About the Author

Hi! I'm Sara Becker, DPT (doctorate of physical therapy), Certified Health Coach, Vagus Nerve Guru and Movement Specialist. I pride myself on the nontraditional approach to healthcare as I believe the body and brain are capable of so much more healing than traditional medicine has given it credit for.

My journey into the world of physical therapy began with a deep fascination for the brain and nervous system—the way these intricate networks quietly orchestrate everything we do without our conscious awareness. It was always second nature to me, this understanding of how our bodies move, heal, and adapt. The nervous system just made sense.

Throughout my career, I dedicated myself to neurorehabilitation. I spent countless hours helping patients recover from life-altering events like strokes, traumatic brain injuries (concussions), and spinal cord injuries. These experiences were as challenging as they were rewarding, and they fueled my determination to help people regain not just their movement, but their independence, confidence, and quality of life.

Over time, I began to see a critical connection: true healing wasn't just about addressing muscles and joints—it was about working with the nervous system itself, including the gut. Pain, stress, and dysfunction often have deeper roots in how the brain and body communicate. I realized that by targeting pain at its neurological source, I could help people experience deeper, lasting relief.

This revelation led me to immerse myself in perfecting hands-on techniques like neurokinetic therapy (NKT), vagus nerve regulation, dry needling, and myofascial release. I crafted a practice centered on holistic, root-cause healing that not only reduces pain and dysfunction but helps my clients feel more at ease in their bodies.

About Releaseology

At Releaseology, my mission is simple: to help you uncover the root cause of your pain, stress, or dysfunction—and give you the tools to finally release it. Unlike many traditional clinicians who focus only on the obvious symptoms, I take a deeper, more investigative approach. I look for the overlooked patterns, the hidden dysfunctions, and the subtle compensations that others might miss. This is where true, lasting change begins.

Why Releaseology Is Different

- Root-Cause Focused: I don't just treat where it hurts. I explore the nervous system, movement patterns, and compensations that are often ignored.
- Hands-On Techniques: From neurokinetic therapy and dry needling to cupping and fascial release, every session is tailored to you.
- Rapid Results, Real Change: My goal isn't to keep you coming back forever—it's to help you improve as quickly as possible while still making sustainable, long-term progress.

In-Person or Virtual Options

I offer in-person services in Tempe, Arizona, as well as highly curated virtual services. And here's something you should know about me: I don't do anything halfway.

During COVID, insurance companies required that telehealth sessions be certified as “just as effective” as in-person care. At that time, I refused to offer virtual sessions because the tools I used then were most effective in person. I couldn't, in good conscience, promise the same results virtually. But today? That's different. The virtual services I now provide have been carefully designed and tested to be just as effective and valuable as my in-person care. When you book a virtual session, rest assured—it's because I know it will work.

Why This Matters? Whether you're here in Arizona or connecting with me virtually, you'll get the same level of detail, dedication, and results-driven care. I only offer what I know can help you feel and move better.
