What's your story?

Tips For Writing Your Grant Letters

- ✔ Be Authentic: Write as if you're talking to a friend. Don't try to sound too formal — your personality is your strength.
- ✔ Use Emotion: Help funders feel your passion by sharing meaningful moments in your journey.
- ✔ Add Visual Language: Paint a picture with your words. Instead of saying “I struggled to get clients,” try “I spent hours knocking on doors, handing out flyers, and following up with no response.”
- ✔ Keep It Clear and Concise: Focus on the most powerful parts of your story — funders don't need every detail, just the moments that matter most.
- ✔ End on a High Note: Show confidence, positivity, and excitement about the impact your business will create with their support.

Letter of Support Template Example

Dear [Recipient's Name],

I write this letter to express my full support for [Business Name] and their very significant initiative, the EmpowerHER Digital Skills Training Program. As a [Your Role/Title] at [Your Organization's Name], I have observed the great works of [Business Name] firsthand as far as empowering women entrepreneurs is concerned.

The EmpowerHER Digital Skills Training Program will fill an important gap in resource access for underserved women by equipping them with a broad spectrum of fundamental digital marketing skills to help them launch and run their businesses. The program also offers mentorship, practical training, and access to key resources while ensuring the development of skills to its participants.

For the last year, I have seen [Business Name] make, for example, the most intensive claims as albeit a 40% increase in revenue for program graduates over the six months after graduation. Their resolve to empower women entrepreneurs for creating an economy continues to give lasting and real impact in this community.

The grant that you would provide would greatly enhance the reach of this program to many more women who can gain access to these resources. Your grant would help [Business Name] train, equip, and prepare 100 women entrepreneurs to achieve successful and sustainable growth in their enterprises.

I strongly recommend that you consider this financing request - this initiative, I believe, has the potential to generate truly meaningful economic growth for women-owned businesses and the community in toto. I am sure that investment in [Business Name] will bring considerable returns and empower women entrepreneurs for generations to come.
