financial security really means to you.

You may discover in the material realm a path rather than an end, a means to a fuller destiny that also includes the life path of others. Therefore, you may seek to use your ability in the material world for a higher purpose.

Ceres - Mother Earth

Ceres is the expression of the Mother Earth archetype that has been praised in many different ways by various cultures throughout history. It has also been associated with the harvest, a transformational journey to the underworld, rites of passage, and the birth or resurrection of the fertility deity.

The myth of Demeter, and the sudden abduction of her beloved daughter, Persephone, by the lord of the underworld, contains the same universal symbolism as the other myths of Mother Earth.

They are symbolic teachings, dealing with profound themes such as loss and renewal, death and resurrection, and the endless transformations that constitute the very laws of creation to which this universe, and all that inhabits it, adhere.

Ceres in your birth chart describes what is really important to you, and how you care for others (and need to be cared for). It shows you where you may have a tendency to cling, the kind of separations that could be traumatic, and those elements you may need to get rid of (or share with others) in order to continue your growth.

It is also able to indicate the ways in which you look for something that seems to have been lost, something you can never get enough of, as well as the ways that might help you to avoid regretting that loss.

As with Demeter and Persephone, Ceres can show the kind of experience that constitutes the rite of passage - the most profound transformation: the death and resurrection of the self.

Ceres in Aquarius

Caring for others, as well as caring for your children, if you have them, you manifest by encouraging them to individualise and follow their own path.

Nurturing and nurturing you associate with yielding independence and freedom, knowledge of human rights, and encouraging the expression of one's individuality - even if it conflicts with the establishment.

The lack of this kind of education at an early age could be a source of pain that will lead you to look for ways to meet this need for yourself, and thus enable you to educate others in it.

Difficulties may arise due to too much freedom at too early an age to be able to cope with it, resulting in a rebellious attitude towards authority in general.

The loss of freedom, human rights, independence, or leadership figures who uphold these values could serve as a transformative experience for you, an experience that would initiate you into the lessons of loss and return, death and resurrection, and to simply flow.

Your self-acceptance can be gained by following your own original and unique path. Imbalances can occur if you were not given boundaries and guidelines, and therefore were given more freedom than you were prepared to deal with.

It can manifest as the "rebel without a cause", the one who needs to gain internal control and self-discipline so that he can handle the responsibilities of freedom.

Ceres on the Ascendant

It seems that your mission is to take care of others, literally or metaphorically.

You show great respect for the Feminine, which may give you a certain kind of pagan reputation among your male peers.

The issue of identity is very important to you, because through it you give to others; if you see it threatened or lost, you are likely to undergo a profound transformation. This could be related to the rediscovery of the feminine within you.

The projection of your personality is always manifested in a loving, understanding and caring way. You may come to identify your role in this life as a provider, a "Father" to others. The job is most likely to be to take care of yourself on a regular basis.

Most probably always present a natural appearance when dressing.

Pallas Athena - the defender of our beliefs

Like the myths of the goddesses associated with the other asteroids, the myths of the warrior goddess Athena reflect both socio-historical changes and archetypal themes.

One of the most interesting aspects of the myth of Athena, as it has evolved, is the changing nature of her birth. In its earliest form, she was said to have been born in Lake Triton in Libya, home of the legendary Amazons. Her cult was brought to the Greek islands much later by the Libyans themselves, who migrated across the Mediterranean.

The story of her birth reflected this migration, as she was then said to have been born of Metis, a goddess of the sea. The subsequent evolution of her myth reflects the encounter of the goddess-worshipping peoples with the patriarchal peoples invading Greece from the north: Metis (whose name means Wise Council), pregnant with Athena, was devoured by the god of the invaders, Zeus, who later gave birth to a full-grown Pallas Athena with armour on her head.

Later versions of this myth omit any mention of Metis altogether, and depict Athena as conceived without the involvement of a woman.

The later myth also portrays Athena bringing about the destruction of Pallas and Medusa in what appears to be sociological evidence of the attempt to destroy the cult of the goddess (Pallas, Athena and Medusa were the three faces of the Libyan version of the triple goddess). ) In one of these myths, Zeus tricks Athena into killing her Amazon sister Pallas during a friendly competition. Another myth tells how Athena helped King Perseus cut off Medusa's head by giving him a mirror so that he could avoid her deadly gaze.

However, as much as these myths have been used as proof of the wise Athena's denunciation of the feminine, they also contain symbolism indicating how Athena preserved the trinity of goddesses. Thus, after the death of Pallas, the grieving Athena put her sister's name before her own. As for her attitude towards Medusa, she wore Medusa's image on her breastplate and distributed her blood to healers as a regenerative medicine.

The symbolic importance of the mirror in the Perseus-Medusa conflict also alludes to Athena's wisdom and gift as a mediator in teaching how to reconcile opposites by seeing in oneself the repudiated qualities that are projected onto one's opponents.

Pallas Athena signifies wisdom and creative problem solving in which a holistic view of conflicting or opposing elements (the Masculine and the Feminine) is required. This sense of fairness is supported by a willingness to defend or fight for the underdog. Thus, Pallas Athena is also associated with fighting for causes. It represents the application of practical skill and creative intelligence to render the best possible service.

She was the goddess of war (of defence, originally), as well as the goddess of wisdom and culture, patron of civilised arts such as pottery, sculpture, weaving, architecture and animal husbandry. Pallas Athena may also represent the denial of one's own gender in an effort to cope with situations that require the skills of the opposite gender for survival, as well as the struggle to rediscover and reconnect with the essential qualities of one's own sex. Androgynous conditions and healing through feminine wisdom, energetic balance or conflict resolution are also expressions of the archetype of Pallas Athena.

Pallas Athena in Capricorn

This position of Pallas Athena denotes a perceptive insight or intuitive ability when it comes to organising, planning and structuring.

You may be especially inventive, creative, or subtly skilled at manifesting concrete goals and overcoming obstacles to achievement, and it may be important for you to use these skills in your career. Difficulties can arise if this expresses itself as a crusade for power and status, or if you get caught up in plans that never materialise.

You intuitively understand that the success of any enterprise is like a masterful building: it depends on a firm foundation, a precise and balanced structure and a sound economy. This mastery of a sense of form and structure can be expressed aesthetically in an interest in such things as sculpture, ceramics, architecture, and house or furniture design.

Your organisational and problem-solving instincts, along with your ability to take responsibility, can be put to good use in the defence of a cause or disadvantaged group. You could champion a cause through your status or recognised authority, or through activities such as legal or governmental assistance.

Career opportunities for women or minorities may be a concern in your life.

Skill in the healing arts is likely to revolve around the treatment of bone structure: osteopathy, craniosacral therapy, chiropractic, dentistry, plastic surgery and methods that work to correct postural problems.

Pallas Athena in the twelfth house

Pallas Athena in the twelfth house indicates that you have the ability to tap into the collective unconscious with your own creative intellect and to express this insight in an extremely gifted way that provides healing and practical wisdom to others.

Your understanding and use of symbolism (the language of the unconscious), archetypes and myths is both profound and practical. As you have the ability to influence others, it is important that you use these gifts in service rather than for personal gain. You can apply these skills in the service of socio-political causes, the healing of the feminine, or psychospiritual wisdom.

You may undergo deprivation (voluntary or imposed) to fulfil your "calling", seeking retreat or fasting to strengthen your subtle perceptions and inspiration, for example.

Difficulties can arise if the energy of Pallas Athena expresses itself as a crusade in which your interpretation of reality and the collective mind is the only one, or the only one that matters.

Your Ascendant in conjunction with your Ascendant

This aspect gives you strong strategic planning skills and your foresight is very accurate. You are very intuitive and probably even have psychic abilities.

Your ability to see the big picture in all things helps you in all circumstances and people look to you for guidance. Your areas of expertise may include detective skills, political awareness and interest, intellectual and healing abilities.

Juno - marriage and commitment

Juno (whose Greek name is Hera) is an ancient Goddess Queen of Heaven dating from that matriarchal period when the sovereign Deity was female and reigned alone, presiding over the mysteries of birth, motherhood and the various phases of reproduction.

Mythology tells how she was seduced by Zeus, married him out of a sense of honour, endured a marriage characterised by power struggles over questions of fidelity and having a line of offspring, as well as how she occasionally withdrew to renew and centre herself.

Her myth parallels the history of social upheaval in the lands where she was worshipped. Northern invaders struggled to impose traditions of patrilineal descent and the worship of their chief god, Zeus, on the indigenous matriarchal cultures of Mycenaean Greece and Crete. Over a period of hundreds of years of cultural conflict, the two divinities were forced to share the altar.

Thus, in addition to her authority over matters of childbirth and motherhood, Juno has come to be associated with issues of socially recognised relationships, legal marriage, marital fulfilment through commitment and fidelity, and the struggle for equality within a relationship.

It also represents the kind of power struggles that involve controlling the partner through control over offspring, or through withholding sex or emotional intimacy.

Juno can also represent compromised relationships entered into out of a sense of duty, guilt or for social reasons.

Juno represents both the need for relationship and the refusal to accept inequality within the context of a relationship. It represents the struggle to balance the need for intimacy with the opposing need for freedom, needs that both partners have, although one of these needs may be projected onto the other.

It can also represent the need to take marriage as a sacred trust, a path leading to spiritual fulfilment through the reconciliation of opposites in a state of union.

On another level, Juno can represent the way one is rendered impotent by conflict despite sincere effort and blameless conduct. The more one tries, the more inadequate one's efforts seem to be, because there is a tendency to cling to old methods when circumstances have changed and a completely new paradigm is needed before one can see a clear path.

This frustration can sometimes lead to self-devaluation and loss of faith in oneself.

Juno thus symbolises the transitional state between the old and the new way of being, where the old fails to meet the needs of the times and the new has not yet manifested itself.

It describes the need for a kind of spiritual self-rejuvenation that is needed to see us through times of total disintegration into the future that awaits us. Juno in the birth chart, therefore, represents the ways in which we need to renew ourselves and where our ability to adapt to changing circumstances is put to the test.

Since marriage proved to be the testing ground for this goddess, Juno also indicates the qualities associated with the spouse and the ways in which one handles the needs for intimacy/freedom, as well as the jealousy and insecurity that often accompany this balancing act.

Juno's position describes the nature of any control issues, the ways in which such power struggles are enacted, and the kind of "sacred cows" that must be abandoned so that the path to marital fulfilment can unfold.

Juno's placement in your chart may refer not only to your partner (or the way you perceive your partner), but also to the relationship and your own behaviour in a committed relationship.

Your Juno in Libra

With Juno in Libra, you look for harmony, equality and a deep understanding of each other's needs in a serious relationship. You value a partner with artistic or musical abilities, and with a refined sense of good taste; someone who represents a true lady or gentleman in your life.

It is important for you to find someone idealistic, who understands the importance of balancing Yin and Yang, Feminine and Masculine, in order to build a harmonious relationship. However, at certain times you may feel a sense of inadequacy or powerlessness in these areas, or that your partner takes responsibility for everything (or vice versa).

This dynamic can lead to difficulties in intimate relationships. The needs of intimacy, freedom, motherhood, fidelity and power issues must be treated with fairness and mutual consideration. Otherwise, uncooperative or competitive behaviours may emerge and negatively affect the relationship.

It is essential to understand that true harmony in a couple comes from mutual support and cooperation. You must both be willing to listen and understand each other's needs, working together to find solutions that benefit you both.

In conclusion, with Juno in Libra, you seek a relationship in which harmony, equality and mutual understanding are paramount. It is essential to approach issues of intimacy, fidelity, and power with fairness and cooperation to avoid unhealthy dynamics in the relationship. Finding a balance between the two of you will be key to building a lasting and satisfying connection.

Your Juno in the Ninth House [57]

With Juno in the ninth house of your birth chart, for you a formal relationship goes beyond the superficial and connects directly to your search for meaning and wisdom in life. You are likely to see the relationship itself as a vehicle for receiving the most important and profound teachings of existence.

In this position, you and your partner may share a common interest in knowledge, philosophy, spirituality or higher education. Travelling together in search of wisdom or even teaching together can be significant aspects of your connection. Your partner may play the role of a mentor or guide on your path of seeking meaning, or vice versa.

However, the ninth house also rules challenges in the expansion of mental and cultural horizons. One of you may feel harassed or limited in your quest for knowledge, or the roles of "teacher" and "disciple" may create conflict in the relationship. It is important that you both share a common philosophy or, failing that, that you genuinely respect each other's philosophical point of view.

Open and respectful communication will be essential to overcome any philosophical differences and to allow both parties to enrich each other with their unique perspectives. Learning and growing together through the exchange of ideas and experiences can strengthen the connection and enrich the relationship on all levels.

The qualities and characteristics of the sign Juno is in in your birth chart will offer more detail on how to face and address these issues related to the search for meaning and wisdom in the relationship. It is essential that you keep an open mind and be willing to expand your mental and cultural horizons together with your partner, potentially leading to further growth and evolution both individually and together.

In conclusion, with Juno in the ninth house, a formal relationship is closely linked to your search for meaning and wisdom in life. Travelling together, sharing philosophical or educational interests, and learning from each other can be important aspects of the relationship. Maintaining open and respectful communication, and being willing to expand your mental and cultural horizons, will be essential to nurture and enrich your connection with your partner.

The Part of Fortune - Your Personal Key for True Contentedness

Everyone asks themselves once in a while what they can do to be happy and finding an answer to this question is not as easy as it may seem, because many people have wrong impressions about their real needs. They might be convinced that they need something, are oriented on inappropriate role models or let themselves be influenced by other people's ideas while possibly they are already on the wrong path. Usually they are not aware of it until it is too late. If you know how to make someone really happy, usually you are prepared to make an effort or to make difficult decisions. This makes the Part of Fortune something like a personal code of ethics, which has to be remembered in every circumstance. It is one of the sensitive points and is derived from Arabic Astrology.

The Part of Fortune is calculated by subtracting the Sun position from the Ascendant position. We add the number of degrees of the moon to this result. A simple formula would look like the following:
Part of Fortune = Ascendant - Sun + Moon

The position of the Sun, the Moon and the Ascendant are not randomly used for calculating the Part of Fortune. It is based on the consideration that the energy of these three bodies are what characterize people and gives them their individual personalities: The Sun as the symbol of identity and ambition, the Moon for its emotionality and its conscious and subconscious reactions, and finally the Ascendant as the visible personality, which expresses the energies of the Sun and the Moon. The position in the horoscope where Sun, Moon and Ascendant are most harmoniously working together is called the Part of Fortune. The energies of a sign and the affairs of the astrological house concerned will show you how to reach a state of true happiness.

Your Part of Fortune in Aquarius

The prerequisite for your happiness is having enough freedom to stand behind your ideals without making compromises. Friendship is more important to you than a romantic relationship where each places expectations on the other. What you need is room to experiment, the company of people with similar convictions and critical attitude toward social norms. Recognizing that you are living as an individual in a group and that potential can be magnified are important experiences that will motivate you to fight for equality and against prejudices of every kind.

Belief in the future is something you have in common with those whose Part of Fortune is in Sagittarius, because you believe that humanity will find solutions to the present problems. Basically you have a lot of understanding for the weaknesses of our species, so that you seldom react furiously but usually have an explanation at hand. You are by no means indifferent to development, still you need a certain emotional distance to things, because Aquarius is an air sign and therefore has an intellectual emphasis. Do not let yourself be pressured into acting hypocritically, which in the end will only stand in the way of true harmony. You need your freedom, which you are also willing to grant others.

Your Part of Fortune in the First House

Having this constellation in your chart you will find fulfillment by going your own way and finding the courage to free yourself from other people's opinions and society's moralistic standards. Success will come from relying on yourself acting according to your personal way of seeing things, which may be out of the ordinary. In the course of your life you will make your mark on society while remaining true to yourself in spite of any controversy which may arise around you. Additionally, you want to be appreciated for your uniqueness; when someone thinks they can go over your head or insist on comparing you with normal citizens, that is something you cannot deal with and feel challenged to prove the opposite. Then at the very least you take the liberty of doing and saying what you really think at the time, just to make sure that there is something going on. Probably you are not well known for being considerate, and at times it may be difficult to convince you that there are factors other than your interests that must also be considered. Still, subjectivity and your way of concentrating on yourself should give you the necessary drive to work on projects you find interesting. You could become the leader of a new movement, which will most likely be something unusual.

It often does not make any difference to you if you are isolated by your actions or if others just do not understand you. It would make you unhappy if something would keep you away from following your instincts or placing restrictions on the essence of your being and your lifestyle. It would be more to your liking if you could, just once, take off with an idea without long contemplation and tedious planning. It would even be a distraction for you if you were to get involved with the community or notice other people's reactions. On the other hand you certainly do not want to risk getting a reputation for being too strange or too incompetent to stand up and take command.

With the Part of Fortune in the first house, you are faced with the challenge of finding the golden path in the middle between striving for individuality and independence and living within the community. First and foremost, you should remember not to interfere in areas where you would not accept interference from others. It will cause problems if you were to try to help people who are ready to start some project only to have them lose interest shortly thereafter. Do not believe that your lifestyle is appropriate for everyone, most people need the support of their community and do not find it difficult to adapt to expectations from others.

Lilith - The Suppressed Femininity

Lilith is not a planet but a calculated so called 'sensitive' point. Its position on the chart is determined by the elliptical orbit of the Moon around the Earth. First the points on the Moon's orbit furthest from the Earth are connected by an axis. Lilith is found at the point along this axis directly across from the Earth at the same distance from the center of the ellipse. Next to the Earth, this point is the second focal point on the Moon's orbit. Lilith's orbit takes 3232 days, about 8.9 years.

To interpret its position in the chart, it is important to know Lilith's history. She was Adam's first wife and was thrown out of Paradise because she refused to surrender to him on the grounds of her sex. She then lived with demons, with whom she bore innumerable children at the Red Sea. The angels sent from God eventually found her and demanded that she return to Adam. Lilith refused. As punishment one hundred of her children were killed each day. Lilith went mad with grief and commenced killing others. Her victims were women in childbed, small children and men, who she first seduced and then killed. Apart from that, she was also supposed to have appeared as a serpent in Paradise and offered Eve the apple from the tree of knowledge, which led to their expulsion from Paradise.

Also an additional name for Lilith offers insight into its meaning in the horoscope: Lilith is also called the Black Moon (and is illustrated as such) becoming the other, unseen side of femininity. She is not only the creator of life but also brings death, pain and disaster. She played an important role in the ancient Astrology of Babylon and Assyria, which was rediscovered as women in the sixties and seventies emancipated themselves, demanding the rights to regulate their own sexual behavior, birth control, abortion and demanded equal treatment. It is not surprising that women were attracted to Lilith nor that the literature on Lilith interpretations was written mainly by women.

In light of modern psychology, interpretations of Lilith's position tells us about unfulfilled wishes, the suppressed shadow-side of our personality, painful experiences, privation and darkness. As with Pluto, the processes triggered here should lead to self-recognition and the acceptance of our dark side. Good and bad should not be differentiated from each other, but human existence should be seen as many-faceted.

In a man's horoscope, Lilith can reveal what type of woman he fears most and which type of woman can drive him to despair.

The Moon's Nodes - The Karmic Component - Where Do I Come From - Where Am I Going?

The Moon's nodes are points where the moon's orbit around the Earth crosses the Earth's orbit around the Sun. The points are calculated and lie directly across from each other. When these two points are connected, the Moon Node Axis crosses the entire chart. It runs backwards, from Aries into Pisces, then into Aquarius, etc.

The Moon Node Axis can travel through the horoscope in 18.5 years, which leaves 1.5 years in each sign. The people our own age have their Moon Nodes in the same sign as we do, but not necessarily in the same house.

The rising Moon Node is referred to as the northern Moon Node or Dragon's Head. The falling Moon Node is called the southern Moon Node or Dragon's Tail. In Indian Astrology they are called Rahu and Ketu.

The meaning of the Moon Node Axis is tied closely to Karmic Astrology and is easier to understand in this context. It begins with a premonition that we are not on planet Earth for the first time, but that we have brought experiences from previous lives with us. In a horoscope the principle of reincarnation is described by the Moon Node Axis, whereby the falling Moon Node shows where the soul is coming from while the rising Moon Node describes where it is going to and our goals in this life. The Axis is the path we walk in this life. It can also be seen as a horoscope compressed into one line, which is expounded on by the remaining factors.

The rising Moon Node contains the sum of all the experiences from our past lives. This is why it seems more familiar to us than its complement. It represents all our favorite habits, which we cannot manage to free ourselves from, but which hamper our development, in other words our personal way of least resistance. It is our duty to overcome our inner obstacles and pave the way for new experiences that go in a completely different direction, as we see on the opposing sign. We should endeavor to free ourselves from the chains of habit and look forward to unexplored harbors. The houses containing the Moon's Nodes tell us which areas we should further develop and where we are caught by transmitted behavior patterns.

One of the most interesting ways to see the personal horoscope is to look at how far we have come and then image what may lie in store for us.

Your Northern Moon Node in Sagittarius

Your task in this life is to overcome your indecisiveness and take a firm standpoint. Before, you approached strangers and freely exchanged ideas with them. The problem arose when you tended to let yourself be convinced too easily, and ended up repeating what was being said to you in order to gain approval. That was no problem for you because you were unable to establish a personal relationship to the contents of the conversation. Thus you earned a reputation for being superficial, never taking anything seriously. You suffered from your own inner conflicts and your ability to see everything from every perspective. Frequently, you had no idea what you actually wanted, searching for your own well being in a multitude of activities. Still you were unable to commit yourself, always choosing to remain on the sidelines.

Now is the time to begin your search for truth. Silence is preferable to joining a discussion with an offhand comment that you may regret later. If you want to gain deeper insights, you are going to have to be more honest with people. It may be necessary to withdraw for a while until you have found yourself. Expand your horizons and do not be satisfied to occupy yourself with trivialities. Better alternatives would be to take a long trip or to study sophisticated literature. You will learn your lessons and develop firm opinions through patience and determined effort.

Your Northern Moon Node in the Eleventh House

You still perceive the events around you from a very personal perspective. It is difficult for you to develop objectivity and to submit your strong will to common goals.

However, this is exactly the problem at hand. Try getting lost in a crowd to practice getting along in a large group of people. Put your inflated pride in your uniqueness aside and think about what you could do for others. Follow your individual goals if you want to avoid continuous confrontation with the same problems. Your ego will not do you any service in this life, but has to be overcome in order to free your strengths and imagination for service to the community. Use your power of reason and avoid the distractions offered by romantic adventures that only serve to boost your self-confidence. You will then find that you can be very happy among your friends.

The Ascendant - Gate to the External World

The Ascendant is the rising sign in the East at the time of birth. It metaphorically channels our expectations of life. The first impression stays with us throughout the day, influencing each contact and every event. The Ascendant channels all the other energies in the chart actively working to express them. It describes the way we live our natal chart and how we confront our environment, making up an important part of our identity.

As to the question of the differentiation between the Ascendant and the role of the Sun keep in mind how difficult it is for us as well as for others to differentiate the expression of our personality from our personality itself. This question can therefore only be partially resolved. It is much more important to live the positive aspects of your sign and to bring it into harmony with all the other energies and influences.

Your Ascendant in Capricorn

You do not rush into things but consider the consequences and let your sense of responsibility guide you. You are logical and consistent, but sometimes lack spontaneity and a sense of humor, so much so that you have problems with the "the unbearable lightness of being". It can go so far as to cause you vague feelings of guilt and to have inhibitions against letting your inner struggles surface. You do not approach others for light conversation.

Everything in your life should have meaning and permanence.

The MC (Midheaven) - The Societal Position

The Medium Coeli also called MC or Midheaven refers to the highest point on the chart. It is the point of culmination where the planets reach the point on their apparent orbits highest above the horizon. This point also forms the summit or the beginning (cusp) of the tenth house. Directly across, the lowest point of the chart is found at the beginning (cusp) of the fourth house, the Imum Coeli or IC. The MC generally symbolizes the consciousness while the IC represents the subconscious.

The position of the MC on your chart can reveal how you conduct yourself in the outside world. This includes your role in public, your professional career, and your social position and in some cases your rate of success. The MC describes your professional orientation, where your talents lie and how you go about planning your career. There is also information about the relevance of other people's opinions and tells if you are persistent and/or determined.

A precise interpretation of your professional ambitions must include the positions of the planets in the tenth house and the aspects between the rest of the heavenly bodies.

The interpretation contains a listing of professions associated with the MC in classical Astrology. Whereby you should not consider the name of the profession as it appears in the list, but the abilities which are relevant to each of the professional fields.

Your Midheaven (MC) in Scorpio [57]

You know exactly what you want to achieve professionally and put everything you have got into your career. Anything getting in your way only serves as a challenge. The word defeat is not part of your vocabulary. You are determined and can drive yourself to extremely high performance. You do not care what people think of you because you are not working to please anybody else. Respect for your boss and colleagues has toughened you up to the point where you occasionally have to take criticism for being too aggressive. You may have a completely unfounded distrust of your colleagues. If this is the case, people would appreciate it if you loosened up a little.

You have to fight many battles in the course of your career and will not win all of them. Defeat only makes you more conscious of your goal. You have no problem changing positions and adjusting to new situations as long as it gets you somewhere. You need constant challenge and will look for activities you care deeply about and work toward making a difference. You do not like to do things half way, your motto is all or nothing. You should regularly reconsider the kind of compromises you make and ask yourself if some coercion was not involved or it could get to the point of destroying everything you have built.

A consultation of the positions of Mars and Pluto as well as their Aspects to the rest of the planets in your chart will tell how much these characteristics have shaped your personality.

You could go into psychology, scientific research, medicine or a technical field.
