

Orson and the Little Light

By Smiles Preschool

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

O rson the bear cub loved to play all day long. He loved to splash in the stream and climb the big, tall trees.

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

But when the sun went down, Orson felt a little scared. The forest got very dark and full of shadows.

© 2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

He hugged his favorite blanket tight. "I don't like the dark," he whispered to himself. "It's too spooky."

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

Suddenly, a tiny light blinked in front of him. It was a little firefly, glowing with a soft, warm light.

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

"Hello," said the firefly. "My name is Lumina. Why are you so sad?" Orson told her he was afraid of the dark.

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

"The dark isn't spooky," Lumina said with a giggle. "It's just a time for the stars to shine and the moon to wake up."

© 2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

She flew up and down, making little light trails in the air. "Look at me!" she buzzed. "I'm a tiny star just for you!"

©2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

Orson giggled too. He realized the dark wasn't so scary with a friend by his side.
It was full of little lights and quiet sounds.

© 2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

Lumina flew to the top of a mushroom.
"See? The dark is just a different kind of beautiful," she said. Orson nodded.

© 2025 Smiles Preschool. All Rights Reserved.

Smiles Child Care and Preschool

Orson wasn't afraid of the dark anymore. He knew that even when the sun went to sleep, there was always a little light to be found.

Start over