

Where faith meets real-life transformation

HOW TO PRAY FOR Your Prodigal!

A photograph of a young girl with reddish-brown hair, wearing a grey sweater, with her hands clasped together in a prayerful gesture. The image is overlaid with a dark, semi-transparent layer.

3 Power Prayer
Keys To Bring Your Children to Jesus!

Discovering God's Blueprint For Life

3 Power Prayer Keys To Bring Your Children to Jesus

If you have a loved one be it, a child, a husband, or a wife who has lost their way and is not serving the Lord, this report is a must for you.

I see broken-hearted families all the time who are praying for their adult children. In many cases, these adult children have mental disorders schizophrenia, bipolar, and drug addictions.

It breaks a parent's heart to see this happen. In this report, I cover, three ways that you can pray for your lost loved one. Each of the three keys will unlock God's promise to you.

I also have provided 3 examples of ways you can pray that will get results.

Nothing hurts more than seeing our children make decisions that you know are not good for them. In my audio on this topic, I talked about the movie Beautiful Boy which told the story of a Father's heartbreaking and inspiring experience of survival, relapse, and recovery in a family coping with addiction over many years.

What stood out to me was the many childhood memories of watching his son grow up. And then the unexpected bad decisions of a high school student.

Believe me, I know what it feels like as Father raising my children.

I can still remember, laying my hands on my daughter as she slept, praying that she would come to experience God at a young age. I was a pastor at the time who had my own story of struggles growing up in a Christian home.

We can speculate on all of the wrong decisions that were made but each parent for the most part is doing the best they knew how at that moment.

Was I too strict, was I too soft?

I don't think there is always just one answer and we need as parents to let go of these thoughts of self-blame.

As for our personal story, I can see the enemy of religion was at work. Now, I'm not talking about the pure and undefiled religion talked about by James in his letter to the church which was the visit orphans and widows.

I'm talking about the zealous trap that we get caught up in that is what some call performance-based religion. This may not have been an issue with you but I believe it is sometimes the hidden monster that lurks behind the door.

Take for instance our firstborn son. He was heavily involved in a church where the pastor related well with the youth. The pastor's enthusiasm kept those youth busy, in preaching sessions that were more law-based than grace. Lengthy prayer meetings that emphasized dedication, remorse, and repentance more re-dedication.

This can have devastating effects.

Our son decided that this was too much and instead of relating to the open arms of a God who loved him unconditionally, he decided that God was too judgmental to trust in.

We accepted him and loved him where he was at and yes there were times we groaned under the weight of destructive choices he was making for himself.

It wasn't until years later he found his way back to Jesus and now has three lovely children of his own.

We never stopped praying for him all during that time and knew that as God had promised, if we raised a child in the way he should go and when he is old he would not depart from it. (Prov. 22:6)

THE FOLLOWING 3 PRAYER POWER KEYS START WITH UNDERSTANDING THE FOLLOWING VERSE OF SCRIPTURE.

Then He said to His disciples, "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Therefore, pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest."

Matthew 9:37-38

1. Heavenly Father I ask you, the Lord of the harvest, that you would send laborers to _____. People who will speak a right word in due season that will reach, _____.
2. I Speak to the spiritual forces that are at work within _____. In the name of Jesus, I render the power and spirit of _____ (addiction, rebellion) off their life.

I command and break off the spirit that is at work within all co-dependent relationships around _____, who are enabling my _____ (son, daughter) in co-dependency.

3. Holy Spirit you are always at work and I ask that you continue to speak to laborers to step into the life of _____ that will speak the truth by any and all means possible regarding their true identity in Christ.

If this guide stirred something in you...

Many parents are doing everything they know how to do—and still feel worn down. Not because they don't care enough, but because they've taken on a weight that was never meant to be carried alone.

Build Bridges, Not Walls

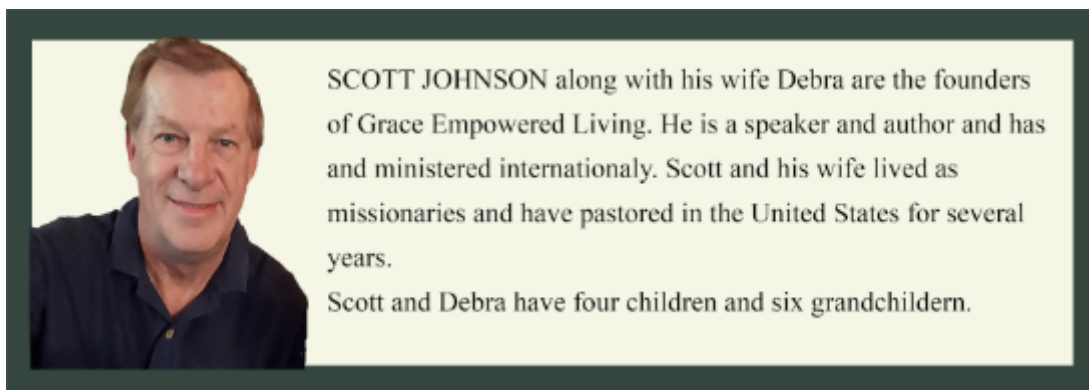

There is a way to stay deeply connected to your child's heart without living in a constant state of fear, control, or self-blame.

If you were given this guide by a friend and would like to find more clarity about your own journey, we've created a short, private quiz. It helps you understand how your love responds under pressure—and how to find solid ground again.

Take the Parenting Style Quiz

Discover how your heart has adapted—and what it needs now to find rest.

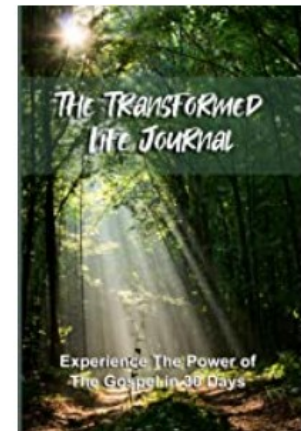

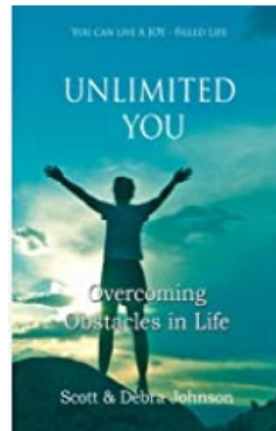

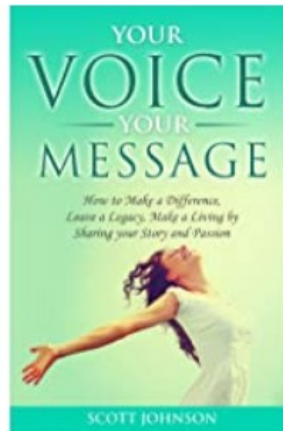

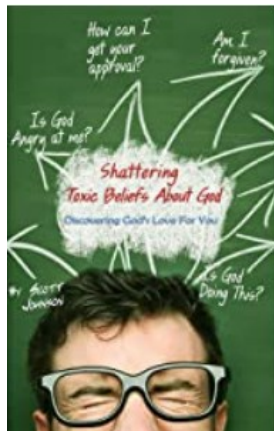

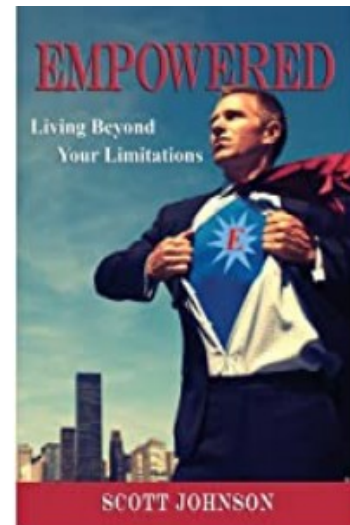

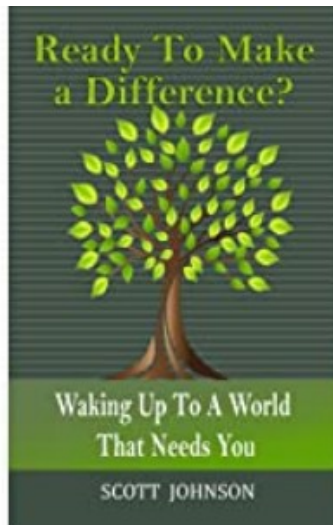

Visit: <https://www.GraceEmpoweredLiving.com/quiz>

RESOURCES

Join GraceOnFire Facebook Page: www.facebook.com/groups/graceonfire

Pick up a copy of one of Scott's books: www.amazon.com/kindle-dbs/entity/author/B003TOMQ8S?

THE CALL

Stop striving.
Start living from who you already are.

GraceOnFire.net