I know your arms feel empty and that your heart is tired. Your desire is very good and is written into your very bones. You long to grow something beautiful and give the gift of yourself to another. This is, and will be, an extraordinary act of love.

Allow the Blessed Mother to embrace you now, so that you might recognize that you are the gift and the world is longing for you just as you are. I know your arms feel empty, but maybe they are quite full with all you are and all you have to give. You are a daughter of God and he doesn't call you "infertile." He calls you by your name.
