Top 5 or Full 34? Pick the one that fits where you are

You read your Top 5 and nod. It fits. Then a colleague asks why detail work drains you, and your report has no answer. That answer sits further down your list.

Which one fits you

Why I point most people to Full 34

Five themes is a small window. When people only see their top five, I watch strengths envy kick in. They look at someone else's list and wish they had those themes too. Full 34 shows where every theme sits for you, including the ones you envied.

You are more than five themes. All 34 shape who you are, and the full ranking shows how.

- Themes 1 to 10. What you are great at. Own it and say it out loud.
- Themes 30 to 34. What you are not so great at. Name it, then plan around it.
- All 34 in order. Who you naturally are, in one list.

That is the power of seeing all 34. You get permission to say "I'm great at this" and "I'm not so great at this", and to own both. It is also where most of my best coaching conversations start.

The maths

US$24 + US$45 = US$69

With Satori Connect, starting with Top 5 and upgrading later costs US$69. Full 34 with us is US$55. That is US$14 less, for the same full ranking.

Top 5 still makes sense if you want to start small. You can always upgrade with the same Gallup account.

What happens after you pay

1. Your personal code arrives by email from howdy@satoriconnect.com shortly after you pay.
2. Gallup also sends its own invitation email. Use either one, and redeem only once.
3. Set aside an hour somewhere quiet. Answer with your first instinct. Each question has a timer.
4. Buying the upgrade? Sign in with the same Gallup account you used for your Top 5, or it will not apply.

Ready? See all 34.
