

The Founding Family Guide

A private legacy experience for families who want to protect their history while their loved one is still here to share it.

Letters That Last™

Every family has a story worth protecting

There comes a moment when we realize that the voice, memories and wisdom of the people we love will not be here forever. When that day comes, we don't wish for more things, we wish for more time. More conversations. More of their presence.

Letters That Last exists so families never have to lose that.

Through three guided storytelling sessions, by phone or Zoom, we help your loved one share the moments that shaped their life, the lessons that defined them and the memories that your family will carry forward.

From those conversations, we create a premium heirloom package that includes:

- A beautifully printed hardcover legacy book
- A digital audio archive of your loved one's voice
- A keepsake box designed to be passed down for generations

This is not a product. It is a family experience and a gift to the people who will come after us.

What you can expect

Nothing about this process is rushed.

Your loved one will be guided with warmth, patience and care.

Process outline:

Session 1 — Origins

Childhood, early influences, family history, the foundations of identity.

Relationships, callings, milestones, joys and the turning points that shaped their character.

Session 3 — Wisdom & Legacy

Lessons, values, beliefs, messages for future generations and the meaning of a life well lived.

After the sessions

We transcribe and refine their words, preserving their natural voice, rhythms and personality.

You receive:

- A premium hardcover book
- MP3 audio files
- A USB keepsake card
- A private link for digital backup
- A presentation-style keepsake box

You do not need to prepare anything.

We handle every step.

If this feels right for your family

We accept a small number of families per quarter to ensure attention and emotional care. Joining the Founding Family waitlist does not obligate you to begin, it simply saves your place in line and gives you first access when new openings are released.

When your place becomes available, we will contact you privately to:

1. Learn about the loved one you want to honor
2. Discuss timing and the pace that feels right
3. Answer questions and ensure the experience feels safe and supportive

There is no pressure. If the time is not right, your spot can pass to a future round.

Legacy cannot be rushed. When it feels right, we will be here to walk with you.
