

Thank you!

Dear planner enthusiast,

Thank you for being a customer. I am still endlessly grateful for every new order I get. I want you to know that in my shop you're in a place where your voice is heard and your thoughts are valued. If you'd like to share some, you're more than welcome to.

I know you have a lot on your shoulders and you're juggling quite a bit, so without further ado, here's your Planner Spreadsheet (click on the rectangle, it's a link):

Annual Planner Spreadsheet

I truly and entirely enjoy the process of creating and often times picture my potential customers using the end product wondering how they feel about it.

I have put a lot of work into this spreadsheet, some late nights and my whole heart.

It would mean the world to me to hear if you're as excited about it as I am.

Thank you for choosing my shop. I hope this tool helps you stay organized and efficient in managing your time.

Digitally yours,

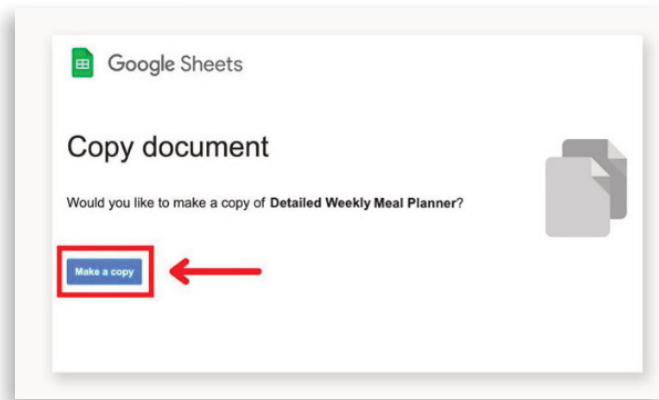

P.S.: On the next page you'll find instructions on how to open your copy

Instructions

To open the link, you need a Google account and be signed in. When you click on the link, you'll be greeted with a message - click on "make a copy"

Now you can start working in your spreadsheet. Please note, that you can edit anything you'd like. However, be careful, as some of the cells contain pretty complicated functions that, upon deleting, would disable some operations and calculations. For this reason you might see a pop up window with a warning. You can still edit the cell if you wish so. You can always go back to this document and save a new copy if you would like a fresh start.

Everything you need to know is safely stored here (bottom left corner of the spreadsheet)

I create digital products with the hope they will cheer up, help and improve people's lives. You know the process of creating is done when it matches some kind of resonance. I hope I can transfer that over to you through this product. I'd be more than excited if it somehow improved your life, even by an inch.

I wish you the best of luck on your journey, whatever it is.

If you need anything from me, do not hesitate to send me a message at herstorydigital@terezamedina.com, I'll go above and beyond to help the best way I can.
