Circuitry shows you the lines of related energy that operate together within the bodygraph.

It shows the way energy circulates through the channels within the bodygraph, and when you understand that, you understand how your energy is designed to flow, express, and connect with others.

This is a quick graphic guide, a visual reference to aid you in learning about your circuitry.

We all have a mix of the different circuit groups, as we are all designed to work together. It may be interesting to see though, as you contemplate your own chart, what circuitry perhaps dominates your design.

You are a beautiful mystery with a definite purpose.

Exploring your circuitry helps you decode yet another piece of your unique energetic design!
