Chocolate Fondue

A rich and creamy chocolate sauce paired with fresh fruits, marshmallows, and other sweet treats is a perfect combination of flavours and textures that you can enjoy together.

Choose from apples, pineapples, bananas, wafers, marshmallows, strawberries, pretzels, waffles and rice crispy squares.

Grab chocolate or a Toblerone Bar, liquid whipping cream and a fondue set.

Light the candle, or plug in the fondu pot, add 1 cup chocolate and pour in 1/4 cup whipping cream.

Stir consistently to prevent the chocolate from burning or sticking to the bottom. If it starts to bubble, turn down the heat.

If you don't have a fondue set, use a double boiler with water in the bottom pot. Dip fruit, cookies, marshmallows, etc and enjoy.

Bike Ride

There are so many adventures you can go on together while riding bikes!

Explore nature, visit friends, stop at a park, or go off-roading.

The best part is that being physically active increases endorphins, burns calories and helps your overall well-being.

If you don't have bikes, there are many places in larger communities where you can rent them. You might even want to try a tandem bike

Fill a backpack or bike basket with a blanket, snacks and beverages and plan to stop at a quiet park.

Look for local live entertainment, set up a cozy spot nearby and enjoy the free music.

Let your inner child surface as you pedal around with the wind blowing through your hair.

For me, the last stop would definitely be to stop at an ice cream shop!

At Home Spa

You can transform your home into a spa-like environment with scented candles, soothing music, and fluffy towels.

Start by taking a warm bubble bath together with bath salts and essential oils for an added touch of luxury.

Give each other massages to ease tension, promote relaxation, and create intimacy.

Pamper yourselves with face masks, manicures, and pedicures for a full spa experience.

The best part is you can customize the experience to your preferences and spend as much time as you like on each activity.

After, put on a plush robe, turn on your favourite playlist, pour a glass of bubbly, light the candles and relax.

Pick-A-Pot

Hosting a potluck is a fun and easy way to bring friends and family together for a casual and enjoyable evening.

It's a chance for everyone to contribute their favourite dishes and share their culinary talents with each other.

It's also a great way to try new foods and expand your palate, as everyone brings a dish that reflects their unique cultural background or personal taste.

Plus, it's a great opportunity to socialize and catch up with friends and family, without the pressure of having to do all the cooking yourself.

With everyone contributing to the meal, you can also enjoy a wide variety of dishes and flavours, making it a delicious and diverse experience.

Couples Cookies

I'm going to give you one of my favorite cookie recipes!

1 Cup - Margarine (softened)
1 Cup - Brown Sugar
2 - Large Eggs
1 TSP - Vanilla
2 1/4 Cups - All-purpose Flour
1 TSP - Baking Soda
1 (4 serving size) - Instant Vanilla Pudding Powder
2 Cups - Semisweet Chocolate Chips

In a bowl, mix together soft margarine & brown sugar. Beat eggs, 1 at a time, and add vanilla. Mix these together.

Add flour, baking soda & pudding mix. Mix Add chocolate chips, and mix into the dough. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto an un-greased baking sheet. Bake in 350 F (175 C) oven for 10-12 mins

Do not overbake as cookies will continue to bake for a few more minutes after being removed from the oven.
Once these are cool, you could put some softened ice cream between them, re-freeze and eat them as an ice cream sandwich.

Journey of the Mind

We have incredible imaginations yet we turn to TV to stimulate our minds.

Reading to one another can be enlightening as well as seductive if you allow it to be.

Whether it's Shakespeare or Harry Potter, there's something out there for everyone.

Take turns reading out loud, a book, past uplifting journal entries, scripture, or even a magazine.

You could end each chapter/section by discussing what it meant to you.

If you want to spice things up, you could read a romance novel or love letters you've written to one another.

If you'd prefer not to read out loud, play an audiobook.

Strawberry U-Pick

Have you ever picked fresh raspberries or strawberries?

Every community has their own version of fresh fruit picking.

Strawberries, raspberries, peaches, grapes, apples, oranges and pineapples.

Hop in your car and head to a local farm that offers a "Pick Your Own" option.

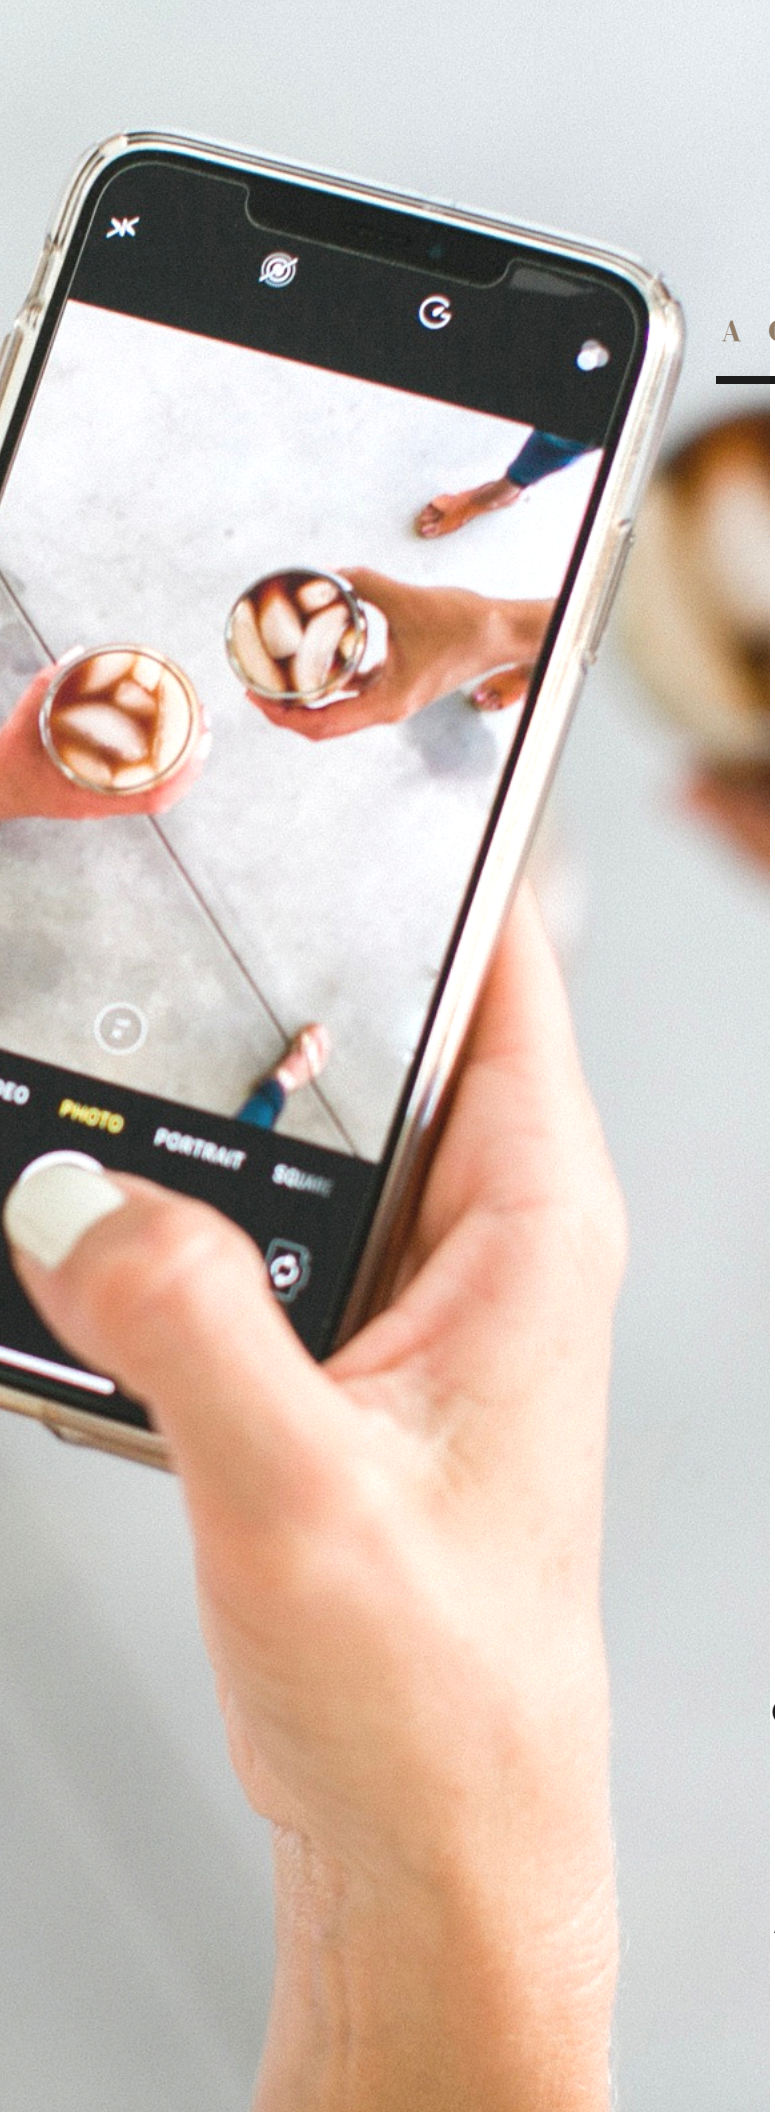

You'll have to pay per basket but you'll love the satisfaction of picking your own ripe fruit.

Then head home and make something with your pickings.

Apple pie? Strawberry jam? Peach cobbler? Or simply put raspberries in a bowl with a little cream & sugar.

Make sure to check the weather before heading out.
If it's going to be hot outside, go earlier in the morning so you're done picking by noon.

Photo Shoot

Why not spend time capturing the things you most love about one another?

You'll need a smartphone or camera.

Optional supplies such as a tripod, selfie stick, food, umbrellas, and pets can add a fun dynamic to the photos.

Find 2-3 destinations around your community, set up your smartphone or camera with a timer or video and take some fun photos together.

If using an iPhone video to pull pictures from, make sure the setting is at least at 4k at 30fps.

The sun should always be behind the camera.

Cloudy weather makes for better photos or you can wait until the sun goes behind the clouds.

After, select your favourite photos together and get them printed out, use them as your screen saver or post them.

Plant a Seed

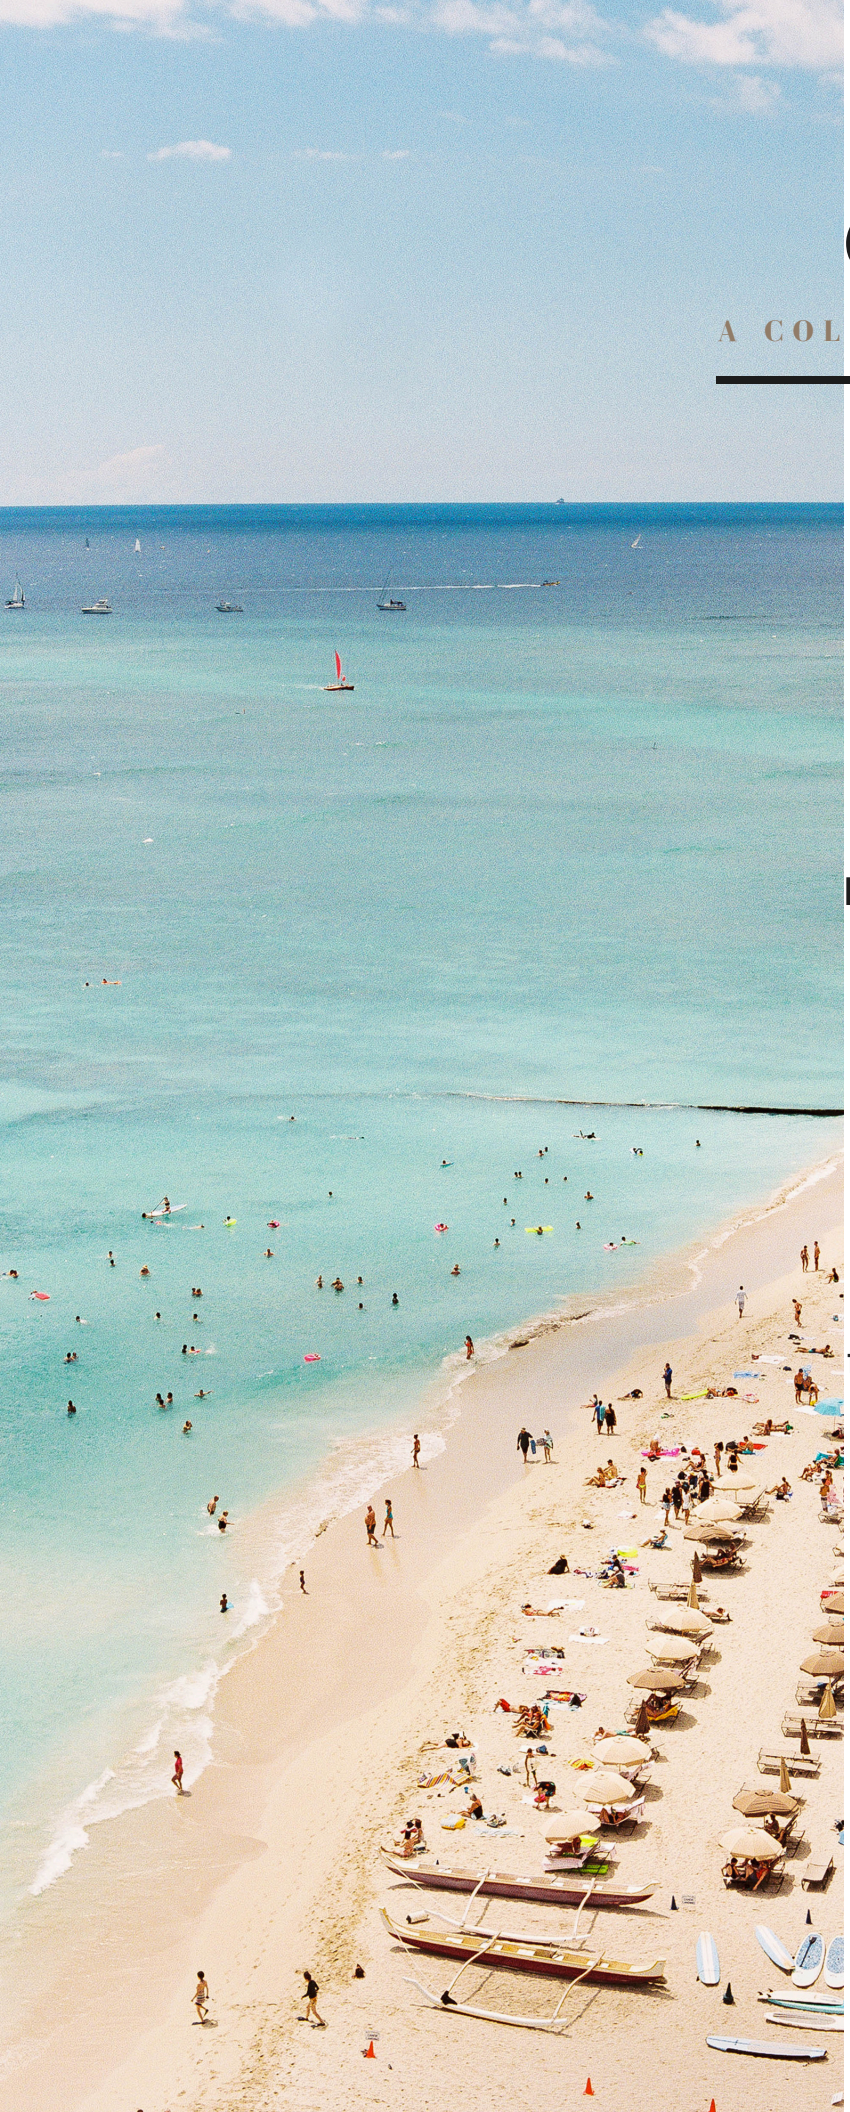

Planting a seed is a wonderful way to nurture your love. To get started, all you'll need are a few pots, some soil, and either baby plants or seeds. While gloves, water, and plant food can also be helpful, they're not essential.

The act of planting something together is both beautiful and symbolic. Consider selecting a few of your favourite plants and discussing what they mean to you.

You might choose a flowering plant and plan an event around the day it blooms, or perhaps a vine that represents the growth of a child as it climbs up a bamboo shoot.

To set up your planting station, make sure to protect any surfaces that could be damaged by soil. If you're indoors, lay down newspaper or towels. Add a small amount of soil to each pot, and carefully transplant the baby plant. If you're planting seeds, fill the pot with soil about three-quarters of the way, sprinkle the seeds as directed on the back of the seed pouch, cover gently with soil, and lightly water.

Life's a Beach

Pack your swimsuits and head to the beach for a fun relaxing day in the sun

Bring your swimsuits, towels, sunscreen, sandals, umbrella hat, drinks, snacks, book, portable speaker for music, phone charger for music, blanket, frisbee or something to play catch with.

If you live near the ocean, this is a common day activity but for most people, this is a day or weekend trip.

If you're bringing a pet, choose a pet-friendly beach or find a quiet place away from small children.

Make sure your pet has a place to sit out of the sun

This is a great option for couples, or with family and friends.

Now, relax and reconnect with one another as well as with mother nature

Coffee Break

With busy schedules, it's hard to make time for date night so a Java break is a great way to connect and keep going.

These dates are useful for couples who can't seem to find time to plan an evening to spend with one another.

Maybe one works long hours, or kids' schedules get in the way, whatever the circumstances, there's always time for a quick coffee break.

We know how busy life gets so plan a date and commit to it.

Perhaps it's 6:00 AM on your way to work or a 3:00 PM break. The time doesn't matter. What matters is that you're making time to connect.

When we take time for one another, we feel more connected and refuelled to take on the rest of the day and week.

Destination Unknown

All you'll need is a vehicle, a full tank of gas, and a couple of hours.

Most of the time, our day-to-day lives are planned out for us.

The time we eat, start work, leave work, pick up kids, do activities, etc.

This date night is about letting go of a planned schedule.

Pick a destination within 3 hours of home, pack snacks, prepare a playlist, hit the road and relax.

Now it's time to connect, reminisce about destinations you've been in the past, or plan future destinations.

Stop at roadside fruit vendors, take pictures in sunflower fields, or stop for lunch on the way.

Appreciate the journey to and from while you create memories.

Games Night

Board games offer a unique and entertaining way to spend quality time together.

Unlike going to the movies or out to dinner, playing board games allows for interaction and communication, which can help couples, and families, build stronger relationships.

They also provide an opportunity to be competitive, which can add some excitement and laughter to the evening.

Plus, board games are a relatively inexpensive option, making them an ideal choice for couples looking to have a fun night out without breaking the bank.

Birds in Paradise

Going to the park to feed the birds is a great date night idea because it allows couples to enjoy the beauty of nature while doing something meaningful together.

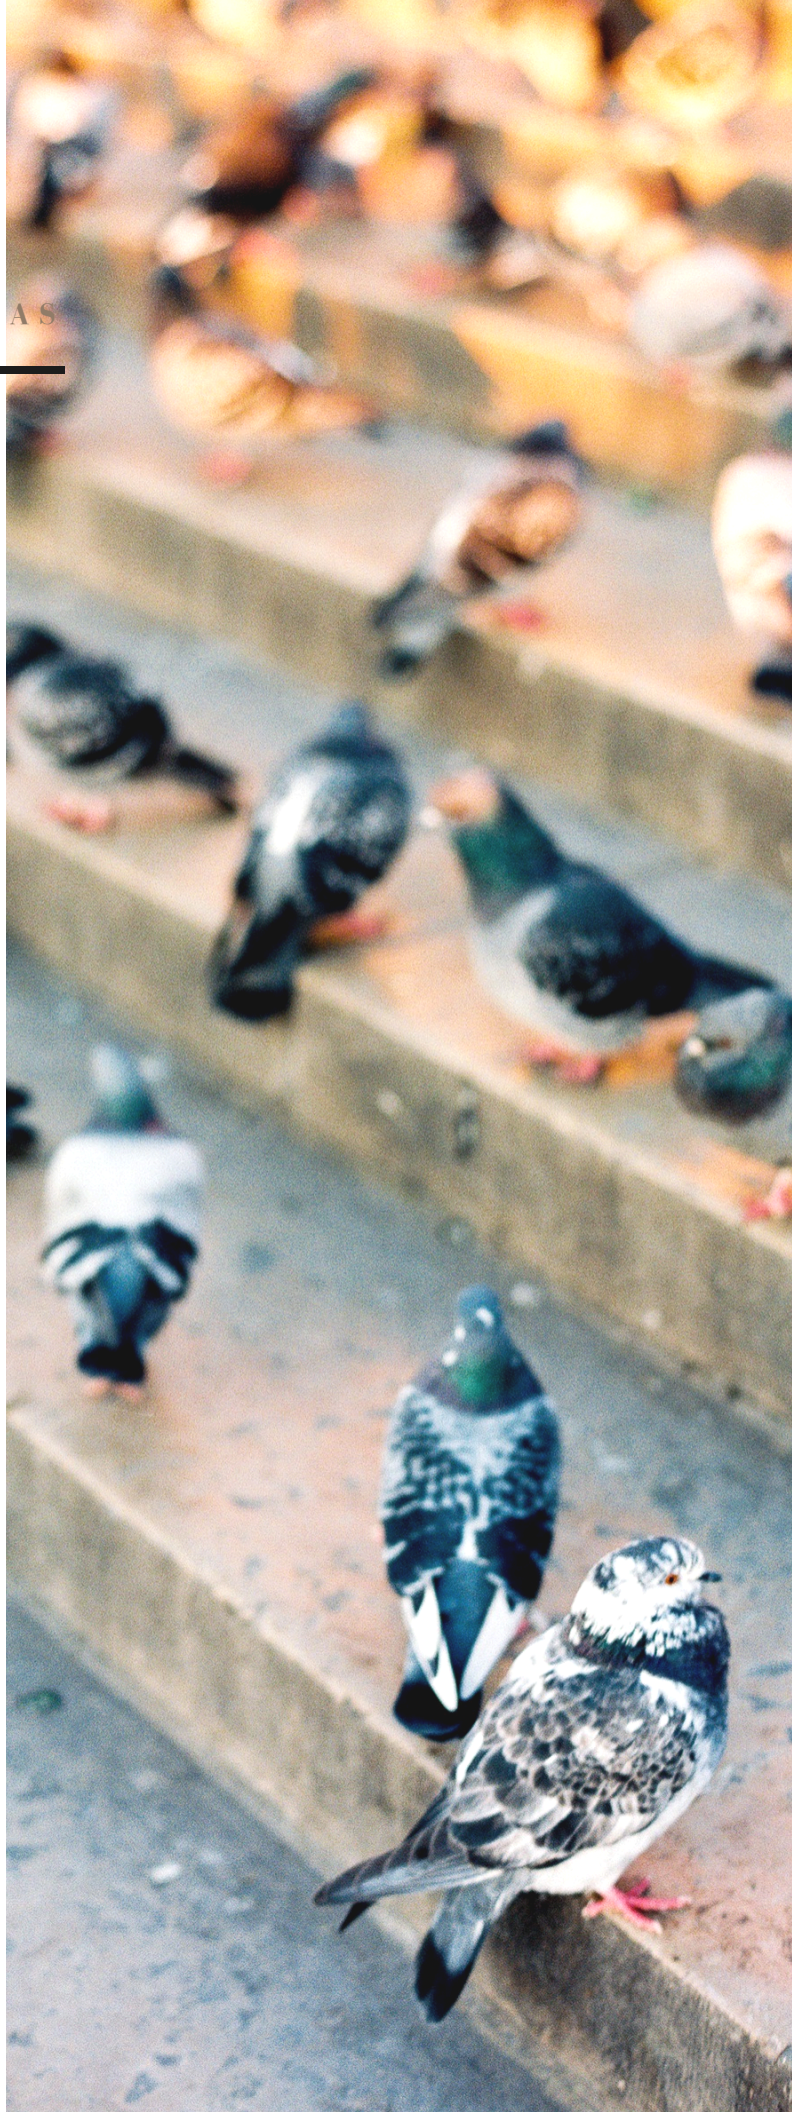

Feeding the birds can be a calming and peaceful activity, and it offers a chance for couples to connect with each other as well as with the natural world.

Sharing this experience can create a sense of intimacy and bring couples closer together.

Additionally, feeding the birds is a simple act of kindness that can bring joy to both the birds and the humans involved.

It's also an inexpensive date idea that doesn't require a lot of planning or preparation.

This is also great for a family date night.

Zoo Life

While we don't like animal captivity, I do appreciate that I've been able to see rare animals up close!

This is a personal decision and should be agreed upon between both parties.

If you are in agreement, the zoo can be a place where you can take in the beauty of God's creatures.

We usually think of this destination as a children's outing but I couldn't disagree more!

Walk around, hold hands, and absorb the uniqueness of each creature.

Listen to the songs the birds sing, allow the butterflies to flutter and land on your shoulder, and watch the fish and polar bear gracefully swim through the water while holding hands with the one you love.

Spin on a Classic

So you've decided on a classic dinner date at a restaurant.

Here are a few things you could try to make it a more unique experience.

- try ordering for one another
- order everything to share instead of individual meals
- pick random menu items by closing your eyes and pointing
- order whatever your server recommends
- order something that matches the colours you're wearing
- order one of every dessert on the menu
- sit beside each other instead of across, holding hands and people watch
- give one another new names and pretend you're a new couple
- imagine this is your first date and act it out right from introductions
- get fancy, dress up, hire a driver and splurge

Try changing up your routine of going to the same place, eating the same food and talking about the same topics. This leads to boredom and no one wants that!

Dig out those old clothes from the back of your closet and get ready to relive that first date experience.

You'll have fun reminiscing about the memories you've shared, while also adding new elements to the date.

This is the perfect way to spice up your date night and add some excitement to your relationship.

Outdoor Movie

Transform a routine movie night into a magical outdoor cinema experience. Start by selecting a classic film or a favorite you both have been longing to see.

Pack a cozy blanket, some plush pillows, and your go-to movie snacks—popcorn, candies, and maybe even a thermos of your favorite beverage.

Choose a location with a large, flat surface —your backyard, a park, or even a spacious balcony.

Set up a projector and a white screen (a large white sheet will do the trick), creating your very own open-air theater.

As the sun sets and the stars emerge, hit play on the movie and let the cinematic adventure unfold.

Snuggle under the blanket, share laughs, and enjoy the shared experience of watching a film under the night sky.

Don't forget to capture the moment with a cozy selfie under the twinkling stars!

Waterside Reset

Spend an evening by the water—whether it's a lake, ocean, or quiet pond—and let nature help you reconnect and reset your relationship. Bring a cozy blanket, warm drinks, and find a peaceful spot to sit side by side, soaking in the stillness and beauty around you.

As you watch the water move, talk about what you're ready to release—old arguments, lingering resentment, or emotional weight that's been hard to carry. Let the water become a symbol of renewal, washing away what no longer serves your marriage and making space for healing, grace, and fresh connection.

You can even write down a few things you want to let go of and tear them up or toss them (safely) into the water. Take a slow walk together afterward, holding hands and focusing on how far you've come and the hope of what's ahead.

This quiet, meaningful date is all about choosing each other again, letting go of the past, and inviting peace back into your relationship, one gentle wave at a time.
