

Personal Use Licence

The Shared Christmas Plan. Version 2.0, prepared 11 October 2026.

When you purchase the bundle, Bolabode Consulting & Media Ltd grants you a nonexclusive personal licence to use the supplied templates, guide, recovery files and demonstrations for your own household Christmas organisation. You may make working and backup copies for that purpose and use fresh household copies in later years. This does not include an automatic right to future editions or annual updates.

You may invite your chosen family members or household collaborators to use your separate family jobs board for your household's plans. They may edit the shared board for that purpose. You may show them relevant instructions needed to use it. This permission does not allow anyone to redistribute the original product bundle or supply template copies for other households. Keep the private organiser private unless you deliberately choose to share it.

You may adapt your working copies for personal use. Do not resell the product, offer it as a free download, publish it online, upload it to a public template library, redistribute the bundle or substantial parts of it, sublicense it, or use it to provide a commercial planning service without our written permission. Do not remove ownership notices from redistributed material. Nothing here restricts an exception or right that copyright law gives you.

We retain rights in our original product material. Google, fonts and other third party materials remain subject to their owners' rights and applicable terms. This licence does not suggest that Google endorses the product. Your own entries remain yours; purchasing does not give us ownership of family information you enter.

If a full refund ends your purchase and licence, stop using and delete the supplied product copies and ask authorised collaborators to stop using them, except for records you must retain by law. We do not make a statutory refund conditional on invasive access to your account or proof that private files have been deleted. Any dispute about misuse will be handled proportionately and subject to your consumer rights.

Easier with Bee is a trading name of Bolabode Consulting & Media Ltd, registered in England and Wales under company number 16941557. Registered office: 61 Bridge Street, Kington, HR5 3DJ. Contact hello@easierwithbee.co.uk. We aim to give an initial support response within three working days.