Somewhere inside you a soft voice remains,
Quietly calling your heart by its name.
Past all the noise and the rush of the day,
Your inner child still remembers the way.

A place where wonder and feeling can start,
Where colors and stories awaken the heart.
A spark of joy that has always been true,
Waiting with patience to reconnect you.

Through gentle music and images bright,
Through symbols that open the doors of insight.
Through cards that reveal what your soul wants to see,
A path slowly opens to the child within me.

Each card a mirror, each song is a guide,
Helping you listen to the wisdom inside.
Not through effort or trying too hard,
But softly revealed through a simple card.

Come and return to your inner child,
Where wonder awakens and joy runs wild.
Where music and images gently reveal
The wisdom your heart already feels.

Come and return to your inner child,
Through symbols and songs both tender and wise.
A doorway of images waiting for you,
To rediscover what your heart always knew.

Your inner child speaks through pictures and play,
Through feelings that words cannot easily say.
In laughter, in rhythm, in moments of art,
You start to remember the language of heart.

The cards become bridges, the music a key,
Opening spaces where your soul can be free.
And slowly you notice with warmth and a smile,
You've walked beside your inner child.

CHORUS

Come and return to your inner child,
Where curiosity dances and dreams run wild.
Where music and images gently reveal
The wisdom your heart already feels
Come and return to your inner child,
Let the cards and the songs guide you awhile.
For the love and the wonder you long to find
Still live in the heart of your inner child.
