BIO

Dr. Unnatti Jain is a dynamic keynote speaker, TEDx speaker, and author who inspires audiences across organizations, schools, and universities. With decades of experience, she empowers individuals and teams to embrace personal growth, leadership development, and navigate generational differences. Her work with teens, parents, and professionals offers valuable insights into behavior and intergenerational dynamics, fostering connection, growth, and success.

As a mother, business owner, and active Rotarian, Dr. Jain brings a unique, purpose-driven perspective to her speaking engagements. She helps parents deepen connections with their children, guides educators in engaging diverse student populations, and supports organizations in building collaborative, multi-generational workforces. Through her engaging talks, she motivates communities to bridge generational divides and create environments rooted in understanding and transformation.
