Chio was a happy wooden boy. He loved to play and tell stories.

Gepetto gave him a new gadget. It was a smart nose that could beep!

“When you tell the truth, it shines,” said Gepetto. “When you lie, it beeps!”

Chio giggled. “A beeping nose?
That’s funny!” he said

An illustration of a young girl and a young boy in a classroom. The girl, on the left, has brown hair in pigtails with pink bows and is wearing a red dress with a white collar and a red heart. The boy, on the right, has brown hair and is wearing a yellow baseball cap, a red t-shirt, and blue shorts. He has a wooden texture to his skin, suggesting he is Pinocchio. They are standing in front of blue desks. The background is a red wall with several framed drawings of flowers and trees.

At school, his friends asked, "Did you finish your homework?" Chio said, "Yes!"

Beep!

Beep! Beep! Beep! went his smart nose. "Oh no!"
said Chio. "It caught me!"

Chio felt shy, but his friends smiled.
“It’s okay, Chio. Tell the truth next time.”

He tried again. "I forgot
my homework," he said.
This time, his nose shined
bright!

Chio laughed. "Telling the truth feels good!" His friends cheered, "Hooray for honesty!"

At home, Gepetto smiled. "I'm proud of you, my boy," he said.

Now Chio's nose beeps less and shines more. He is honest, kind, and true!
