

INTEGRATION MANUAL 2

THE CREATIVE ORGY

DAY TWO

INTEGRATION

IF TODAY FELT CONFRONTING, GOOD

Today wasn't designed to show you how creative you are.

It was designed to show you where your creativity is still trapped.

Many of you are still creating from the identity you're trying to leave.

The wounded one.

The one who needs to prove.

The one who needs to be chosen.

The one who believes they're the problem to solve.

As long as you keep creating from that place, your business will keep rebuilding the same life in different forms.

So don't ask yourself:

“How do I become more successful?”

Ask yourself:

“What do I gain by continuing to believe that something is fundamentally wrong with me?”

Every identity survives
by offering a benefit.

IT PROTECTS.

IT EXCUSES.

IT KEEPS YOU FAMILIAR.

IT KEEPS YOU SMALL.

If you're honest, you'll probably realize that the greatest thing standing between you and your next level isn't strategy.

It's the part of you
that is still emotionally invested in remaining the same person.

This work doesn't end here.
In many ways, it starts here.

If you felt something move today, don't interrupt the process.

This is exactly why I created the next step.

Transformation rarely happens in one conversation.

It happens through sustained exposure to a different way of seeing yourself, your work, and your life.

SACRED OFFER DROPS TOMORROW.

In the meantime, check yourself and ask yourself why you keep eating the same bullshit for breakfast, lunch and dinner instead of using your genius, serving the world and making a

SHIT TON OF MONEY.

BYE.

THE CREATIVE ORGY