What society teaches us...

Society often conditions us to perceive money solely in terms of hourly wages: 40 hours a week at $15 equates to $800.

However, shifting our perspective to focus on the potential of sales can be transformative. Instead of fixating on limited hours worked, envisioning income as the result of successful transactions reframes our understanding.

For instance, generating 100 sales at $50 per order amounts to $5,000—an illustration of the boundless potential inherent in entrepreneurship.

Unlike the finite hours available for work, the capacity for sales in a business knows no limits.

This mindset shift encourages us to prioritize building scalable revenue streams and leveraging the power of sales to unlock greater financial freedom and opportunity.

What You'll Learn:

DIGITAL ENTREPRENEURIALISM:

In these lessons, you'll discover how to create effective sales funnels using Systeme io, learning steps from setting up an account to finalizing order pages. Additionally, you'll explore the creation and customization of online stores on platforms like StanStore, focusing on payment processing and optional features such as visual templates and payment plans. The course covers branding strategies, highlighting brand identity, storytelling, audience targeting, and the difference between awkward and high-quality content. Launching strategies guide you through audience preparation, content creation, captioning, and agenda planning, with an emphasis on a well-edited launch video. Overall, the course covers various aspects of online business, including content creation, marketing, branding, operational efficiency, and sales techniques.

SOCIAL MEDIA & BRANDING:

In the Instagram and TikTok sections of the UBC course, you'll gain a thorough understanding of effective social media strategies. The Instagram part covers essential elements like finding your niche, defining your target audience, optimizing your Instagram BIO and HIGHLIGHTS, and using various post types, including Instagram Stories. You'll also learn the importance of regular posting, tips for going live, and using REELS for better visibility. The TikTok segment provides insights into creating engaging videos, understanding trends, and mastering editing tools. Additionally, the Content Creation module offers techniques for standing out, covering various platforms and providing guidance on tasks like background removal, content batching, and using accessories to enhance your content. The Beginner Instagram Reels module specifically guides you on optimizing Reels for visibility, engagement, and effective captioning. Overall, these modules present a comprehensive approach to using Instagram and TikTok for successful content creation and audience engagement.

VIDEO EDITING & CONTENT CREATION:

In the UBC course's video editing modules, you'll learn to use editing tools like VLLO and CapCut. Starting with VLLO, you'll be introduced to the app and discover how to upload, split, and adjust videos, add voiceovers, and include overlays. The CapCut section covers techniques such as uploading videos, adding audio, captions, text, photos, glitches, and effects, utilizing features like the Auto Velocity effect and Curve Speed Feature. Practical insights are provided on editing the UBC Launch Video, using Canva and CapCut templates. The course then guides you through creating value videos, emphasizing their importance and covering topics like finding ideas, filming, and editing with cuts, glitches, sound, and captions in both VLLO and CapCut. The "How to Succeed in MRR" module offers a guide to content creation, daily posting strategies, troubleshooting sales issues, and includes a checklist for success. The course also explores faceless marketing, detailing its significance, three types of faceless accounts, content creation tips, and mindset considerations. The Beauty Business Branding module covers crafting an engaging Instagram BIO, defining content pillars, creating various content types, using tools like Facetune and CapCut for editing, and tips for launching, growing clientele, and establishing a brand identity.

MARKETING & BUSINESS PRACTICES:

Explore key aspects of running a successful online business through these modules. The FloDesk E-mail Marketing section covers email basics, introducing the platform, navigating, and creating automated emails. Attraction Marketing focuses on various post types to engage your audience with an emphasis on personality, community, value, entertainment, and credibility. The "How to Be Efficient" module offers practical tips like using the Boards App, text replacements, batching content, and scheduling Instagram posts. Staying organized involves content strategy, tools like Google Calendar, Calendly, and integrating Zoom for scheduling. The mindset module stresses overcoming challenges, fostering a growth mindset, practicing patience, time management, and avoiding comparisons. The "Selling Online" section introduces selling approaches, storytelling, and showcasing success. The "Daily Method of Operations" module emphasizes community engagement and strategies using location and hashtags. Creating an affiliate program covers how it works, setting up resources, and automating. Finally, the course teaches using Chat GPT for creating captions and enhancing content creation.

What You'll Learn:

Understanding Master Resell Rights

In the world of digital content and online business, you may have come across "Master Resell Rights" or "MRR." But what exactly are they, and how can they enhance your use of digital products? Let's explore. In this article, we'll demystify Master Resell Rights, explain what they entail, and demonstrate how they can significantly enhance your online business. Get ready for products that streamline your workflow!

Understanding Master Resell Rights (MRR)

In the ever-evolving realm of online content and commerce, you may have encountered "Master Resell Rights" or "MRR." This page seeks to explain the significance of these terms and how they can enhance your online enterprise.

The Essential Elements Of Master Resell Rights

To understand MRR more comprehensively, let's break down its key components:

Resell Rights:

This feature grants you the authority to sell the digital product to individual users for their personal consumption. Upon acquiring a product with resell rights, you gain the freedom to set the price and retain all earnings generated from these sales.

Private Label Rights (PLR):

Occasionally, you might come across products with Private Label Rights (PLR). These rights provide substantial flexibility, allowing you not only to resell the product but also to rebrand it, tweak its content, and even claim ownership. This empowers you to create a unique product using the original material. Personally, I leverage PLR for various digital offerings like ebooks, digital planners, printables, and digital journals.

Master Resell Rights (MRR):

Master Resell Rights take it a step further by allowing you to not only sell the product to end-users but also empower them with the same resell rights. This means your customers can, in turn, sell the product to others, creating a chain of resellers. This broadens the earning potential as your customers become resellers themselves. Personally, I've purchased a course with Master Resell Rights, granting me ownership of the course and the ability to sell it for 100% profit.

IS THIS FOR YOU?

Just like any business, building and growing your online presence through the course requires dedication and patience. It's important to remember that success doesn't happen overnight. The strategies and techniques you'll learn are valuable tools, but they need time to deliver results.

Consistency is key—by consistently applying what you learn and staying committed to your goals, you'll gradually see your efforts pay off. It's a journey that may have its ups and downs, but with perseverance and determination, you'll be able to create a successful online business that brings you fulfillment and financial rewards.

THIS IS FOR YOU IF...

- you're exhausted from living paycheck to paycheck
- you're prepared to invest in your future
- you desire more quality time with your family
- you're weary of struggling and feeling stagnant
- you're eager to break free from the 9-5 routine
- you want to launch your own online business
- you want to expand your business using digital products

THIS IS NOT FOR YOU IF...

- you're not willing to put in the work
- you don't want to put aside 2-4 hours a day
- you're not willing to learn
- you're looking for a get-rich-quick scheme

Newly added module October 20!

BUSINESS EXPANSION

The Business Expansion Module: Outsourcing for Growth equips you with the tools to scale your business efficiently by focusing on the power of delegation. We start by addressing one of the biggest pitfalls in entrepreneurship—trying to do it all.

You'll discover the importance of relinquishing control and delegating the right tasks to others, starting with your personal life and working up to your business operations. We'll break down the process of hiring virtual assistants, personal assistants, and specialists for key areas such as copywriting, video editing, DM closers, and content creation. Each section is created to help you take small but significant steps towards building a team that supports your business growth.

In addition to practical outsourcing tips, this module covers how to prevent burnout while scaling, and what to do if you're already experiencing it. You'll learn actionable strategies for recovering from burnout and how to maintain momentum with smart pivots.

We'll guide you on how to stay on top of your game, adapt to new challenges, and safeguard your business from collapsing under the pressure of growth. With this module, you'll be equipped to build a thriving, balanced business that doesn't rely on you doing everything!

Mastering Memberships

Newly added module October 20!

In this module, you'll dive deep into the ins and outs of creating and managing a successful membership program. We begin with a solid foundation by helping you understand what memberships are and why they can be powerful for generating consistent income. You'll get an introduction to the different types of memberships, and more importantly, when not to start one—because memberships aren't for everyone.

From there, we'll tackle one of the most critical aspects: Pricing Your Membership, ensuring that your rates align with the value you're providing while staying attractive to your target audience. You'll explore various Membership Models, discovering which one suits your business goals best.

We'll also cover the Types of Memberships you can offer, giving you a broad view of possibilities, whether you're in digital products, services, or content creation. Branding and marketing play a huge role in the success of your membership, so this module includes strategies for Branding & Marketing Your Membership to attract and keep the right audience.

Finally, we'll go over how to Scale Your Membership as your community grows, and what it takes to retain your members long-term. You'll learn proven tactics for Retaining Your Membership, so you don't just gain members but also keep them engaged and happy. With this module, you'll be fully equipped to create a thriving membership program that grows sustainably.
