

Introducing the enigmatic musical force, DJ Sharm Pillay. South Africa's only brown girl Techno maven whose DJ journey ignited unexpectedly in April 2014. A badge she wears proudly as a pioneer in the industry. Though her versatility as an artist extends into other genres i.e., Deep House, Tech House, House, Progressive House & Funky House. It emerged like a bolt of lightning, ushering her into a world of swift evolution, little forewarning, and a steep learning curve as her companion.

She embarked on this exhilarating voyage, honing her craft while electrifying audiences across the globe, from the heart of South Africa to the far-flung shores of Australia, Thailand and the tranquil beauty of Fiji. In Australia, she's graced the decks alongside international luminaries and local maestros, captivating the crowd at mini-festivals and iconic venues alike. For nine illustrious years, she's held lonterm residencies on global radio, setting the airwaves ablaze.

An ardent devotee of her art, Sharm brings an inimitable energy to every dance floor. She's a naturally gifted DJ with a unique perspective on electronic dance music, and an unwavering passion for those irresistible, bass-heavy beats. Her journey has been guided by intuition, following the rhythmic pulse of her heart—a rhythm passed down through generations. Her parents, both musically inclined and her paternal grandfather, South Africa's first Hindu Drum (Tabla) gold medalist in 1927, form the very foundation of her musical DNA.

Sharm is an artist who defies convention, marching to the beat of her own drums. Her eclectic journey has encompassed a myriad of genres, laying a strong foundation for her finely tuned ear. With roots in RnB, Rock, Soul, Jazz, Hip-Hop, Reggae, and Blues, she's a rare and versatile DJ. But Techno holds the key to her heart—a love affair she keeps hush-hush (not). Her enthusiasm is fueled by "music that makes her soul dance," transcending boundaries and connecting with those who resonate with her energy, whether through Techno, Tech House, Progressive, Leftfield House & Techno, Deep House, House or Funky House

Sharm's mission is to inspire, entertain, and elevate the vibrational frequency of our planet. She channels her energy and spirit through SEKSiCuLLTURE, her transformative DJ brand—a journey that's nothing short of spiritual. In the 5D truth, "FIRST WE SENSE IT - THEN WE FEEL IT."

Get ready to embark on a musical odyssey with DJ Sharm Pillay, where the beats are not just heard but felt deep within your soul.
