This course creator launched his first course about personal development at just 21 years old!

(He made around $2,000, from only 2 or 3 sales)

He decided to go into a different direction, and became a marketing consultant for customers with bigger audiences

This time he was successful, and he started making over $1 million per year in his mid-twenties through launching and selling courses for his clients

(He was only getting 25% of the profits, his customers were literally making millions)

Even if he wasn't selling his own products, his experience with selling and launching courses helped him become the success he is today
