

The Princess and the Tablet

In a bright pink castle, Princess Pippa loved her shiny tablet more than anything else!

*She played games, drew pictures,
and even watched unicorn dance videos!*

Every morning, her butler said, “Good morning, Your Highness!”
But Pippa was too busy tapping and swiping to answer.

One day, the royal Wi-Fi went POOF!

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

"Oh no!" gasped Pippa. "How will I play my games?"

The royal engineer tried to fix it. He climbed towers and pressed buttons.

“No signal, Your Highness,” he said.
“You’ll have to wait until tomorrow.”

Pippa sighed. "What will I do without my tablet?"

*Just then, her pet dragon,
Sparkle, peeked in.
“Wanna play tag?” he asked
with a grin.*

“Hmm... okay!” said Pippa.
She ran outside for the first
time in ages!

*They played tag, hide-and-see,
and hop on clouds!*

A colorful illustration of a young princess with long brown hair, wearing a purple and pink gown with a crown on her head. She is sitting on a purple tufted bed with a gold crown on the headboard. She is holding a pink ribbon that is being held by three small white birds wearing crowns. One bird is flying, and two are on the bed. The room has large windows with pink curtains and a pink chair in the background.

*Soon, the royal birds joined in,
chirping happily.*

Then Pippa met the castle gardener, planting rainbow carrots!

She said, "Can I help?" and got her hands a little muddy.

After lunch, Sparkle suggested, “Let’s make our own story!”

Pippa drew castles, clouds, and a dancing unicorn just like her old app!

When she finished, she laughed. "This is more fun than my screen!"

That night, the royal engineer rushed in. "Wi-Fi is back, Princess!"

But Pippa smiled. “Thanks, but I think I’ll play outside first.”

Instead of tapping, she twirled and danced under the moonlight.

Sparkle clapped his wings. "You don't need Wi-Fi to have fun!"

Pippa nodded. "Maybe my tablet can wait until story time."

*Now every morning, Pippa paints, plays, and giggles before screen
time.*

*And when the Wi-Fi goes out again...
She just smiles and says, "Perfect!
More time to play!"*

THE ROYAL ADVENTURES OF PRINCESS PIPPA

