WHY TEXTS DIE

01 | TEXTS DIE WITH NO HANDLE.

Not because they're boring.
Because she has nothing to grab.
A reply with no handle is a full stop.

The dead end:

Jess

iMessage · Today 9:41 PM

Just got back from Chicago. So tired lol

haha nice

You didn't say anything wrong.
You just gave her nothing to grab.

THE FIX

02 | NOTICE. TWIST. TOSS.

Notice one real detail.

Twist it with a bit of you.

Toss her an easy question.

The handle, in three moves:

01 NOTICE

Pick the detail that stands out.

02 TWIST

Add a joke or story of yours.

03 TOSS

End on an easy question.

No script. No perfect line.

Just give it a handle.

WATCH IT WORK

03 | FROM DEAD END TO DATE.

Same text. Same Chicago. Notice. Twist. Toss.
Then a plan.

Chicago! Deep dish or hot dog? Choose carefully.

Deep dish. Obviously. I'd defend it in court.

Respect. I once drove four hours for tacos. Worth it.

Four hours?! Okay, where? I need this.

Saturday at 6, best tacos in town? My pick.

It started with one handle.
It ended with a Saturday.

BONUS 01

FUNNY STARTERS THAT LAND.

Pick one. Make it yours.
Send it and let her play.

Quick, you're in charge of my weekend. What's the plan?

Fair warning: bad at everything, great at snacks.

Two truths and a lie. You go first. I'm suspicious.

What's the most chaotic thing in your camera roll?

You seem like a "five minutes away" person. Am I wrong?

I'm assembling a heist crew. You seem like the brains.
