Getting Started

- Visit ChatGPT to create or log in to your ChatGPT account.
- Once logged in, open Artist Website Copy GPT (access link below):
- When you open the tool, Artist Website Copy GPT will ask a few short questions to tailor the results to your art, goals, and writing preferences. This onboarding step only takes a minute or two, and helps you get stronger, more relevant content right from the start.

If you are using a paid ChatGPT plan, you can also upload:

- A past About page, CV, artist statement, or article
- Artwork descriptions
- PDFs, documents, or screenshots
- Links to your website, Instagram, or online portfolio

If you are not using a paid plan, simply copy and paste text into the chat manually. Please be aware there are time limits on free plans so you may need a few sessions to get all the copy you need.

How to Get the Best Results

- Be specific – share details about your work, the context of your exhibition, audience, or goals
- Use your natural tone – the tool will reflect your voice more accurately
- Work iteratively – you can ask it to rewrite, edit, shorten or expand or offer alternative versions
- Be clear about what each section is for (e.g. short bio vs homepage intro)
- Copy and paste – transfer outputs into your own docs, Trello boards, or emails as needed
- Stay in the driver's seat – think of this as a support tool or assistant. Be prepared to correct and clarify, and ask it to regenerate. It is not a substitute for your insight

If Things Slow Down

AI can be brilliant, but it occasionally over-promises. If you ever feel it's taking too long or missing the mark, reset the prompt or ask it to simplify. Like any tool, it works best with clarity and good instructions.

If the GPT slows down or seems stuck:

- Break big requests into smaller steps
- Ask for one part at a time (e.g. "Let's do the about page first")
- Use the 'copy to clipboard' function or manually copy text as you go
- Paste the outputs directly into Word, Trello, or Google Docs
