7 title formulas that get clicks + the one AI prompt that writes your whole script

(This is your free giveaway. Offer it in every video — "free link in the description, no email needed" or behind an email opt-in — to pull viewers toward the full Faceless AI Content Machine.)

You don't need a face, a camera, or editing skills to start a YouTube channel. You need two things most beginners get wrong: a title people click and a script you don't write by hand. Here's both — free.

7 title formulas that get the click

Fill in the blanks. Keyword first, curiosity second, never give away the ending. Keep it under 70 characters.

1. I [did a bold thing] and [surprising result] → I Gave an AI $100 and Told It to Make Money
2. [N] [things] That [payoff] While You Sleep → 7 Automations That Make Money While You Sleep
3. This [free thing] Replaces [expensive thing] → This Free Tool Replaces a $5,000/Mo Employee
4. After [time], [authority] Finally Proved [shocking thing]
5. How I [result] With [method] (Full Build)
6. The [topic] Side Hustle Nobody Is Talking About
7. [Subject] Can [shocking ability] Now — Here's the Exact Setup

Thumbnail in one line: 2–4 words max, ONE word in red, heavy black outline, over an image that's shocking on its own — and don't bury the subject behind the text.

The prompt that writes your script

Paste this into ChatGPT or Claude, fill the brackets, and you'll get a publish-ready faceless script:

```
You are a faceless YouTube scriptwriter for a channel about [YOUR TOPIC].
Audience: [WHO]. Tone: energetic, plain-English, confident.
Write a [8]-minute voiceover script (~[1,300] words) for the video titled "[Y0
```

Structure:

1. A 3-second cold-open HOOK that opens on the result/payoff (no slow intro).
2. The promise: what the viewer will have/know by the end.
3. The problem this kills.
4. The main content, delivered in short, punchy spoken sentences with fast beats.
5. A "holy-shit" payoff moment.
6. A soft pitch to take it further (a free resource).
7. A call to action: subscribe + grab the free link.

Rules: write for the EAR (short sentences, no jargon), front-load value, no fluff, no on-camera directions. Output only the script, ready to paste into an AI voice generator.

That's a real video's worth of work in two minutes.

This is 5% of the system

The titles and script are step one. The actual machine — picking a winning niche, reverse-engineering videos that already work, the voice + visuals + captions assembly line, the thumbnail templates, and how to attach an income offer from video #1 — is all in the full pack:
