

Temi Ayodeji

ENVIRONMENTAL WELLNESS EXPERT | KEYNOTE SPEAKER

The environments people work in are shaping how they perform. Temi helps healthcare organizations and leadership teams see the influence almost nobody is measuring: the visual environment their people are exposed to every day, and what it is quietly doing to focus, communication, and performance.

The Burnout No One Is Measuring

Why It Is Quietly Affecting Performance, Decision-Making, and Retention

This research-informed keynote challenges the assumption that workplace stress begins and ends with workload, resilience, or mindset. It exposes the variable most organizations have never measured: what their people are exposed to every day. Audiences leave with a new lens for identifying misattributed performance barriers and practical questions leaders can begin asking immediately.
