WELCOME TO YOUR GUIDE

You've taken the first step toward a more organised approach to activewear sourcing. Use this guide as a practical checklist when researching suppliers, comparing products and preparing your first order.

IMPORTANT

Supplier information, prices, availability, minimum order quantities and shipping terms can change. Always confirm current details directly with the supplier before sending payment or placing an order.

QUICK-START ROADMAP

01

Define what you want to sell

Choose the activewear styles, sizes, colours and target customer you want to focus on.

02

Compare suppliers- there are four different agents you can use, I have used US fans but each to their own

Review product quality, pricing, minimum orders, communication, production times and shipping options.

03

Confirm order.

Before ordering check you have chosen right size , colour , set, these link gives you the most flexibility you can get

04

Confirm the full order

Get the final unit price, available sizes/colours, shipping cost, estimated dispatch time and payment terms in writing.

05

Start small and learn

Use your first order to test demand and gather customer feedback before scaling your inventory.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION & DISCLAIMER

Supplier Relationship

This guide is an independent sourcing resource and is not the supplier's website, nor am I the supplier, manufacturer, retailer or fulfilment provider of the products referenced in this guide.

Any supplier links provided are intended to help you locate and contact the supplier directly. All purchases, payments, shipping arrangements, product quality, product descriptions, returns, refunds, warranties, delivery times and other transaction matters are handled directly between you and the supplier.

Please conduct your own checks before placing an order or making payment. Supplier information, prices, product availability, minimum order quantities and shipping terms can change at any time.

No Guarantee

I do not guarantee the availability, quality, authenticity, suitability, legality, pricing, profitability, delivery or performance of any products or supplier referenced in this guide.

Any comments, recommendations or experiences included in this guide are provided for general informational purposes and should not be treated as a guarantee of results.

Your Responsibility

You are responsible for carrying out your own due diligence and making your own purchasing decisions. Please review the supplier's current terms, product information, payment methods, shipping arrangements and applicable policies before purchasing.

FINAL REMINDER

Do your own checks before ordering. Verify supplier details, product specifications, costs and shipping terms at the time of purchase. Never send money solely because a supplier appears in a guide—make an informed decision based on current information.
