

SLEEP PARALYSIS SEX DEMONS

FREE PDF SNEAK-PEEK | Chapter 2.

Chapter 2: Sleep Paralysis Sex Demons | The Incubus & Succubus spirits exposed!

“Sleep paralysis,” as it is commonly known, is an experience that millions of people have while asleep. Psychologists and many medical doctors claim, through their research, that sleep paralysis is caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain during sleep. Curious, I decided to look this up on Google to see what information it provided about this phenomenon. Here’s what Google says: For some people, sleep paralysis can take on a sexual aspect. This can involve vivid sexual hallucinations, tactile sensations, and even orgasms. These experiences can be confusing, frustrating, and often feel completely out of the individual's control.

If you’ve noticed, Google fails to address what actually causes sleep paralysis; it simply describes what happens while a person is asleep and feels as if they are being sexually violated. However, if you look deeper into the evidence, this isn’t something a person is merely imagining. I’ve personally experienced sexual encounters with these invisible beings several times, both as a teenager and as an adult. This is what I know for sure: it’s not a chemical imbalance in the brain. It’s something far more diabolical. My encounters were never normal sexual exchanges—they were always demonic in nature. And I wasn’t the only one experiencing this while asleep. Many people have shared similar stories in their own words.

I’ve conducted an in-depth study on YouTube, watching testimonies of people describing their sexual encounters with invisible beings. Those who’ve experienced such encounters while sleeping can attest to this. Trust me, you are not imagining it. If you’ve ever been intimate with another person, you know the difference between a real sexual encounter and a vivid dream. When these sexual invasions occur more frequently, people often seek answers from a doctor or perhaps a pastor. Unfortunately, very few understand the true nature behind sleep paralysis, especially when it involves these invisible sexual predators. Little do they know that just beyond the thin veil of our reality, there is another dimension—a realm where these shadow beings dwell, a domain of sight, sound, and mind.

I refer to them as beings without bodies, who have emotions and desires parallel to humans. This idea is difficult for many flesh-and-bone, carnal-minded individuals to accept because their five senses prevent them from thinking outside the box of what is considered normal. The limitations of our sensory perceptions have confined us, much like caged animals. We have been cut off from understanding who God is first, and then from recognizing who we are as spiritual beings. Our consciousness is not a product of nature; it’s a product of the supernatural. Consciousness originates directly from a higher consciousness. For consciousness breeds consciousness. One of God's titles in the realms is The Most High God.

God the Father is seated at the highest position, like an energy power plant, to put things in perspective. In the realms of the spirit, seeking spiritual things and/or God first is a common rule of thumb. When a soul is not conscious of God, it limits that soul's ability to believe in anything supernatural or greater than oneself. This is the mindset I'm referring to—the mindset of an atheist. A mind trapped in its own reality, unaware of the world beyond sight.

The Bible says, While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. (2 Corinthians 4:18)

If only they understood how science works, they would realize that it is an invisible system that supports and maintains visibility. Our world operates on invisible laws of reproduction that we depend on for our livelihood. This unseen order runs our entire ecosystem, with or without us. Humans rely on these supernatural systems to work for them, yet ignore the God who made it, even denying His existence—a mind conformed. An atom can't be seen with the naked eye, so does that mean the atom doesn't exist? This is the mindset of the atheist. Atoms are considered to be a translucent material, and when they congregate closely together, they form physical materials familiar to our three-dimensional world.

Here are the seven metals of antiquity, which are formations of the Atom.

1. Gold
2. Silver
3. Copper
4. Iron
5. Lead
6. Tin
7. Mercury

The atom is the building block of all supernatural and natural things, visible and invisible. The atom is the brick and mortar of the spiritual and physical realms. Atoms materialize God's thoughts and ideas of creation. Atoms provide the matter to bring

God's dreams to reality. The atom exists on both planes of reality, under the same rules of cause and effect. The atom is spirit in nature, a product of the unseen realms. However, without faith, the atom or the God particle won't work. I personally believe that faith is actually the atom, under a different name, because it produces the same results. Here are two scriptures below to summarize this paragraph.

The Bible says, Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. (James 2:17)

The Bible says, "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." (Hebrews 11:1)

An Atheist Delusion

Understanding the laws of science could even lead an atheist to acknowledge God's existence—at least, I think so. A mindset that has been cornered between a rock and a hard place is often one of limited intelligence. Broadening one's perspective allows a person to see beyond their own narrow view. Ancient civilizations, thousands of years ago, were aware of the existence of other beings and encountered them on many occasions.

"These hybrid beings are recorded in ancient manuscripts, art depictions, and stone carvings. Prior civilizations left behind clear documentation of otherworldly beings flying in spacecraft around Earth's atmosphere. Many of these beings walk among us even today, disguised in human flesh, known as 'skinwalkers.' Yet, we ignore the possibility of such occurrences in our reality because we don't want to be called crazy, right? Well, the Bible and several other ancient writings reveal the existence of these beings. Here's some evidence of where they are located, according to scripture."

The Bible says, while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal. (2 Corinthians 4:18)

These beings occupy an interdimensional reality, vibrating within another realm of existence. On our physical side of our reality, many things are off-course, offset, or out of balance. When things don't align in our lives as planned, we often assume it's our fault. As a result, we frequently seek professional help to solve our problems. Unfortunately, we fail to recognize the unseen influences working against us every day. Most people don't even consider the possibility of shadow people—evil forces working around the clock to make the human experience on Earth a living hell, if possible.

THE END OF CHAPTER 2.