Once upon a time, there lived two children.
Their names were Hansel and Gretel.

They lived in a small apartment.

They loved to play outside.
They loved to ride a bike.

They loved to feed the birds.

One Sunday, Mama said,

“Children, let’s go to the city park!”

“Yay!” shouted Hansel.

“Yippee!” cheered Gretel.

They packed a small bag. They brought snacks and juice.

They brought a map.

They held Mama's hand. They walked and walked.

They are happy exploring the park!

The Big Busy Park

The park was full of trees and flowers.
Since it was Sunday, the park was full of people.

But Hansel saw a butterfly. They ran after the butterfly.

They giggled and chased. They skipped and twirled!

But soon, the butterfly flew away.
They looked around. Mama was gone!

Oh no!

We're lost!

They looked this way. They looked that way.
Only trees and trash bins.

How?

Let's find our way back

Like in the story!
But we don't have a bread

We can leave a trail!

"You're right", said Hansel.

They looked around.
They saw plastic bottles.

No, no!
Paper is waste.

We should clean,
not litter.

We can use paper!

Yeah, you're right.

They saw snack wrappers.
They saw cans and cups.

Hansel and Gretel agree to clean the park while looking for their Mama.

This park needs help!

Let's recycle!

They started picking up the trash they can see.

They found a big bag and filled it up with trash.

They sorted the trash.

They filled the bag. They felt proud.

More cup
here!

This one is plastic

This one is can.

“We are Park Helpers!” said Hansel.

“We are Earth Friends!” said Gretel.

“Let’s keep going!”

They walked and cleaned. They picked up more trash.
They sang a happy song.

“We are Park Helpers!” said Hansel.
“We are Earth Friends!” said Gretel.
“Let’s keep going!”

Soon they saw something ahead.
It was a green and sparkly.

It looks like a little house!

Look,
Gretel!

They walked closer to the green house.

They went inside and saw the house was made of bottles.
The roof was made of cans.

The door was made of cardboard.
"A recycling house!" said Hansel

A kind lady came out.
She wore a green hat.
She smiled and said,

“Did you build this?” asked Hansel.
Lady said “No. This is my Recycling Center”
“We clean the park every day!”
“You can help too!”

She called the park office.
“We found two brave helpers” she said

We can't find our Mama.

But we are lost.

“Don't worry,”
said the lady.
“I have a phone.”

They are here in the Recycling Center with me.

They showed her the bag of trash.

Soon, Mama came running.
She hugged them tight.

Hansel!
Gretel!
Where were you?"

Mama!

Gretel explained "We followed a butterfly, then we got lost."

You did?

We sorted
the trash!

But we cleaned
the park!
We picked up bottles and cans

Mama smiled proudly.
“My little recyclers”, she said
“you made the world a better place today!”

Moral of the Story:

Even small hands can help keep our planet clean.
When we recycle, we show love to our Earth and to each other.
