A practical guide for domestic and international travelers.

01 | START WITH YOUR TRAVEL PLAN

Know your destination, dates, travelers, and budget before comparing bookings.

Before you search for flights or hotels, take a few minutes to define what your trip needs to look like. This makes it easier to compare options that suit your schedule and budget instead of getting distracted by choices that may not work for you.

Your five-point travel brief

- Destination: Where do you want to go? List a backup destination if you're flexible.
- Dates: Record your preferred departure and return dates, plus any alternative dates.
- Travelers: Count everyone traveling and note special needs, children, or older family members.
- Budget: Estimate the amount available for flights, accommodation, meals, activities, and other expenses.
- Purpose: Choose your priorities, such as relaxation, sightseeing, shopping, visiting family, or adventure.

Example: For a family trip from Manila to Cebu, write down the travel dates, passenger count, baggage needs, and total trip budget before choosing a flight.

Your action today: Write down your destination, dates, number of travelers, estimated budget, and top three activities.

02 | CHECK FLIGHTS AND VISA REQUIREMENTS

A flight can look affordable at first, but the full cost and travel requirements matter just as much as the advertised fare. Compare the details before paying, and verify official entry rules for international trips.

Flight comparison checklist

- Departure and arrival airports, dates, and local times.
- Direct flight or connection, layover length, and any airport change.
- Baggage allowance, seat selection, and additional charges.
- Change, cancellation, and other fare conditions.
- Passenger names and details match the travel documents.

Visa and document checks

Visa rules depend on your nationality, destination, purpose of travel, and sometimes your transit route. Check passport validity, entry requirements, and any transit visa rules through official government or embassy sources. Do not assume that a visa-free destination automatically guarantees entry.

Example: If your itinerary includes a connecting flight, check whether you need to pass immigration, collect baggage, change airports, or obtain a transit visa.

Your action today: Compare at least two suitable flight options. Record the total fare, baggage allowance, connection details, and key restrictions.

03 | ORGANIZE HOTELS AND TOUR BOOKINGS

The best hotel is not always the cheapest one. Consider location, transportation access, room capacity, check-in rules, cancellation terms, and how well the accommodation fits your itinerary.

Before reserving a hotel

- Confirm check-in and check-out dates.
- Review the total cost, including applicable taxes and fees.
- Check room type, occupancy, and any stated amenities.
- Understand payment, cancellation, and modification conditions.
- Confirm whether meals, transfers, or other services are included.

Before choosing a tour

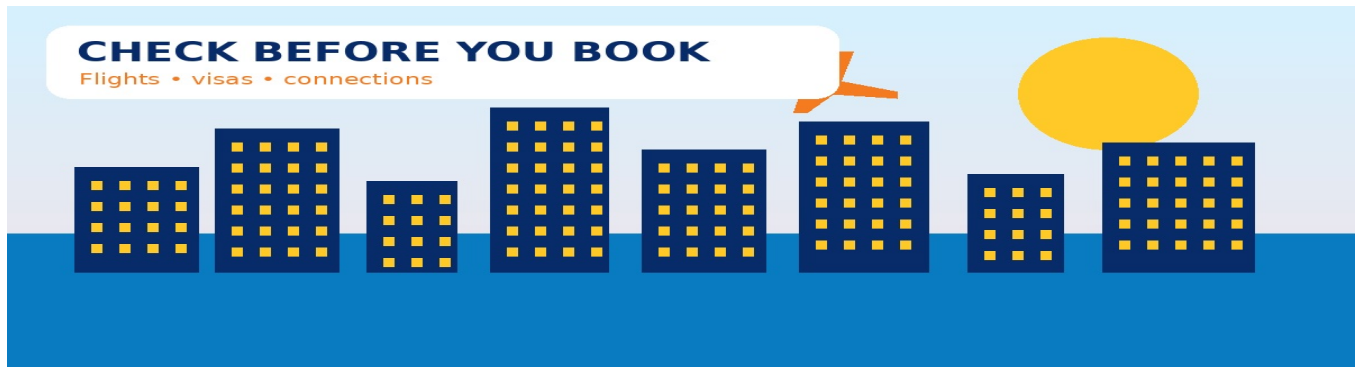

- Review the itinerary, activity schedule, and meeting points.
- Check transportation arrangements and travel time between stops.
- Read the stated inclusions and exclusions.
- Make sure the activity schedule fits your available time.

Example: A hotel farther from attractions may have a lower room rate, but extra transportation costs and travel time can affect your overall budget.

Your action today: List your preferred hotel location, accommodation budget, and three activities you want to experience. Compare them against your itinerary before booking.

04 | YOUR TRAVEL-READY CHECKLIST

Review the details together before confirming your arrangements. Use this checklist to spot missing information and keep your plans organized.
