

Intermediate 1 Level Syllabus (CEFR B1)

The Intermediate 1 level develops learners' ability to communicate with precision and impact by guiding them through tasks such as designing persuasive advertising campaigns, writing open letters to expose social problems, creating and responding to everyday messages and narrating real or invented anecdotes. Learners practise explaining how adverts work, identifying their purpose, expressing wishes, complaints and needs, proposing solutions, speaking on the phone or in video calls, taking and leaving messages, showing interest while listening to stories and explaining causes and consequences. Grammar work includes the affirmative and negative imperative with correct placement of reflexive and object pronouns, the presente de subjuntivo with structures like querer/pedir/necesitar, expressions such as deberían and habría que, reported speech, narrative connectors (como, porque, así que, o sea que), and the combined use of past tenses (pretérito perfecto, indefinido, imperfecto, pluscuamperfecto). Vocabulary expands through themes such as advertising, social and administrative issues, message types, travel, tourism and anecdotes, while pronunciation and orthography are refined through work on the tilde diacrítica, spelling patterns and storytelling intonation.

Upon successful completion of the Intermediate 1 level, learners will be able to design a persuasive advertising campaign, give clear instructions using the imperative, describe adverts accurately with appropriate vocabulary, write a persuasive open letter, express demands and needs clearly, propose solutions using accurate and effective Spanish, create and communicate different types of messages in everyday situations, narrate coherent anecdotes, express causes and consequences naturally, and use past tenses with confidence when describing experiences.
